

California Lien Laws One Year Later: Lessons Learned and Going Forward Strategies

with David Ericksen of Severson & Werson

Wednesday, May 8, 2013
from 11:30am - 1:00 pm PST

David Ericksen currently serves as a Member of Severson & Werson's Executive Committee. Since 1997, Mr. Ericksen has led the Firm's construction/environmental litigation and transactional practice, as well as focusing on liability and insurance issues through insurers. He also focuses on contractual, risk management and litigation issues affecting the design and construction professional community, and provides these services as general counsel to firms.

Mr. Ericksen has been named a Northern California "Super Lawyer" for seven consecutive years.

Join us as David Ericksen explains how the lien laws in California have dramatically changed, especially for design professionals. He will discuss what has been learned, what has really changed, and what are the best strategies, procedures, and tools for engineers to pursue in consistently and efficiently securing timely payment for their services.

This webinar will address these topics and others that are critical for engineers intent upon collecting their fees while maintaining their professional credibility and standing.
