

Fly, Eagle, Fly

Cut the first five important sentences of the story out and put them in order. Write the page number where you found each sentence. You may work with a partner.

For there, on a ledge of rock, close enough to touch, he saw the most unusual sight – an eagle chick, very young, hatched from its egg a day or two before and then blown from its nest by the terrible storm.	“You belong not to the earth but to the sky,” said the farmer’s friend.	A farmer went out one day to search for a lost calf.	“I told you it was a chicken,” the farmer said, and roared with laughter.	“The eagle is the king of the birds,” he (the farmer) said, “but we shall train it to be a chicken.”
--	---	--	---	--

-----cut here -----

Name _____ Date _____

Paste the story in order here.

Page _____	Page _____	Page _____	Page _____	Page _____