MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Greetings to all our Cousins! The year is flying by and it is time for renewal of membership in the Goble Family Association. You will find in the newsletter a form for that purpose. Please complete it and mail it to me along with your dues for the 2008-2009 year. Any donation you may wish to make to the Association or specifically to the DNA testing fund is also welcomed. Donations to the DNA testing fund are used to assist Goble males who are willing to be tested, but who need some financial support to be able to do so. We currently have $335 in the DNA Fund.

I have received no other suggestions for West Coast locations for our 2010 Reunion. Unless I hear otherwise very soon, we will go ahead with our tentative plans to hold the reunion in the Portland, Oregon area. There we hope to incorporate time at Goble Oregon. The Goble Tavern there is in the process of major renovation. For more information on the place and its history, go to <http://www.gobletavern.com/index2.html>.

What we might be able to do is to charter a bus and go out for the day or part of a day. I will be discussing our options with the owner in the near future.

We are still looking for a new Editor for the Association Newsletter. Anyone who is interested, please contact me (bgvolker@theworks.com) or Evelyn Goble Steen (GOBLENWS@aol.com) who is currently doing the job. She really needs the time to concentrate on her book. If you haven't yet responded to her request for information about your part of the Goble Family, please do ASAP.

Barbara Goble Volker, President
Goble Family Association

GOBLE FAMILY HISTORY BOOK

Hello Goble cousins. As I begin to lay out the new reference book I see many holes needing to be filled. If there have been marriages, births and/or deaths that have not been reported please send me the information so I can update the record. Evelyn Goble Steen, 36 Lake Meade Dr. East Berlin, PA 17316 or send changes via email to GobleNews@aol.com or Goblenews@comcast.net. Thank you!

GOBLE DNA PROJECT

The Goble Y-DNA project is growing. We currently have 18 members that have been (or are being) tested, with two kits remaining to be sent in. There have been some surprises in test results, and also some confirmations of those that share the same paper trails. Our participants include descendants of Steven Goble, Robert Goble/Rebecca Baldwin tree, Peter Cauble, Sr./Mary Ann Rotan tree, Hans Jacob Goble/Maria Margaretha Rheinmueller tree, Cornelius Goble/Elizabeth Sarah Teague tree, Thomas Goble/Alice Brookman tree, John Peter Goble/Sarah A. Garrigues tree, and the Michael Gable, b. ca. 1799-Germany tree.

The more participants we have in this project, the better chance we have to finding brick walls. Please consider joining us in this project.

Revis Cauble Leonard, PLS – Worldwide Goble DNA Project Coordinator.

DAR/CAR/SAR MEMBERSHIP

Many of you know that you are eligible for membership in Daughters, Sons or Children of the American Revolution by virtue of your descent from a Goble Ancestor. A few Gobles already established as Patriots by the DAR are Abraham, Benjamin, Enos, Ezekiel, Jonas, Matthias and Stephen from the Thomas Goble line and Christian from the German line. There are numerous others whose service is not yet established.

At the 2007 Goble Reunion, Stephen Hurst and I each did presentations on membership in the Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution. There is not room to reproduce that information here. Look for it soon on the Goble Family Association Website.

FUTURE THERAPISTS SHOWCASE INVENTIONS

Green Valley Home News: June 26-July 2, 2008¹
By Jeremy Twitchell

MacGyver may have rigged up some interesting weapons and tools over the years with socks, paper clips and the like, but what did he ever really do to help people?

A group of occupational therapy students at Touro University in Green Valley have spent the past semester using the creative genius demonstrated on the popular television series to better the lives of patients with serious injuries and disabilities.

On June 18, they gathered to show off their work to one another.

Everyone here is so creative, and that's why we chose this field," student Anna Goble said. "It's a wonderful opportunity to help someone. It's about having a pencil and duct tape and asking, "OK, what can I do with this to make someone's life better?"

Goble was one of 23 masters students who designed and built an invention aimed at making daily tasks as routine to a disabled person as they would be to anybody else.

For her project, Goble disassembled an MP3 player and rigged it to operate with large buttons and a modified Pac Man joystick so that people who don't have the motor ability to operate the small buttons on the devices can still control their music.

Associate Professor Yvonne Randall, who instructed the students, said the experience gave students the opportunity to explore the creative side of occupational therapy – which is what drew many students to the field in the first place.

Touro University Nevada occupational therapy senior Anna Goble, left, demonstrates to Tony Grovtch, center and Ryan Deneau, a music player she invented with an oversized toggle and push switches. Seniors displayed their own inventions to better the lives of patients with serious injuries and disabilities for students and staff, June 18.

"Our students come here because they have this idea that they want to help people," said Randall, who is also the academic/clinical coordinator for Touro's School of Occupational Therapy. "Occupational therapy is a creative way of helping people."

Student Pam Aranas used some sturdy cardboard, a door stop and a measuring cup with a long handle to create a laundry detergent dispensing device that will allow individuals with limited hand use such as patients with rheumatoid arthritis, to do their own laundry.

Aranas said her goal is to help patients to maintain some degree of independence.

"I think it's huge," she said. "It affects their self-esteem, because relying on a caregiver for everything can be very discouraging for them, and it can start to affect the caregiver as well."

Other students took existing technologies and found ways to improve them or make them more affordable. Jed Rudd took a writing aid designed to keep shaky hands steady and recreated the $75 tool for $18.

