

Autism in Your Classroom

Teacher Training Courses

Any Baby Can is proud to present two teacher training courses for the 2015-2016 school year.

Course #1 dates: Nov 17 and Dec 8 2015 Course #2 dates: Feb. 23 and March 29, 2016

Our training staff consists of veteran special education teachers with expertise in autism who hold certifications in applied behavioral analysis as BCBA's and TEACCH Advanced Consultant certificates. The training courses offer educators knowledge of evidenced based strategies to effectively support and educate students with autism in both special education and general classrooms.

Participants leave with a supply of teaching materials, visual behavior supports to immediately use in their classrooms.

CPE hours will be provided upon completion of course

Course # 1 Training Objectives (2 day training: Nov 17 and Dec 8)

After completing this course, participants will be able to:

- Define characteristics of autism and learning styles
- Apply concepts of the Structured Teaching Model to develop independence
- Demonstrate knowledge and use of strategies to build positive behaviors
- Demonstrate knowledge and use of basic ABA concepts and teaching strategies
- Develop functional academic activities using visual teaching methods
- Construct visually structured supports and activities (Make and Take)

Course # 2 Training Objectives (2 day training: Feb 23 and March 29)

After completing this course, participants will be able to:

- Develop accommodations and modifications for students with ASD
- Address challenging behaviors using function based interventions
- Define and develop alternative behaviors to replace challenging behaviors
- Develop a plan to support students with ASD in a variety of instructional settings
- Construct visually structured supports and activities (Make and Take)
