THE EVENT:

Transit and transportation investments are a critical part of any transportation plan to build a strong, vibrant economy, especially in Metro Vancouver. At the same time, local governments play a key role in the economic development of our communities across B.C.

The recent Transit and Transportation plebiscite has left the region with no new funding mechanisms as it faces the prospect of significant population and economic growth. These challenges will need to be addressed in the face of significant questions over governance and funding capacity.

Come engage with Minister Fassbender as he discusses the next steps the province, Metro Vancouver and business can take to ensure our congestion challenges are addressed.