His system consisted of a wristband with a large magnet attached on the underside and a simple magnetic message board. With the wristband on, the magnet attaches to the message board and holds the hand in place while the wearer writes.

In a more creative twist, Rudd created a comical video demonstration of the device in which he explored its crime fighting properties – using the magnet to disarm a knife-wielding neighbor bent on robbing him.

"Occupational therapy is one of those professions that allows you to come up with novel solutions to complex problems," he said.

And while he obviously had some fun with the assignment, Rudd said it was also a learning experience.

"It opened my mind to the concept that what the catalog offers isn't the end all, be-all in therapy," he said. "There are plenty of other solutions out there."

BENEFIT BIRTHDAYS SPARK NEW TREND²

For Olivia Wate's 11th birthday party she asked for donations for the SPCA instead of birthday gifts. From left, Olivia Wates, 11; Lauren Daly, 11; Grace MacMillan, 10; Meredith Obear, 11 and Natalia Gorski, 10.

It all started in March 2007 when Lauren Daly of Crofton threw a Pink Poodle Party for her 10th birthday and asked that in place of presents, her friends bring dog food and cat toys to donate to the animals at the SPCA of Anne Arundel County in Annapolis.

In March 2008 she did it again for her 11th birthday, only the theme was Movie Night Party. Donations included 160 pounds of dog food, 15 pounds of dog biscuits and treats, and a bag of toys from friends including Shannon Flaherty, Maddie Poole, Kelly Poole, Lindsey Airth, Olivia Wates, Kathryn Biddle, Katie Berkowitz, Cindy LaBarge and Alanna Joyce, all of Crofton.

"I really wanted to do something for animals," said Lauren, a fifth-grader at Crofton Woods Elementary School.

Two years ago Lauren's mom, Karen Daly, mentioned the possibility of doing something different for her daughter's birthday party.

"I just offered the suggestion, but it was Lauren's decision," said Karen, who searched the Internet and found that other people were collecting donations for the SPCA.

Olivia Wates of Crofton attended Lauren's parties and decided she liked the idea so much that she would do the same for her birthday.

For her 11th birthday she held a Murder Mystery Party and invited six friends: Lindsey Airth, Cindy LaBarge, Lauren Daly, Grace MacMillan, Meredith Obear, and Natalia Gorski, all of Crofton.

Olivia collected 100 pounds of dog and cat food, dog biscuits and treats, and several bags of toys. Her donations were given to the SPCA in Baltimore City.

"I knew it was a good thing to do for the SPCA. I already had a lot of stuff and I didn't need any more," said Olivia, also a fifth-grader at Crofton Woods Elementary.

Lauren and Olivia are both members of Girl Scout Troop 2189 and they play soccer for the Crofton Cobras.

Lauren loves to do crafts and has a poodle named Mia.

Olivia plays the trumpet and is a member of Destination Imagination. She has a dog named Daisy and two cats named Joey and Midnight.

Olivia's mom, Tammy Wates, said she thinks donation parties might be a new trend, especially for kids who don't know what they want for their birthdays.

"The girls were excited about doing something good for the community, and they care a great deal for the animals that need their help," said Tammy.

Both girls agreed that they would probably do it again for their 12th birthdays next year.

Wister and Cameron. Beatrice was born February 23, 1914 in Boothe, Scott County, Arkansas to the late Edgar Sylverta Goble and Jenny Minerva Doss Goble. At the age of four, she and her family moved by two mule-drawn wagons to Mountain Creek, near Wister, Oklahoma. Beatrice graduated from high school at Wister, and received both Bachelor's and Master's Education degrees from Oklahoma State University. She touched the lives of more than 1,000 students during her thirty-three year teaching career. Her first teaching assignment began in a one-teacher school in the Hill community, at the age of nineteen. That was followed by teaching positions at McClure, Council Grove in Oklahoma City, Glendale, and the last twenty-three years at Cameron. Beatrice was a devout Christian, and an active member of the community. She was a member of Mountain View Baptist Church, Glendale, Oklahoma, where she taught Sunday school and served in various capacities. She was Past Worthy Matron of the Mosholatubbee Chapter of the Eastern Star, Past President of the teacher's sorority, Alpha Delta Kappa, a member of the Oklahoma Education Association, and a member of the Retired Teacher's Association. She cherished her family, friends, church and home. She enjoyed playing the piano, was an accomplished artist, and undoubtedly the best cook and hostess in the world. Her graciousness, wisdom and generosity will always be remembered. She was preceded in death by her late husband of 42 years, Hubert C. Brannon and her first husband, William Richard Lackey. Beatrice was also preceded in death by her sisters, Vercue Sandlin, Euphal Lindsay, Wanda Stanton, and brothers James, Burl and Jake Goble. Beatrice is survived by her two sons and their spouses, William Richard Lackey II and Lyn of Cary, North Carolina, and Paul Lackey and Beverly of Edmond, Oklahoma; four grandchildren, Christopher Lackey and wife Lori of Piedmont, Oklahoma, Lisa Lackey Gorman and husband Brent of Anchorage, Alaska, William R. Lackey III of Raleigh, North Carolina, and Amelia Lackey of Chapel Hill, North Carolina; one great granddaughter, Kelsey Grace Lackey of Piedmont, Oklahoma, as well as numerous nieces, nephews, and many dear friends. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to a charity of your choice. A memorial service and interment will be held at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, April 12, 2008 at Mountain View Baptist Church, Glendale, Oklahoma. (Southern Goble Tree)
