

Canadian Food Safety and Quality Program: On-Farm Implementation Component Producer Declaration Information

The On-Farm Implementation program is designed to assist you, as a Canadian producer, to implement food safety systems on your farm. Food safety systems are based on the Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point (HACCP) principles and definitions.

How the Program Works

Each participating national commodity organization will apply for funding on behalf of all producers of that commodity. These national commodity organizations, working with their provincial affiliates, will then be able to help producers implement food safety systems on their farms. AAFC will provide funding to national commodity organizations so that they may provide some or all of the following:

- Workshops worth up to $100/producer
- On-farm support worth up to $750/producer to:
  - ✓ Provide you with technical support to adapt and implement a food safety system on your farm; and/or
  - ✓ Purchase specialized equipment needed to implement a food safety system on your farm.

Who May Participate

You may be entitled to participate in this program if you:

Earned at least $2,500 in farm cash receipts during the last taxation year; and Filed form T2042, Statement of Farm Activities, for that taxation year.

Available Benefits

Each national commodity organization has determined which of the above benefits it will offer to producers, however, you have the option of choosing which organization's benefits you would like to receive. The commodity organization will inform you of the costs associated with each benefit they are offering.

Money that is available to you for equipment is a taxable benefit and you will be issued a tax information slip for those funds.

In order to be eligible to receive these goods and/or services, you must complete the attached declaration.

More Information

Please read the Canadian Food Safety and Quality Program: On-Farm Implementation component brochure for further information about the program. This is available in print format or at www.agr.gc.ca/

Note 1: it is not necessary to be a member of a national commodity organization in order to participate in this program.

Note 2: producers will not receive direct financial support.
