

Emma L. Bowen Foundation for Minority Interests in Media 2009 PROGRAM APPLICATION

Program Overview

The Foundation was established in 1989 by the media industry to help increase career opportunities for minority students. Our program is unlike other internship programs in that selected students work for partner companies during summers and school breaks from the time they become Emma L. Bowen Scholars until they graduate from college. Some students may also work during the school year. During this multi-year period, students have an opportunity to learn many aspects of corporate operations and develop company-specific skills. Corporations have an opportunity to guide and develop minority students with the option of permanent placement upon completion of their college degree. Students in the program receive an hourly wage, as well as matching scholarship funds during the summer to help defray college-related expenses. Mentoring from selected staff in the sponsoring company is also a key element of the program.

Selection Process

The partner company and the Foundation work together to recruit students through local high schools, colleges, pre-college enhancement programs, and community organizations. Applications are provided to qualified candidates. The application is also available on our Web site at www.EmmaBowenFoundation.com. Minority high school juniors and seniors and college freshmen with a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0 and an interest in a career in the media industry (business, technical, creative, and journalism) are eligible to apply. Candidates must be U.S. citizens or have permanent residency status in the U.S. Candidates must be fluent in English (both written and verbal.) Completed applications are received and reviewed (only typed applications will be considered) by Foundation staff, and preliminary interviews are conducted with qualified applicants. The most qualified candidates are presented to the partner company for interviews and final selection.
