Consultations are available by appointment only. You must have a current Calgary Public Library membership in order to participate in this program. For details on how to submit a manuscript for review, please visit www.calgarypubliclibrary.com and go to the Programs page, or call Memorial Park Library at 403-221-2006.

The City Of Calgary Launching New Pet Licensing Website

Animal & Bylaw Services is launching a new pet licensing website in order to improve service to Calgarians.

Effective 8 a.m. on September 29, the new website will launch at <https://petlicence.calgary.ca>.

If you previously bookmarked the animal licensing website, please DELETE your bookmark, it will no longer be in effect after the scheduled date and time.

After testing of the new site is complete in the spring of 2015, we will have the ability to add features such as Interac, automatic withdrawals and renewals. Currently, pet owners can only pay by credit card when using the online service or calling 311.

If you want to use another form of payment, such as Interac, please register your pet licensing bill with your own bank.

In Calgary, all cats and dogs over three (3) months of age must be licensed. An animal license enables The City to return your missing cat or dog to you and it tells others that your lost pet is not a stray and needs to be returned to his family.

For more information, visit Calgary.ca and search Licensing a Cat or Dog.

Animal & Bylaw Services has a new Facebook page!

Halloween Safety

Alberta Health Services EMS would like to remind parents and trick-or-treaters of some basic Halloween safety tips, as October 31st approaches. Halloween can be an exciting time for children, but with the distraction of treats and costumes, safety rules can easily be forgotten. Take some time to review these simple tips and reminders to help ensure Halloween is a safe night for all.

Trick-or-Treaters

- Remember: all regular pedestrian rules still apply. Be sure to cross the road at marked cross walks, or well lit corners only. It is safest to work your way up one side of the street, and then cross once to the other side.
- Stay away from houses that are not well lit. Do not accept rides from strangers, or enter any home you feel is unsafe.
- Let your parents know where you are going to be at all times and advise them if you will be late returning.

Parents

- Be certain that young trick-or-treaters are accompanied by an adult. Older children should stay in groups.
- Advise children not to eat anything until they return home. Dispose of any items that appear to have been tampered with, or that are not properly wrapped.
- Pre-determine boundaries to trick-or-treat within, and establish a firm time to return home.

Costumes

- Consider sending your children with a flashlight for additional safety and increased visibility.
- When purchasing, or making costumes, look for materials and accessories that are labeled flame-resistant.
- Ensure your child is wearing adequate foot wear that takes into consideration weather conditions and walking
- Choose bright colored costumes that are highly visible. Adding reflective tape to costumes further increases visibility.

News from Western Canada High School

Home of the Redhawks!

Congratulations to Western Canada High School's IB students for their outstanding 2013-2014 results. There were a combined 265 Grade 11 and Grade 12 students who wrote exams in May 2014, with a record 51 of those students receiving a full IB diploma (nine of which were granted French Immersion bilingual diplomas). Our students came out ahead of the world average in every subject area, with our IB diploma recipients averaging 36 out of a possible 45 points (well above the world average of 29.9 points). For the second time in three years, Western had a student achieve a perfect 45 points. Alice Z. achieved the perfect score this year (something that only 100-200 students in the world achieve). We wish all our Western graduates the best of success in their future endeavours.

Cross country, Football, Girls Soccer and Volley Ball seasons are in full swing. For more details check our website: <http://schools.cbe.ab.ca/b816/>.

Chocolate and peanut butter lovers – these cookies are for you!

CHOCOLATE CRINKLES

- 1 ¾ cup cups granulated sugar
- 1 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1 cup unsweetened applesauce
- ½ cup canola oil
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 ¼ cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup icing sugar

Using an electric mixer, combine sugar, cocoa powder, applesauce, oil and vanilla until well blended. In a separate bowl, whisk together the flour, baking powder and salt.

Add flour mixture to the cocoa mixture in three parts, beating well after each addition until a soft, moist batter is achieved.

Cover the bowl with plastic wrap and refrigerate for at least 2 hours or overnight.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F and line 2 baking sheets with parchment paper.

Sift icing sugar into a shallow bowl. Scoop spoonfuls of dough and roll between your hands to form 1 ½ inch balls. Roll in icing sugar until well coated and place on baking sheets approximately two inches apart.

