ROSEMONT COMMUNITY GOES ONLINE!

We are excited to remind everyone of Rosemont Community Association(RCA)'s new website:
<http://www.rosemontcommunity.com/>

Please check it out. It is important that all Rosemont residents (not just RCA members) take a moment to register (by email address, Facebook or Twitter) so that we can be more effective at notifying you of upcoming RCA events and circulating important announcements about Rosemont to keep Rosemont residents informed. Please help us spread the word to everyone in the community. For those residents who do not have internet access, we will of course continue to try to reach them through other means.

ROSEMONT PRESIDENT'S REPORT

A giant thankyou to all the folks who came out and helped us run our usually fantastic Rosemont Round-up....A huge debt of gratitude goes out to Marnie Regan, who did a fantastic job of organizing all of us and bringing her fantastic band with great tunes.....Thanks to Kurt's daughter Paulina and her friends for helping out with the kids games and goodies. To Buddy for his great Cowboy Trick Roping show. Cst, Denison and our City's finest for bringing out some of the Police department's best friends. Thanks to Mark and Michelle Petros and Nick's Steakhouse for supplying all the hamburgers and hotdogs. ...It takes many hands to pull something like this off, but because of all the great residents in Rosemont, we make it look easy...

At the Round Up, we were taking people on tours of what will eventually be our fantastic downstairs space. I never thought looking at re-enforced floor joists would be so stimulating...For those of you who may have forgotten, we have divided the downstairs in half along the lines of the existing foundations between the old church on the east side and the "new" addition on the west side. The "east" side (by the existing stairs and bathroom), will have a small sitting area at the base of the stairs for warming up during the hockey season. The existing kitchen and small meeting room has been removed. A small kitchen nook with a sink and microwave will be put in. This area will be used as a larger meeting room with adequate space to accommodate 20 -30 people comfortably.

The "west" side under the new addition has been totally gutted. The space will be used as an activity area with a wood or laminate floor appropriate for kids' activities or adult workouts. We will put in a bathroom and small storage area and windows across the west side for natural light...We have applied for funding from both the City's Capital Conservation grant with the help of our local parks and rec rep, Gini Clark and from the provincial government and the help of our local MLA, Kyle Fawcett. We are matching this funding with the proceeds from the casino we ran almost two years ago.

Another note. Our development Review committee has been extremely busy this spring with many building and development permits being reviewed. We have noted that although the Rosemont Community reviews and comments on all permits that we receive, unless the permit requires some relaxation of the bylaws, the Community is very limited in its ability to alter a construction permit.

IT IS ESSENTIAL FOR ALL NEIGHBOURS WHO SEE A BUILDING OR DEVELOPMENT PERMIT NOTICE ON A PROPERTY NEAR THEM TO MAKE NOTE AND SUBMIT ANY COMMENTS AND CONCERNS TO THE CITY AND TO THE ROSEMONT COMMUNITY.

Without neighbor involvement, any objections or concerns expressed by the Community will fall on deaf ears in City Hall, as witnessed by the developments on Roselawn Crescent. We have received some applications that are pushing the boundaries of what our development committee and many of the affected neighbours would like to see. Get involved, or you may not like what your new neighbor is going to build beside you....

We would like to remind folks to keep track of what's going on in Rosemont by following our new website: <http://www.rosemontcommunity.com/>

As some of you may be aware, City council has been debating the possibility of permitting secondary suites in many intercity communities. I would advise everyone to get informed and please contact Druh Farrell's office with your opinion. It will be impossible to influence this decision once it gets put into the public domain. If you like it, tell Druh. If you hate it, tell Druh Farrell..... But whatever you do, DO NOT just stick your head in the sand and hope for a favourable outcome. Once this gets transacted, it will be impossible to reverse.

More good news. The City has informed us that the ROSEMONT DRAINAGE IMPROVEMENT PROJECT is actually scheduled to begin this fall with a completion date of June, 2015!!!!!! This is FANTASTIC NEWS...

The drainage improvements will involve the replacement of approximately 330 m of pipe, which will run across the intersection of 10 Street and Rosehill Drive. This will cause some traffic disruptions, but will save twenty households from the threat of flooding with every passing thunderstorm. Thanks to Druh Farrell, her office and all the folks at City's Infrastructure Planning, Water Resources. This is truly wonderful news.....

City of CALGARY vs ROSEMONT COMMUNITY

MORE GOOD NEWS. I know you have seen the newest library in the City of Calgary, thanks to Corina Totino and her husband Frank. Located at the corner of Rosehill Drive and Rosewood (Complete with a bench to sit and peruse the available volumes), is Rosemont's first "Free Little Library".

Little Free Libraries are making a splash around the world! Druh Farrell's office has been working on a fun little project to build and install 20 Little Free Libraries in the ward, one per community. To learn more about how Little Free Libraries build a sense of community and bring neighbours together, please visit <http://www.littlefreelibrary.org/>.

Here's what it looks like, so feel free to drop by, leave a book and take another. It's a great way to meet neighbours and get some great summer reads.

I'm not sure if you noticed some of our own Rosemont Community public art was getting a long overdue sprucing up. Indeed, our very own "Transition '67". This sculpture was commissioned in 1967 with the sculptor, Enzo Di Palma. His creation represents Canada's struggle to reach the country's first 100 years. The globe and steel rods symbolize the "exhilaration of achievement". Over the last 40 or so years, the old "Transition" was beginning to look more than a little dated. Thanks to the parks folks, the sculpture has been refurbished and brought back to its former glory....So this gave me the idea to examine a few other examples of how cultural items in Rosemont compares to comparable items in the rest of the City.

Report to Constituents – May 2014

The Federal government's top priority remains jobs and economic growth. In my role as Minister of State for Western Economic Diversification, I would like to draw your attention to two recent events that will have long term effects for Calgarians.

I welcomed more than 500 participants to the highly successful Western Innovation Forum on April 16–17, 2014, in Vancouver, British Columbia. This was a major industry-oriented event aimed at connecting Western Canada's aerospace, marine, defence and security industries with investment, partnership and business opportunities.

Hosted in collaboration with Mitacs and the Canadian Association of Defence and Security Industries (CADSI), the Forum brought together innovators in business, government, academia and key economic sectors to discuss and share ideas and best practices, and to explore opportunities for innovation and technology commercialization – all from a uniquely western Canadian perspective. Forums such as this will continue to foster economic success and create new jobs in western Canada and Calgary.

I was also pleased to announce almost $3 million in Federal support that will enable the Olds College Apparel Innovation Centre in Calgary, in collaboration with Alberta Garment Manufacturing Ltd., to establish Western Canada's first open-access apparel research and development facility. These funds, matched by monies from private industry, will be used to acquire a broad spectrum of product testing and prototype development equipment. This will provide opportunities for fashion students to obtain necessary education and hands-on experience from market-driven collaboration projects with industry related outcomes.

Once completed, Canadian-based companies and entrepreneurs will have access to a full suite of product testing and development equipment, as well as research services to create advanced textile-based products such as fire and chemical resistant safety gear for the energy, mining and manufacturing industries.

I would also like to clear up some of the confusion regarding riding redistribution. Every 10 years, after the census is

Occupational Health And Safety Tackles Residential Construction Safety

Starting this summer Occupational Health and Safety officers will begin focused worksite inspections at residential building sites across the province in an effort to reduce worker injuries. The 2014 campaign will run from mid-June through the summer construction season. Upon completion of the campaign a focused inspection report will be compiled and shared with all Albertans. It will include information on the number of sites visited, inspections completed, orders and tickets issued.

Occupational Health and Safety officers will look for all infractions and pay close attention to the use of fall protection equipment by roofers and framers. The 2014 campaign will have the new ability to issue tickets thus, providing a greater incentive for workplace safety.

Although the residential construction industry has had declining injury statistics in recent years, it still continues to be an area of concern. Preventing workplace injuries and holding people who ignore health and safety accountable are at the foundation of Alberta's effort to protect workers.

conducted, the number of electoral districts (ridings) and their boundaries are revised to reflect population shifts and growth. In keeping with Elections Canada directives, Calgary Centre-North is being divided into two new ridings for the next general election. The new ridings will be called Calgary Confederation (the south of the current riding) and Calgary Nose-Hill (the north of the current riding).

Complete details of these riding changes may be found online at <http://www.redecoupage-federal-redistribution.ca>. Until the next election all Members of Parliament will represent their present ridings. I will continue to serve all constituents of Calgary Centre-North and will continue to work hard for you and your family in Ottawa.

As always, please feel free to contact my office with your concerns or you can send in your suggestions and comments directly to me through my website.

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR COUNCILLOR
DRUH FARRELL
WARD 7

ward07@calgary.ca
www.druhfarrrell.ca

For many Calgarians, the ability to find a safe and suitable place to call home is becoming increasingly difficult. Calgary is experiencing a severe rental housing crisis, worsened by the 2013 flood.

More and more, Calgarians are asking for secondary suites. Applications for basement and laneway suites are up many-fold. Support is wide-spread: business and community leaders, Calgary Chamber of Commerce, Calgary Economic Development, the Calgary Homeless Foundation, the United Way, and Calgary's universities and colleges all support moving forward.

Regulated secondary suites have a number of benefits. For home owners, suites can provide extra revenue and a helping hand to seniors wanting to age in place, or help young families entering the housing market. They are also a simple and market-driven solution to the growing problem of housing affordability at no cost to the City.

Calgary is one of the last cities in Canada to allow secondary suites. Other cities that have adopted similar rules have experienced an uptake of only 10% of suites in any given neighbourhood as well as a decrease in illegal suites. With the approval of secondary suites, I want to ensure that we encourage good neighbours. My motion requested that the new bylaw address common concerns such as spill-over parking, overshadowing and overlooking for garden/laneway suites, and landlord responsibility.

I have been a vocal advocate for secondary suites since I was first elected in 2001. Council has debated this topic many times over the years, resulting in incremental changes that are overly complicated and confusing. Several years ago, Council made the decision to allow secondary suites in all new communities and we have seen an increased interest in those neighbourhoods and throughout the city.

Growing cities like Calgary need to change and adapt to market realities. With the right mix of regulation and enforcement, secondary suites can help neighbourhoods adapt and flourish while providing affordable housing to residents. If you are interested in the laneway housing pilot currently underway, please check out druhfarrrell.ca.

News from Georges P. Vanier

What makes Georges P. Vanier amazing? Well of course, it is the wonderful students. It is with a bit of sadness that we see our Grade 9's go this year. All the championships they have won, all the money they have raised for charity, all the work that they have done during the year makes then an amazing crew. They will be a tough act to follow!

Throughout these years at Ecole Georges P. Vanier School, it has been our major purpose to help them grow into intelligent, compassionate and responsible citizens. It has been our objective to build in them an unswerving appreciation of and a loyalty to the democratic values upon which Canada stands. Our emphasis has always been to develop in them the necessary skills that they will need for a sound educational foundation. This foundation will not only serve them well in their pursuit for higher education, if that is their goal, but will be of advantage to them in their social and business endeavours. I have no doubt that they will carry on in the tradition of the thousands of Georges P. Vanier students who preceded them and are now productive members of our society, leaders of industries and difference makers in the World, always striving for excellence!

School starts on September 2, 2014. We are looking forward to welcoming an amazing new crew of Grade 7.

Our grade 9 classes during their trip to Ottawa.

LIBRARY BOOK RECOMMENDATIONS

State of Wonder, by Ann Patchett

Patchett is a master storyteller who has an entertaining habit of dropping ordinary people into extraordinary and exotic circumstances to see what they're made of. In this expansive page-turner, Marina Singh, a big pharma researcher, is sent by her married boss/lover to the deepest, darkest corner of the Amazon to investigate the death of her colleague, Anders Eckman, who had been dispatched to check on the progress of the incommunicado Dr. Annick Swenson, a rogue scientist on the cusp of developing a fertility drug that could rock the medical profession (and reap enormous profits). After arriving in Manaus, Marina travels into her own heart of darkness, finding Dr. Swenson's camp among the Lakashi, a gentle but enigmatic tribe whose women go on bearing children until the end of their lives. As Marina settles in, she goes native, losing everything she had held on to so dearly in her prescribed Midwestern life, shedding clothing, technology, old loves, and modern medicine in order to find herself. Patchett's portrayal is as wonderful as it is frightening and foreign. Patchett exhibits an extraordinary ability to bring the horrors and the wonders of the Amazon jungle to life, and her singular characters are wonderfully drawn. Readers who enjoy exotic locales will especially be interested, but all will find this story powerful and captivating.

The Bishop's Man, by Linden Macintyre

We are all familiar with Linden Macintyre as a respected journalist and host of The Fifth Estate, but he is flexing his considerable talents here with this Giller Award winning novel. Father Duncan MacAskill is the last person you want showing up on your doorstep if you are a priest. His job as the "Exorcist" is to clean up delicate situations (a pregnant housekeeper; allegations of child abuse) involving wayward priests. When his bishop sends him to a little town on Cape Breton Island to get him out of the way of an impending abuse scandal, Duncan discovers that he himself may be part of the reason a young man commits suicide. Of course, the attractive priest does garner much attention from the lonely village women. He grapples with his own past and his alcoholism while trying to decide whether to remain a man of the cloth. In Father MacAskill, Macintyre gives us a Christian anti-hero, a man of faith who is first of all a man, in a story that meshes humour and down-home charm with the raw underbelly of human imperfection.

News from the Friends of Nose Hill

by Anne Burke

The East Zone of Nose Hill has a primary and secondary trail layout, with an upper plateau granular trail and a chip-sealed pathway. Planning and construction activities focus on the following work:

Trail rehabilitation and closure of informal non-designated routes in the east portion of Nose Hill which resumed in spring 2014.

Trail rehabilitation will take place over the next few years, in a phased approach.

Installation of additional trail marker signs will take place, as trails are rehabilitated.

As work progresses on these initiatives, please use caution near construction sites, follow detours, and adhere to park signage.

Please check back for project updates on the city website at www.calgary.ca/nose_hill_park.

City Parks is interested in projects of any scale; from how we grow and develop as a city; to how we manage spaces (large parks to backyards and balcony planters); to how we increase the knowledge of biodiversity in our communities, and everything in between. If you are interested in having your project featured in the plan, there is still time to contribute.

The Alberta Emerald Foundation Awards annually recognize environmental excellence in the province in a wide range of categories. In 2014, there were 96 nominations from 22 communities. The 23rd Annual Emerald Awards Ceremony was on June 5, 2014. To read more go to: <http://emerald.foundation.ca/>. As I write, Polly L. Knowlton Cockett was one of 33 finalists for her project "Stewardship, Signage, and Sense of Place in an Urban Prairie" about Whispering Woods, in her community, with native plants, and interpretive signage.