Bake for 10 minutes, but double check in 8. They should be puffed up and just set so they'll have a soft, brownie-like texture.

Cool on a rack and store in an airtight container for up to two days.

PEANUT BUTTER CUP COOKIES

- ½ cup margarine or butter
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup packed light brown sugar
- ½ cup creamy peanut butter
- 1 large egg
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 ¼ cups all purpose flour
- ¾ teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt

24 miniature peanut butter cups

Beat butter, sugars and peanut butter together until smooth and creamy. Mix in the egg and vanilla, and then add the flour, soda, and salt.

Spoon 1-inch mounds into mini muffin tins, and bake for 8-10 minutes at 350 degrees F.

While the cookie mixture is baking, remove the wrappers from 24 mini peanut butter cups.

Remove muffin tins from oven and immediately press a peanut butter cup into the centre of the dough until only the top shows.

Cool on a wire rack until easy to handle, and carefully remove from the muffin tins.

Enjoy!

Technology and Your Child's Brain

It's such an easy thing to do, distracting your toddler when you need a few extra moments of peace, by handing the child your iphone. But you may want to think twice about doing that. In fact, it's best to hand them a book instead.

It's true there are many early literacy resources on the internet and wonderful apps designed to promote early reading, but there is a dark side to all that convenience. Increasingly, studies show that regular internet exposure can change brain development, altering neural pathways to favour superficial understanding over deep thought. Brain imaging studies among internet addicts show shrinkage of areas of the grey matter that are responsible for planning, prioritizing, organizing, and impulse control, as well as those that suppress socially unacceptable impulses. These brain scans also show reduced cortical thickness and loss of some white matter, resulting in misfiring of brain network pathways and cognitive impairment. Excessive online use is linked to depression, poor school performance, increased irritability and impulsiveness.

But even without the spectre of internet addiction looming, online use among children is particularly worrisome for the structural and functional changes it causes in the developing brain. Digital natives seem to be superior to those who grew up without the internet in terms of snap decision-making and juggling increased sensory input, but they have been shown to have greatly reduced attention spans and decreased abilities to focus deeply and at length.

To learn more about how the internet affects your child's brain, plan to attend Calgary Reads' next Big Book Club event on October 16th, 2014. Keynote speaker Nicholas Carr will read from and discuss his acclaimed book The Shallows: How the Internet is Changing the Way We Think, Read and Remember. For more information on this event (and for resources to help your child develop critical literacy skills and develop a joy of reading), visit calgaryreads.com.

Canadian Cigarettes

The history of Thanksgiving in Canada can be traced back to 1578, when navigator Martin Frobisher set out from England in search of a route to the Orient by sailing north. Although he never found the passage, he did establish what later became Newfoundland and Labrador. His formal celebration giving thanks for safe passage is considered the first Canadian Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving is the time of year when families customarily gather together in their homes to enjoy the harvest. A common image is a cornucopia filled with seasonal vegetables, representing the "Horn of Plenty", a symbol of bounty in ancient Greece. Turkeys, pumpkins, ears of corn and large displays of food are also used to symbolize Thanksgiving Day.

On January 31, 1957, parliament officially announced Thanksgiving Day as the second Monday in October. It was declared "a day of general Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the bountiful harvest with which Canada has been blessed".

A Safer, Pedestrian-Friendly City

All Calgarians experience the city as a pedestrian. Whether we drive, take transit, cycle, walk, in-line skate, or skateboard, most of us start or end our trips on foot. From the people who walk to work every day, to the hundreds of thousands of riders of our trains and buses, to the bustling activity on our neighbourhood streets, the safety of pedestrians is vitally important.

The pedestrian experience is critical to the success of Calgary and its future. Over the last ten years, Calgary has made tremendous improvements in pedestrian infrastructure; yet much of the city was built without pedestrians in mind, lacking key links within neighbourhoods and to transit stops.

While Calgary has strategies for other forms of transportation including automobile and goods movement, transit, cycling, and pathways, we have yet to develop one for pedestrians and mobility device users. That is about to change. A plan is in the works to improve all aspects of the walking experience and increase pedestrian activity through education, engineering, investment, and enforcement. It will tackle how to make Calgary's streets safe for our youngest and oldest pedestrians, how to improve connections, and how an improved walking environment can create a healthier and more livable city.

Even one pedestrian fatality is too many. We are committed to protecting pedestrians and creating a culture of safety and respect by addressing street design and behaviour. Working with Calgary Police Services, Calgary's transportation engineers will analyze data to better understand the nature of collisions involving pedestrians and guide the tools, policies, and education programs to improve safety.

We can take action before the final policy is complete. Plans are already in motion to test new safety tools, including in-road lighting and conflict-analysis technology that will measure near-misses and identify issues before anyone gets hurt. We also expanded our pilot program of Rapid Flashing Beacons with continued success.

The strategy will be the result of a 16 month effort including a series of public meetings to develop a plan of action. In the meantime, let's look out for one another and ensure that we all return home safe and sound.

Did you know that Canadians are often at a disadvantage when they try to do business here at home? As a nation, we have greater free trade access for foreign firms and investors wanting to do business in Canada than Canadians have.

While international trade is important, internal trade barriers are absolutely hammering both consumers and employers. It's estimated that internal trade barriers cost the country several billion dollars a year. While no one seems to know exactly how much, some believe the hit to Canada's economy could be as high as $50 billion a year. Whatever the number is, it is staggering.

Back in 2006, Canada had free trade agreements with only five countries. Today, Canada has binding free trade agreements with 43 countries around the world, making up half the global marketplace. During that time, little has been done to improve the movement of goods and services within our own borders. These made-in-Canada restrictions are putting us at a disadvantage.

It restricts consumer choices and drives up prices. Frankly, it's not very efficient. The situation has to change if the country is going to remain competitive within the global marketplace.

Businesses are operating today in a very competitive global market. If we Balkanize our economy into 13 regional ones, it will be much more difficult for Canadian companies to become globally competitive.

Our Conservative government is making it a top priority to improve this situation.

Trade is vital within Canada, just like it is beyond our borders. At a time when Canada is reaching new trade agreements around the world that seek to eliminate irritants and barriers to international trade, our government is working here at home to eliminate domestic regulation that leads to increased and unnecessary costs for our businesses, which in turn limits growth and job creation.

Our government has created a new internal trade barriers index, to help increase knowledge of the barriers to domestic trade and identify priority areas to take action.

Nearly 40 percent of Canada's trade occurs within its borders. Making it easier to move goods and services is in our own best interest.

CLOSET COLLECTORS

In North America it is a little known fact that nearly 90% of the population has some type of money collection. This might be just a few pennies that are no longer being minted or a coin that looks different. It could be something you were given as a tip or it could be something over 100 years old. It may be something you picked out of change or a one or two-dollar bill that you have kept. Perhaps it was something inherited or leftover change from a vacation. Invariably these heirlooms or curiosities are in a box in the attic, stuffed into an old trunk or suitcase, stored in a jar or album or they may be rattling around the bottom of a sock drawer. Virtually all of us have this sort of money somewhere in our home.

The Calgary Numismatic Society (CNS) is one of Canada's oldest and most active coin clubs. Founded in 1950, members of the CNS have been leaders in the study, preservation and informing others on the value of their coins, paper money, tokens, merchant script (e.g. Canadian Tire money), and medals, both military and civilian. Numismatics is the study of money in all its forms so the CNS is more than just a coin club. It may also be your introduction into the hobby of coin collecting or a way of having questions about money answered without the worry of having to sell your collection on the spot.

The CNS welcomes visitors and new members. We meet ten times a year on the fourth Tuesday of the month (except July and August) at the Woodcreek Community Centre 1991 Woodcreek Dr. SW, Calgary. The meetings begin at 7:30 pm.

The CNS has an active youth program known as the Coinivores for those age 6-17. This group meets the second Saturday of each month in the Community Room of the Calgary Co-op at 8818 Macleod Tr. SE from 2-4 pm.

At a CNS meeting you can ask as many questions as you like, show a few examples of what you have been keeping and get direction on how to buy more, sell what you have or be directed on how to find out more about the money we all have somewhere in our home. The CNS website is as follows:
