THE GAME

Notables: The 'Roos play the final game of their road trip on Saturday night against Fort Wayne. Kansas City is 1-1 so far on the road swing, and looks to make it two in a row at Memorial Coliseum after knocking off the Mastodons there last season. IPFW comes in with a perfect 7-0 home record.
Kansas City Last 5: 1-4, last time out: lost at Oakland, 81-68
IPFW Last 5: 3-2, last time out: won vs. South Dakota, 62-60

QUICK NOTES

- Estan Tyler scored a career and team season-high 25 points last week vs. South Dakota, and followed with his second career 20+ point game with 20 vs. Oakland. Those mark two of the four 20+ point performances for UMKC this season, with Chatmon and Staton recording one each.
- Tyler was named the Summit League Player of the Week on Monday, becoming the first 'Roo to earn that honor since Jay Cousinard on November 22, 2010.
- The 'Roos have allowed their last three opponents to shoot at least 53 percent from the floor.
- Kansas City played only nine players on Thursday, matching the fewest it has played all year (also did vs. Kansas State and Utah Valley). On the season, nine different players have scored double figure points, with eight guys leading the team in points for at least a contest.
- Estan Tyler (.500) and Thomas Staton (.438) rank first and fifth in the league in three-point shooting, respectively, while Fred Chatmon's 7.2 rebounds per game this season rank third in the Summit League. Chatmon also ranks fourth in blocks (1.3 bpg) while Tyler is sixth in assists (3.4 apg).
- In the last five games, two players are averaging in double-figure points, Estan Tyler (16.3) and Thomas Staton (11.6). The 'Roos have shot .484 during the stretch, but have allowed .525 percent.
- The 'Roos set a school record last week, shooting 82.6 percent in the second half (19-of-23) vs. South Dakota. The old mark was set on January 13, 1990 against Northern Illinois at 75 percent (15-of-20).
- On Thursday, junior forward Trinity Hall played his first game since being hurt on December 16. Sophomore forward Alton Tanner was the only player out due to injury, sitting the last three games. Six different players have sat out games due to injury in the last month.

SCOUTING THE OPPOSITION

Fort Wayne enters the game after a 62-60 win over South Dakota on Thursday. The Mastodons are 9-11 overall and 2-4 in league play, while posting a 7-0 record at home this year.

The 'Dons are led by senior Frank Gaines, who is third in the Summit League at 18.5 points per game. The only other player in double figures is Luis Jacobo at 11.1 per contest. Mario Hines leads the 'Dons in rebounding at 5.9 a game.

As a team the Mastodons lead the league in offensive rebounding at 11.8 per game, while ranking second in rebound margin (+4.0). They score 65.6 and allow 64.8 points per contest.

THE COACHES

Matt Brown is in his sixth season as the head coach of the UMKC men's basketball program, and has a 61-112* overall record at the helm. Brown joined the 'Roos as the eighth head coach in school history on April 12, 2007. He has coached eight players to All-Summit League recognition.

His most successful season came in 2010-11 when he posted his only winning record at 16-14 overall. The 'Roos also had the third-most home wins in school history, going 11-4 in Kansas City, and the third-most overall wins in program history that season.

Tony Jasick is in his second season at IPFW, and has a 20-30 overall record there. Prior to becoming the head coach, he was an assistant for the Mastodons for seven seasons.

THE SERIES

It will be the 12th meeting between the 'Roos and Mastodons, with IPFW holding a 6-5 advantage. The two squads split last season with each winning on the other's home floor. The 'Roo win last season marked the first ever at IPFW. The last meeting went to the 'Dons in the season finale of 2012 though, taking the 'Roos out of a berth in the conference tournament, 76-73.

At IPFW, Kansas City is 1-4, including the 81-66 win there last season.

Matt Brown has a 4-6 mark against IPFW, while Jasick is 1-1 as the head coach and 6-4 with the program.

2012-13 Margin of Victory/Defeat

A WIN WOULD MEAN...

- Kansas City would have defeated IPFW for the second straight year on the road.
- Kansas City would have two road league wins for the first time since the 2010-11 season when it had four.
- The 'Roos would have evened the series record between the two teams at 6-6.

UP NEXT

Kansas City will step out of conference for a game, facing Houston Baptist at home on Tuesday night at 7:05 p.m. at Swinney Recreation Center.

It will be the third meeting between the 'Roos and Huskies, with Kansas City holding a 2-0 lead. Both meetings were decided by double-digit points, with UMKC taking the last decision by a 73-51 score at home on December 21, 2010.

The 'Roos are 1-0 at home against the Huskies. They playing in Houston on February 6 as well.

STREAKING STATON

Senior guard/forward Thomas Staton has scored in double figures in 8 of the last 10 games. So far this season, he is the team's second leading scorer at 11.1 points per game. He has scored double-figures a team-best 12 times.

He also ranks second on the team and fifth in the conference with a .438 three-point shooting percentage.

TYLER TIME

Sophomore point guard Estan Tyler is having a breakout season, besting his career-high from last year six times already. He is first on the team with 11.4 points a game, and has scored double digits more times this season (10) than all of last year (4).

He leads the team in assists (62), minutes (30.3 mpg) and three-point shooting (34-of-68, .500, first in the SL) as well. He has played six more minutes a contest than the next closest player.

His 25 points vs. South Dakota was a career and team season-high, earning him Summit League Player of the Week. Since sitting out vs. Utah Valley, he is averaging 22.5 points per game.

REBOUNDING IMPROVEMENT

Kansas City knew it had to be better on the glass this season, and thus far it has done that. Last year the margin was -5.9 boards a game, while this year it is only -1.7 per contest, including games against five BCS conference teams.

ON THE LINE, AND FROM THREE

Last season UMKC attempted 22 threes per game, while this year the 'Roos have averaged 18.4 attempts per game.

Also, the 'Roos have shot 321 attempts from the line in 19 games so far this season (16.8 pg). Last season the 'Roos averaged 15.9 attempts per game.

2012-13 KANSAS CITY MEN'S BASKETBALL NOTES

TURNOVER TRAP

The 'Roos have had more turnovers than assists in 16 of the teams 19 games. So far this year, UMKC is averaging 9.9 assists and 15.2 turnovers per outing.

RPI SCHEDULE STRENGTH

The Kangaroos have faced seven teams this season that are in the RPI top 100 ranking: Louisville (8) Ohio State (27), Kansas State (38), Iowa State (48), North Dakota State (54), Seton Hall (79), South Dakota State (81). UMKC is ranked No. 233 in the latest RPI rankings.

In addition, six of the teams listed on the 'Roos schedule advanced to the NCAA Tournament a year ago. So far the 'Roos have defeated one of those teams (Norfolk St.).

INSIDE PRESENCE

The 'Roos have eight players that are listed at 6-6 or taller this season, the biggest under the tenure of Matt Brown. In addition, they also have three players that can play the center position (all 6-9 or taller) in Fred Chatmon, Brad Reid, and Caleb Johnson.

DOUBLE-DOUBLE DELIGHT

The 'Roos recorded their second double-double of the season against SEMO when Fred Chatmon scored 11 points and matched a then career-best with 13 boards.

It is only the third double-double in the last two seasons, as the 'Roos only had one all of last season (Trinity Hall vs. Western Illinois on 1/19/12). Of the players on the current roster, only those two have recorded one in their careers. No current player has three double-doubles.

Fred Chatmon's 16 rebounds vs. Kansas State are the most for a UMKC player since Spencer Johnson pulled down 18 against Western Illinois on January 22, 2011. It was also the most against a major conference team since Lonni Alexander grabbed 17 against Texas A&M on December 20, 1996.

3-POINT STREAK

UMKC has made at least one three-point basket in 386 consecutive regular season or tournament games dating back to Jan. 22, 2000.

KANSAS CITY / UMKC

The Summit League initiative to showcase the metro campuses and markets of some of the league members has resulted in UMKC changing its acceptable usage guide.

"Kansas City" has been added to the list of acceptable references to athletics, joining UMKC, Kangaroos and 'Roos. Media are encouraged to use 'Kansas City' as a primary reference, and 'UMKC' as a secondary reference.

This is still in effect, even though UMKC will not be changing its name.

SUMMIT LEAGUE PRESEASON POLL

UMKC was selected to finish seventh in the Summit League Preseason Poll by the conference coaches SID's and media, receiving 120 points. South Dakota State was the unanimous pick to win the league with 390 points and 30 first-place votes.

PRESEASON RECOGNITION

Trinity Hall was named a preseason third-team all-league selection by College Sports Madness, while Thomas Staton was a fourth-team pick.

STAFF CHANGES

The UMKC coaching staff had some changes in the offseason with the addition of Nate Johnson as an assistant coach, while Doug Hall was moved to an assistant position after three years as the Director of Ops. Ruben Reyna was promoted to that position from graduate assistant.

IT'S A FAMILY THING

UMKC junior Kirk Korver is the fourth son of Kevin and Laine Korver to suit up the sneakers to play Division I basketball. Oldest brother Kyle was an All-America selection at Creighton, where he played from 1999-2003, and is currently a member of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Klayton played at Drake from 2003-08, where he was one of the most prolific three-point shooters in school history, and Kaleb also played at Creighton from 2007-2011. Basketball is in the blood for the Korver family as mother, Laine, once scored 73 points in a game in high school.

WAYS TO FOLLOW 'ROOS HOOPS

The 'Roos are scheduled to appear in at least 17 games on television this season (11 on KSMO at home). Every contest is broadcast on the radio with play-by-play man Steven Davis. To find out which station the games will be on both TV and radio, look at the men's basketball schedule on UMKCKangaroos.com. The radio station will be announced prior to each game this season, and can also be heard live online if out of the area.

Most of the games will also be webcast as well, with all UMKC home contests being streamed live via Roos TV at UMKCKangaroos.com (Subscribers only). Away and neutral site contests will be webcast at the discretion and cost of the host school/organization.

Live statistics will also be available for every game, also at the discretion of the host school. All home contests will also have live stats via the 'Roos mobile application on your cell phone, which can be downloaded for free by going to UMKCKangaroos.com on your smart phone's web browser.

Also, fans can keep up with the 'Roos on Twitter @TheUMKCRoos, and via 'Roos Connection, a free service that sends a text to your phone at the completion of the game. To sign up for this, click the cell phone icon or 'Roos connection icon on UMKCKangaroos.com.

The Kangaroo Sports Update is a show that will feature men's basketball on UMKCKangaroos.com every two weeks during the season, featuring head coach Matt Brown and host Steven Davis.

VOICES OF THE 'ROOS

Steven Davis is in his fifth season as the radio voice of UMKC men's basketball program and will be joined by fifth-year color commentator Steven St. John of 810 AM WHB's "The Border Patrol" at home games.

Neil Harwell is in his 18th season as the TV play-by-play voice of the Kangaroos. Harwell began calling UMKC games during the 1995-96 season and will call all the games broadcast on KSMO.

EARLY SIGNEEE

The 'Roos signed one player in the early period in 6-1, 185 lb. guard T.J. White out of Moberly Area C.C. A native of Kansas City, White attended O'Hara High School. He will be a junior next season for UMKC.

LAST TIME OUT

(Rochester Hills, Mich.) – Kansas City went into the half tied at 33 with Oakland on Thursday night, but the Grizzlies jumped out quickly in the second period and outlasted the 'Roos in a turnover-laden contest, 81-68.

Kansas City (5-14, 2-5 SL) has now dropped 13 straight to Oakland (8-12, 3-3 SL), and has not won a game at OU since 2006. The two teams combined for 41 turnovers (UMKC 21, OU 20), 29 of which were in the opening stanza. The difference proved to be a 23-point second half performance from OU's Travis Bader though, drilling four threes and went 9-of-9 from the line.

The 'Roos were right with the Grizzlies in the opening five minutes, but scored only two points over a span of seven minutes as the hosts built a nine-point advantage with 7:29 to play, 21-12. Oakland pushed its lead to as many as 13 at the 5:33 mark, but Kansas City fought back, cutting it to six with 4:09 on the clock.

OU took a 33-24 lead with 3:03 left in the half on a three-point play by Drew Valentine, but UMKC closed the stanza on a 9-0 run with two buckets from Aaron Washington and a three with two seconds left from Nelson Kirksey.

The 'Roos forced OU into 17 turnovers in the period, while making 12 miscues themselves. The Grizzlies shot 66.7 percent while UMKC hit for 48.1 percent, but a 19-10 advantage in points off turnovers kept the Kangaroos in it. Estan Tyler led the 'Roos with nine points.

The Grizzlies scored the first eight points of the second half and never trailed again. At the 15:41 mark the home squad was up by a 51-39 score, but Kansas City cut it to five with 11:24 on the clock. OU committed only three turnovers in the second half though, while the 'Roos made nine miscues.

Kansas City could never get closer than five in the stanza though, as Oakland had an answer every time. A three by Thomas Staton with 2:31 on the clock cut it to 70-65, but the Grizzlies scored the next seven points to ice it. Valentine nabbed five steals in the half, while scoring 11 points for OU. Tyler's 11 points led the way for UMKC in the period.

The Grizzlies out-scored UMKC 17-3 in points off turnovers in the final stanza, and played only six players in the period. Oakland also out-scored Kansas City 19-6 from the free throw line.

Tyler finished with 20 points for the 'Roos, his second career 20-point game and second in a row. The only other player in double figures was Kirksey with 10 points. Bader finished with a game-high 30 points, while Valentine tallied 19 points, a building-record eight steals and eight boards. Corey Petros had 16 points and 10 rebounds for OU as well.

Matt BROWN

Head Coach - 6th Season

Shippensburg University, 1994

Matt Brown enters his sixth season as the head coach of the UMKC men's basketball program. Brown joined the 'Roos as the eighth head coach in school history on April 12, 2007.

After his first five seasons as head coach, Brown guided UMKC to a 56-98* overall record and coached eight players to all-Summit League recognition. Former forward Dane Brumagin was a second team all-league honoree and Reggie Hamilton was an all-newcomer team selection in 2007-08, before Brumagin and Jay Cousinard were honorable mention all-league honorees in 2008-09 and 2009-10, respectively. Cousinard was also chosen to The Summit League All-Newcomer Team. In 2010-11, Cousinard was named second-team all-league, while Spencer Johnson was an honorable mention selection and Reggie Chamberlain was on the All-Newcomer Team. Chamberlain was also an honorable mention selection in 2011-12.

The 'Roos battled injuries in 2011-12 and finished with a 10-21 overall record, just missing the Summit League Tournament. They did claim the Upper Division Title at the Chicago Invitational, the first tournament win for the program since 1991.

The 2010-11 season was Brown's best on the sidelines, posting his first winning record at 16-14 overall, and 9-9 in the Summit League for a sixth place finish. The 'Roos also posted the third-most home wins in school history, going 11-4 in Kansas City, and the third-most overall wins in program history.

In 2009-10, Brown guided the 'Roos to a 12-18 overall record and a 6-12 mark in Summit League play, as the squad advanced to the to The Summit League Tournament for the second time in three years. UMKC opened the year strong by posting a 6-4 record over its first 10 contests and an 8-6 mark through the first half of the season. Four of the eight victories came on the road, which included a 102-87 victory at Houston Baptist where the team tied the school record for free throw makes (38).

In 2008-09, Brown's squad picked up a pair of early season victories over Missouri Valley Conference foes Wichita State and Bradley. The win over the Shockers was the first for the program in Wichita and it was the second straight in the series over WSU. Two games later, Brown led his squad to a 73-61 win over Bradley in the CBE Classic. It was the first time since 2001-02 and just the third time in school history that UMKC had defeated consecutive MVC opponents in the same season.

During his first season on the sidelines, Brown guided the 'Roos to an 11-21 overall record. He secured the first victory of his head coaching career on Nov. 13 with a 79-75 win over Washburn. Brown's squad showed flashes of being a potent offensive team in year one, as the squad scored 105 points at Oakland. In addition, his team was the most prolific three-point shooting squad in school history, finishing with a record 283 three-point field goals and 739 three-point attempts.

Off the court, Brown's players have excelled in the classroom as 13 student-athletes have earned academic all-league honors and seven student-athletes have been named to the Commissioner's List of Academic Excellence. In addition, under Brown's tutelage, Brumagin became the first UMKC basketball student-athlete to be named a semifinalist for the prestigious Lowe's Senior CLASS Award.

Brown joined the 'Roos with an impressive resume, as he led teams to the post season in seven of his 10 years as an assistant coach. He guided squads to three NCAA Tournament and four National Invitational Tournament (NIT) appearances during his stints at Richmond and West Virginia as a key member of head coach John Beilein's staff.

While in Morgantown, Brown helped the Mountaineers advance to their first Big East Tournament Championship game in 2005, and they carried their momentum to the NCAA Tournament Elite Eight. A year later, WVU advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 with a 22-11 mark and in 2006-07, with a young squad, West Virginia claimed the NIT Championship, finishing the year with a 27-9 overall record.

At WVU, Brown was responsible for the recruitment of student-athletes, as well as serving as the compliance representative for the men's basketball program. He also oversaw the development of the post players, in addition to serving as a academic mentor to players on the team.

Before moving to West Virginia, Brown served as an assistant coach at the University of Richmond under Beilein from 1997-2002. Their 1997-98 squad posted a 23-8 overall record and secured an NCAA Tournament berth. With the Spiders, Brown led the development of the post players and he oversaw the underclassmen recruiting.

Prior to joining Beilein's staff, Brown spent three years under the tutelage of Billy Donovan at Marshall University and the University of Florida. Serving as an administrative assistant at both universities, Brown handled mailouts to underclassmen and assisted with the day-to-day operations of both programs.

Brown started his coaching career at his alma mater, Shippensburg University, as a student assistant. He played for the Red Raiders from 1991-93 after transferring from Northern Kentucky University, where he suited up from 1988-90. Brown received his bachelor of arts degree in history from Shippensburg in 1994.

Brown and his wife, Nikki, have seven children, Ally, Gabe, Coen, Cade, Connor, Molly and Raleigh, and they reside in Kansas City, Mo.

2012-13 KANSAS CITY MEN'S BASKETBALL NOTES

Kansas City Season Recaps and Box Scores

Game 1

Seton Hall 75, Kansas City 36
Nov. 19, 2012
South Orange, N.J.
Walsh Gymnasium

(South Orange, N.J.) – The Kansas City men's basketball squad battled the Seton Hall Pirates in the first half, but they were held to only 14 second-period points on the way to a 75-36 season-opening loss on Friday night.

The 'Roos (0-1) played right with the Pirates (1-0) in the opening eight minutes, getting a three from sophomore Estan Tyler to make it 13-11 in favor of the home squad with 12:20 on the clock. SHU then went on a 14-2 rally that spanned 5:33 to take control.

UMKC wouldn't let it get away though, getting the margin back down to 12 at the break, led by the final five points of the half from junior center Fred Chatmon. The Pirates took a 34-22 lead into the intermission thanks to 52.4 percent shooting. UMKC hit only 33.3 percent in the half, led by six points from both Tyler and junior forward Kirk Korver.

The final half is where it fell apart, with Seton Hall jumping on Kansas City for a 17-2 run, making it a 27-point game with 14:31 on the clock.

By the 9:24 mark, the Pirates were up by 33, and pushed it to as many as 40 before the contest was over. UMKC was out-scored 41-14 in the period overall, and shot just 28.6 percent.

Chatmon led UMKC with nine points, while Tyler finished with eight. Chatmon also set a career-high with eight boards in the outing. The 'Roos had 20 turnovers that turned into 30 Pirate points on the night, while getting out-rebounded by a 44-28 clip.

VISITORS: Kansas City 0-1

Game 2

Kansas City 99, Lincoln 64
Nov. 13, 2012
Kansas City, Mo.
Swinney Recreation Center

(Kansas City, Mo.) – The Kansas City men's basketball squad opened the home portion of the schedule with a 99-64 trouncing of Lincoln (Mo.) on Tuesday night, shooting 60 percent from the floor.

The 'Roos (1-1) led from start to finish in the contest, thanks in part to a hot start from junior forward Kirk Korver. He hit four of his career-best five three pointers in the opening half, and helped Kansas City move its lead to double-digits by the 11:42 mark to stay. He tallied 11 of the team's first 19 points.

The NCAA Division II Blue Tigers (0-2) shot only 30 percent in the first period. The contest was considered an exhibition for LU, but the guests played with plenty of intensity. The two squads battled back-and-forth through the middle part of the half, but Korver sparked another Kangaroo run with a three at the 6:05 mark, starting a 14-1 spurt that virtually ended the contest, giving them a 26-point advantage with 2:40 left in the half. They would go into the break with a 51-29 lead.

UMKC hit 57.6 percent in the period, including a 7-of-13 clip from three-point land in the opening stanza. Korver had 14 points to lead the 'Roos, while Charles Cole tallied 14 for LU. Kansas City also had a 24-14 advantage on the glass.

The 'Roos saw the Blue Tigers cut it to 15 early in the final period, but by the 13:56 mark it was back to a 25-point lead on an old-fashioned three-point play by Thomas Staton. By the seven minute mark it was a 30-point lead, and the 'Roos were running the fast break for numerous dunks and layups.

UMKC out-scored Lincoln 16-2 in fast break points, and shot a blistering 64 percent from the floor, with only four threes attempted in the first stanza. For the game, the 'Roos bench out-scored the Blue Tigers 60-22.

The only Kangaroo to finish in double-figures was Korver with 17 points, but all 13 players scored at least four points. Seven players ended the night with eight or more points as well. The team finished with a 47-24 rebound edge, and was paced by a career-high nine boards from senior center Brad Reid. Sophomore guard Estan Tyler had six assists to only one turnover as well. For LU, Cole tallied 20 points and 10 rebounds.

VISITORS: Lincoln (MO) 0-2

Game 3

Albany 62, Kansas City 59
Nov. 17, 2012
Uncasville, Conn.
Mohegan Sun Arena

(Uncasville, Conn.) – A three-pointer at the buzzer fell just short as the Kansas City men's basketball team dropped a 62-59 decision to Albany on Saturday at the Mohegan Sun Arena in game two of the Naismith Memorial Hall of Fame Tip-Off.

UMKC (1-2) fell behind early in the contest by an 11-5 margin, but kept it close thanks to junior guard Nate Rogers and sophomore guard Estan Tyler. The two spurred a 12-4 run, capped by a three from junior forward Kirk Korver to give the 'Roos a two-point lead with 8:13 to play in the half.

The two switched leads a few more times the rest of the way, but back-to-back threes from Alton Tanner and Rogers with 3:41 on the clock put the score at 25-21 in favor of Kansas City. The 'Roos went into the half with a 26-23 lead, thanks in part to an 11-4 advantage in points off turnovers, forcing 10 from the Great Danes (3-1).

Neither team shot the ball well, with UMKC hitting 32.1 percent and UA shooting 33.3 percent. The 'Roos also had a 19-13 advantage in rebounding. Tyler had a game-high eight points, while Rogers tallied seven. Rogers also guarded UA leading scorer Mike Black, holding him to four points in the period.

The second stanza saw the 'Roos push their lead to five on the first possession, but a 9-0 rally over the next six-plus minutes gave the lead back to Albany. The Great Danes turned up the pressure on defense in the half, holding UMKC without a field goal until the 12:37 mark. The field goal was a three from Korver, pulling it to within one. Korver scored 10 of the first 12 points of the half for Kansas City.

Albany got a boost in the period from their two leading scorers, especially guard Jacob Iati. He hit a three at the 8:09 mark to push the Danes lead to 10. Black also got into the scoring mix in the final half, mostly from the free throw line. With 5:13 left, it was an 11-point lead for UA. The Great Danes would only score from that line the rest of the way as UMKC rallied.

A three-pointer from Tyler with 1:41 left cut the lead to five, while a dunk from Fred Chatmon made it a two point game with 45 second on the clock. UA's Iati hit his next five charity tosses, but missed one with 15 seconds left to give the ball to the 'Roos down only three.

UMKC was fouled with six seconds on the clock, but Tyler hit both free throw to cut it to one. On the in-bounds pass the 'Roos fouled Iati again, and he hit both shots to give the ball to the 'Roos with four seconds left. The three-point attempt by Thomas Staton was off the mark though, sending the Great Danes to the Springfield bracket championship game Sunday against Loyola.

The 'Roos were led by Tyler with a career-high 17 points, while Korver had 16 and Rogers put up 10. Chatmon was the leading rebounder, matching his career-high at eight. The Great Danes finished with a 31-30 advantage in rebounds, and shot 47.6 percent in the final half. Iati tallied a game-high 24, while Black had 16. The two were a combined 19-of-22 from the line. UMKC shot 34.6 percent in the game.

Game 4

Kansas City 63, Norfolk St. 57
Nov. 18, 2012
Uncasville, Conn.

(Uncasville, Conn.) – The Kansas City men's basketball team got a complete effort on defense Sunday, knocking off 2012 NCAA Tournament participant Norfolk State by a 63-57 margin in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off at the Mohegan Sun Arena.

The 'Roos (2-2) took the lead for good with 4:53 to play on a three-pointer from junior forward Kirk Korver, and held off the Spartans (2-3) down the stretch thanks to some clutch free throws from him and sophomore guard Estan Tyler. The 'Roos pushed their lead to as many as seven with 28 seconds left to grab the win.

The opening period started off as the Trinity Hall show, with the junior forward scoring the game's first seven points, capped by a baseline drive and dunk at the 17:44 mark. Kansas City pushed its lead to 10-1 to start the game, with NSU not hitting a field goal until 16 minutes were on the clock.

The Spartans used a 12-1 rally mid-way through the half to take their first lead of the game though, getting after the 'Roos on the offensive glass. The advantage was 18-14 with 8:26 left, but UMKC battled right back. A three from UMKC senior Thomas Staton gave the 'Roos a 21-18 lead, but a Brandon Goode lay-in off an offensive board a couple minutes later gave it back to the Spartans with 3:57 remaining.

The 'Roos scored the next two buckets though, and took a 26-25 lead into the locker room. NSU pulled down 12 offensive boards in the period, and out-scored the 'Roos 8-0 in second-chance points. The Kangaroos held the Spartans to only 30 percent shooting though, and shot 42 percent themselves along with 9-of-12 from the stripe. Hall led UMKC with seven points.

Kansas City fixed that issue in the second period, holding Norfolk State to only 11 boards overall, and three offensive rebounds, while pulling down 15 for itself. The 'Roos also shot 52 percent in the final stanza, and went 12-of-17 from the line.

Norfolk tied the game at 34 with 15:50 to play, but the 'Roos answered quickly a 10-0 run, getting threes from both Staton and Tyler to get their biggest lead of the night with 13:37 to play. That lead was short-lived though, as NSU scored the game's next 12 points, capped by a Goode dunk with 7:45 on the clock to get the two-point advantage.

Again the 'Roos answered though, getting threes from both Korver and Staton on successive possessions to go up 50-46 with 6:31 left. The final lead change of the night came after the Spartans tied it at 50, when Korver hit another three at the 4:53 mark.

Kansas City was 7-of-9 in the final minute from the line to seal the win. Four players finished in double figures, with the team being led for the second day in a row by Tyler with 15 points. Staton came off the bench for 14 points, while Korver had 10 and Hall finished with 11. Fred Chatmon and Hall each had five boards to lead UMKC, while Chatmon had three steals.

Kansas City shot 47.4 percent in the game, while holding the Spartans to 37.7 percent. Goode led NSU with 12 points, while Rob Johnson had 11. Leading scorer Pendarvis Williams was held to only seven points.

Game 5

#3 Ohio St. 91, Kansas City 45
Nov. 23, 2012
Columbus, Ohio
Value City Arena

(Columbus, Ohio) – The Ohio State Buckeyes proved why they are ranked No. 3 in the nation on Friday night, shooting a blistering 60.8 percent and rolling over the Kansas City 'Roos, 91-45 at Value City Arena in front of a crowd of 17,478.

UMKC (2-3) made the Buckeyes (4-0) earn it early in the contest, trailing just 8-3 after the first six minutes, but they heated up from there, starting with a three from Lenzelle Smith Jr., followed by nine more points in the next 55 seconds to make it 20-3.

The 'Roos scored the next five points, thanks to junior Kirk Korver and sophomore Estan Tyler, to get within 12, but it was all OSU from there. By the 2:01 mark, the Buckeyes were up by a 30-point margin, and took a 53-18 advantage into the half.

Kansas City shot only 23.1 percent in the half, and had 12 turnovers in the period, while Ohio State hit 67.8 percent from the field, including a 15-to-4 assist-to-turnover ratio. The Buckeyes used that to out-score UMKC by a 21-1 margin in points off turnovers during the stanza.

The second period saw the 'Roos improve in all those areas, only being out-scored by a 38-27 clip, but the scoring touch was never there, as the Bucks defended Kansas City hard all night. The 'Roos were held to only 25.5 percent from the floor, and hit only one three-pointer in the contest. OSU shot 52.2 percent in the final half.

The Buckeye lead got to as many as 48 in the game. Both teams were able to get their bench in for significant minutes, with Ohio State playing Duke on Wednesday, and UMKC starting conference play on Thursday.

The 'Roos were led by Tyler and senior Thomas Staton with seven points each, while 11 different players scored. The Buckeyes were paced by leading scorer Deshaun Thomas with 21 points and eight boards, with four others in double-figures, including a double-double from Shannon Scott with 10 points and 10 assists.

Again the 'Roos answered though, getting threes from both Korver and Staton on successive possessions to go up 50-46 with 6:31 left. The final lead change of the night came after the Spartans tied it at 50, when Korver hit another three at the 4:53 mark.

Kansas City was 7-of-9 in the final minute from the line to seal the win. Four players finished in double figures, with the team being led for the second day in a row by Tyler with 15 points. Game 6

Kansas City 79, IUPUI 65
Nov. 29, 2012
Kansas City, Mo.
Swinney Recreation Center

(Kansas City, Mo.) – Kansas City out-scored IUPUI 42-18 in the paint and took a 38-26 rebound advantage on Thursday night in the Summit League opener, coasting to a 79-65 victory in men's basketball action at Swinney Recreation Center. Junior center Fred Chatmon was a big part of it, setting career-bests of 20 points, nine rebounds and four blocks.

The Kangaroos (3-3, 1-0 SL) have now defeated the Jaguars (3-5, 0-1 SL) in back-to-back games for the first time since January 3 and 20 of 2005. It was also the largest margin of victory for the 'Roos since that season, and the biggest ever at home in the series.

The contest was back-and-forth through the first seven minutes, tied at 14, but Kansas City took control from there, going on a 20-2 run over the next six minutes. The catalyst during the rally was junior guard Nate Rogers, who scored seven of the UMKC points, while Chatmon capped it with a dunk with 6:43 to play.

The 'Roos would get that lead to as many as 20 with 2:19 to play in the half with a three from senior guard Thomas Staton. They went into the break with a 45-26 lead, shooting 47 percent and holding the Jaguars to only 34.6 percent. Kansas City also had a commanding 25-13 lead on the glass, and forced IUPUI into 14 turnovers.

Chatmon and Rogers each led the way with 11 points. IUPUI was paced by sharpshooter P.J. Hubert, who had 10.

The Jaguars heated up in the second stanza, shooting 48.4 percent, but 63.6 percent of the 'Roos shots found the net. Kansas City kept up with the Jaguar pace throughout the half, never letting the guests get closer than 14 points, while going ahead by as many as 22.

Junior forward Kirk Korver hit both of his three-pointers in the half, including a big one at the 7:03 mark that put the margin back to 17. Every time the Jags tried to go on a rally, UMKC stopped it with a bucket on the other end.

UMKC shot 53.4 percent for the game, thanks in part to the 42 points in the paint, and tallied 15 points on offensive rebounds. Rogers finished with a season-best 13 points, while Staton tallied 11 and Korver put up 10, adding to the 20-point night from Chatmon, which was the highest total by any 'Roo this season.

IUPUI got 18 points from Hubert, while Donovan Gibbs had 14 and eight boards.

2012-13 KANSAS CITY MEN'S BASKETBALL NOTES

Kansas City Season Recaps and Box Scores

Game 10

App. State 81, Kansas City 71
Dec. 16, 2012
Kansas City, Mo.
Swinney Recreation Center

(Kansas City, Mo.) – Appalachian State shot 61.9 percent in the second half and out-ran Kansas City on the way to an 81-71 victory in men's basketball action on Sunday afternoon at Swinney Recreation Center. The Kangaroo loss came despite a career day from junior forward Nelson Kirksey, who scored 18 points on 8-of-8 shooting.

Kansas City (4-6) allowed 48 second-half points to the fast-paced attack of the Mountaineers (2-7), who played their first game of the season with normal starting point guard Mike Neal, who was declared eligible this week.

The two squads shot better than 60 percent in the final half, but the difference came from the three-point line and free throw stripe. The Mountaineers went 18-of-20 from the line, and 4-of-6 from the in the second stanza.

The contest started well for ASU, going out to an 18-11 lead in the first eight minutes, capped by a three from Jamaal Trice. After the 'Roos cut it to four on a Kirksey layup, App State went on a 7-2 rally to get the advantage to nine with 8:14 on the clock. The Mountaineers cooled down though, after shooting close to 80 percent in the first 12 minutes, helping the 'Roos go on a run. Over the next four minutes, UMKC out-scored the guests by an 11-2 margin, and tied the game at 28 with 4:16 on the clock on a layup by Caleb Johnson.

The squads traded scores for the rest of the half, but a layup by ASU's Jay Canty with two seconds on the clock sent the visitors into the locker room with a 33-32 lead. Estan Tyler led the 'Roos with 10 points at the break, while Kirksey had eight. Tevin Baskin was the leader for the Mountaineers with 11, while Canty had 10. ASU shot 50 percent, while the 'Roos hit 42.9 percent from the floor.

The final stanza was all about offense though. Kansas City jumped out to an early 38-34 lead, but App State took over from there, taking the lead for good by the 13:22 mark on a three by Nathan Healy, making it 47-44.

The lead got stretched to seven on a three by Trice with 10:37 to play, and was as many as 14 by the 2:28 mark. The closest UMKC got during the stretch was five.

Thomas Staton and Kirksey each had 10 second half points for the 'Roos, but 10 turnovers in the stanza for UMKC was too much to overcome, as was the 62 percent shooting by ASU.

Kirksey's 18 led all scorers, while Tyler put up 15 points and Staton had 12 for Kansas City. The Mountaineers got 18 from Baskin, while Tab Hamilton had 17, Trice was at 16, and Canty scored 12. For the contest, Appalachian State shot 55.3 percent, while UMKC hit 51 percent.

Game 11

Iowa State 76, Kansas City 61
Dec. 19, 2012
Kansas City, Mo.
Municipal Auditorium

(Kansas City, Mo.) – The Kansas City men's basketball 'Roos held a second half lead against Iowa State on Wednesday night, but a 14-0 run by the Cyclones was the difference midway through the final period, taking the game 76-61 in front of 3,614 at Municipal Auditorium.

Through the game's first 25 minutes, Kansas City (4-7) was neck-and-neck with Iowa State (9-3), battling the Big 12 team hard in an entertaining opening half. The 'Roos jumped out to an 8-2 lead in the first five minutes, playing with energy and forcing four ISU turnovers during the run, while getting back-to-back threes from junior guard Nate Rogers. The Cyclones tightened it up after that though, and the score was tied three times in the next five minutes, sitting at 13-13 with 10:54 on the clock.

The first big Iowa State rally was kicked off by five straight points from Anthony Booker and capped by a three from Tyrus McGee to make it an 8-0 spurt that took less than two minutes. UMKC kept it close though, and with ISU leading 30-24 with 3:09 left in the period, made its run. Over the final three minutes, the 'Roos out-scored the Cyclones 5-0 to go into the break down only 30-29.

ISU out-scored Kansas City 18-4 in the paint and had an 18-9 rebound edge, but 6-of-10 three-point shooting from the 'Roos (also forced 10 Cyclone turnovers) kept it close. Sophomore guard Estan Tyler was on fire in the opening half, scoring 13 points, including 3-of-3 from three-point range. Booker and Chris Babb each had nine for Iowa State.

The second period was all Kansas City in the opening minutes, taking a 6-2 run to make it 35-32 in favor of the 'Roos, forcing ISU coach Fred Hoiberg to call a timeout. The Cyclones came out strong and tied it, but back-to-back buckets by junior forward Nelson Kirksey and Tyler gave the Kangaroos their biggest lead since the opening minutes at 39-35 with 15:54 to play.

Iowa State caught fire from there, and got into transition, going on a 14-0 run over the next five minutes to make it 49-39. McGee was the catalyst, hitting for 17 second half points and 5-of-6 from three-point land. His three at the 7:43 mark pushed the advantage to 11, but Kansas City had one last run in it, cutting it to six with 6:18 to play. McGee hit two more threes to answer that though, making it 12 with 5:18 on the clock, and the Cyclones coasted down the stretch to seal the win.

The 'Roos came out much stronger on the glass in the final stanza with only a 14-12 deficit, but the difference proved to be ISU's three-point shooting, as it hit 8-of-12 in the period.

Tyler matched a career-high with 17 points to lead Kansas City, while Rogers had 13, senior Thomas Staton put up 12, and Kirksey tallied 11. McGee finished with a game-high 20 points, while three others finished in double-figures for ISU, who played only eight players.

Kansas City also finished with a season-best 10 three-pointers on only 19 attempts. ISU went 11-of-23 for the game.

Game 12

SEMO 66, Kansas City 65
Dec. 22, 2012
Kansas City, Mo.
Swinney Recreation Center

(Kansas City, Mo.) – The Kansas City men's basketball team couldn't get a good look in the final 27 seconds against SEMO State, and saw one shot blocked, followed by a guarded second attempt, and fell in a 66-65 heart-breaker on Saturday afternoon.

The Redhawks (8-6) got two free throws from Tyler Stone with 28 seconds on the clock to take the lead. He grabbed the offensive board off a missed jumper, and was fouled to get to the line. On the previous possession, Kansas City (4-8) took the lead on a three-pointer from junior forward Kirk Korver with 42 seconds left.

SEMO jumped out to a 9-3 lead in the opening four minutes and led the rest of the half, getting a strong inside performance from Stone, who paced the Redhawks with 12 points. The 'Roos cut the score to one on one occasion, and to two several times, but the Redhawks answered each with a bucket.

A Thomas Staton jumper with 3:43 left in the half sliced the margin to 23-21, but SEMO scored the game's next seven points to have its biggest lead of the day with 1:27 left in the period. The Redhawks would take a 32-24 advantage into the break.

The 'Roos shot only 30 percent in the half, while SEMO tallied 48 percent shooting. Nate Rogers paced UMKC with seven points at the half.

The second period started quickly for SEMO State, pushing the margin to as many as 11 within the first five minutes, but Kansas City fought back, chipping away at the advantage. A 13-4 run that spanned the next three minutes cut the advantage to only two, led by two threes from Staton during the rally.

The Redhawks managed to keep the 'Roos at bay, even getting the lead to six on a Corey Wilford layup with 9:14 on the clock, but UMKC kept battling. A three from Rogers, followed by an old-fashioned three-point play from junior forward Fred Chatmon tied the game at 53 with 8:18 left. After a stop on the other end, Kansas City took its first lead of the game on a Chatmon lay-up with 7:36 on the clock.

The two squads traded the lead five times over the final six minutes, but the final exchange wasn't in favor of the 'Roos on the last possession, extending the losing streak to four and ending the home stand without the taste of victory.

Stone finished with a game-high 28 points for SEMO, while Wilford chipped in with 15. Kansas City got its second double-double from Chatmon, who had 11 points, and matched a career-high with 13 rebounds. Rogers led the team with 14 points, while Staton had 13. Estan Tyler had a career-best nine assists for the 'Roos as well, committing only one turnover.

It was the first time in the last 10 games that the 'Roos posted a positive assist-to-turnover ratio, but it couldn't overcome 34.9 percent shooting in the end, as SEMO hit 46.2 percent.

2012-13 KANSAS CITY MEN'S BASKETBALL NOTES

Kansas City Season Recaps and Box Scores

Game 13

Kansas St. 52 at Kansas City 44
Dec. 29, 2012
Manhattan, Kan.
Bramlage Coliseum

(Manhattan, Kan.) – The Kansas City men's basketball team played its closest ever game against a top-25 team on Saturday night versus the No. 25 Kansas State Wildcats, but eventually fell 52-44.

The 'Roos (4-9) previous closest game against a top-25 team was 15 points at No. 24 Kansas on November 16, 2008. The contest was also the third against a top-25 program this season, marking the first time in school history the 'Roos have faced that many.

The game looked like it could get out of hand in the early going as Kansas State (10-2) jumped out to a 12-3 lead by the 15:47 mark, but the 'Roos got a three from junior forward Kirk Korver on the next possession to keep it under control.

The Wildcats pushed their lead to as many as 11 with 10:57 on the clock, but Kansas City answered with a 7-1 over the next four minutes to make it a five-point lead. The offense was tough going for both teams over the final six minutes of the half, with each team making only two field goals. UMKC got to within two at 23-21 on a Thomas Staton three with 1:22 left, but K-State's Thomas Gipson put down a dunk with 49 seconds left, taking the Wildcats into the locker room up four.

Kansas City controlled the glass in the opening period (21-16 rebound edge) thanks to 10 boards from Fred Chatmon, but committed 14 turnovers that led to 12 KSU points. Both teams shot poorly, with UMKC hitting 34.8 percent, and K-State shooting only 31 percent. Wildcat senior Rodney McGruder was the game's leading scorer with 10 at the break.

The second stanza was much of the same for offense, but both teams had two players sitting out due to injury. Kansas City was missing both Trinity Hall and Nelson Kirksey, while KSU was missing Angel Rodriguez and Martavious Irving.

The 'Roos stayed within striking distance in the early going of the half, with the score hovering between four and seven points until the midway point of the period. Kansas City held K-State scoreless from the 13 minute mark until 8:51 was on the clock, and it got to within two during the stand. That was as close as the 'Roos would get though.

Kansas State pushed its lead to nine by the 2:19 mark, and Kansas City could only get as close as six the rest of the way.

The difference in the half proved to be in the rebound department, as KSU flipped its performance to take a 24-15 advantage on the glass. UMKC took care of the ball much better though, making only five turnovers in the final half. For the game, Kansas City hit 32 percent, while KSU shot 33.3 percent.

Chatmon finished the night with a monster game on the glass, tallying a career-best 16 rebounds to go with nine points, while Staton was the only player in double-figure scoring at 13. McGruder led K-State with 17 points, while Gipson had 13. Nino Williams had 13 rebounds for the Wildcats.

Game 14

Omaha 77, Kansas City 65
Dec. 31, 2012
Omaha, Neb.
Ralston Arena

(Omaha, Neb.) – A 22-point halftime deficit was too much to overcome on Monday night as the Kansas City men's basketball squad dropped a 77-65 road contest in league play to Omaha. Senior Thomas Staton tallied 21 of his 23 points in the final stanza, but lights-out shooting from the Mavericks kept the game out of reach for the 'Roos.

Kansas City (4-10, 1-2 SL) has now lost six straight overall, and eight consecutive conference road games. The 'Roos came into the contest after their best-ever showing against a ranked team, playing No. 25 Kansas State to only eight points on Saturday.

UNO (4-12, 1-3 SL) earned its first conference win, and snapped a two game skid. It used an early barrage of threes to build its lead, with the duo of C.J. Carter and Justin Simmons leading the way. A Carter layup with 12:23 on the clock made it 22-12 in favor of the Mavs.

With 6:20 to play in the first half, Simmons drilled a three to make it 31-17, starting a 12-0 run that would get the Mavs up by as many as 26 with three minutes to play. UNO went into the break, up 43-21.

Omaha shot 47 percent in the period, while forcing the 'Roos into 10 turnovers and only 33.3 percent shooting. The Mavs also drilled 8-of-14 from three-point land and had four players with at least eight points. Fred Chatmon led Kansas City with seven at the break.

The Kansas City offense came alive in the final stanza, shooting 54.8 percent, including 8-of-10 shooting from Staton. The Mavericks also stayed hot though, and hit 50 percent from the floor, with Carter scoring 16 and Simmons drilling 11 points.

The 'Roos got the score down to 16 in the early going, but Omaha quickly put it back to 22 by the 12:54 mark. UMKC answered with a 10-0 run though, sparked by eight points from Staton to get it to 12.

A Staton three with 4:55 to play cut the score to its closest since early in the first half at 68-58, but that was as narrow as it would get. UNO kept the 'Roos scoreless for the next 3+ minutes to seal the win.

Estan Tyler scored all 12 of his points in the final half as well, while the only other double-figure scorer outside of Staton was Nelson Kirksey with 10. Staton also added seven rebounds to his team season-high 23 points, while Chatmon led the way with eight boards.

Carter finished with 26 points for the Mavs, while Simmons tallied 20. UNO shot 48.3 percent for the game, while hitting 10-of-22 from three. UMKC hit 44.8 percent, but turned it over 18 times. The 'Roos took advantage of the boards with a 35-31 edge.

Game 15

SDSU 77, Kansas City 61
Jan. 3, 2013
Kansas City, Mo.
Municipal Auditorium

(Kansas City, Mo.) – Summit League favorite South Dakota State built a big first half lead and cruised to a 77-61 win over Kansas City on Thursday night at Municipal Auditorium in men's basketball action.

The Jackrabbits (11-5, 2-1 SL) jumped out to a 12-4 lead by the 14:13 mark of the opening half and never trailed the rest of the night. Kansas City (4-11, 1-3 SL) got to within three on a Nelson Kirksey tip-in with 10:08 on the clock, but SDSU answered with an 8-0 run less than two minutes later.

The end of the period is what ended up costing the 'Roos though, as an old fashioned three-point play by sophomore Alton Tanner with 4:26 left ended up being their last points of the half. South Dakota State turned an 11-point lead into a 29-point advantage, going on an 18-0 rally to end the stanza.

The three-point shot was on for the Jacks as they hit 10-of-17 in the first half, including four from both Chad White and Jordan Dykstra. Summit League Preseason Player of the Year Nate Wolters led all scorers with 16 though, including six assists and three steals. SDSU also shot 58.1 percent, while holding UMKC to 32 percent shooting. Kirksey was the 'Roos leading scorer at the break with nine.

Kansas City's offense came alive the half two, shooting 55.6 percent, while SDSU cooled off from three-point range, going 2-of-10. Thomas Staton and Estan Tyler each had 10 points in the period for the 'Roos, but they couldn't get the margin closer than 14, which happened with just more than a minute remaining.

UMKC out-scored the Jacks by a 41-28 score in the second half, as SDSU took the pedal off the gas with five minutes left.

Wolters finished the game with 23 points and seven assists, while Dykstra had 21 points. For the game SDSU shot 50.9 percent and had 21 assists.

Kansas City was paced by Staton for the third straight game as he put up 14 points, while Kirksey finished with 12 and Tyler had 10. Staton also had a game-high five assists. As a team the 'Roos shot 44.2 percent overall, but drilled 6-of-11 threes in the final half.

2012-13 KANSAS CITY MEN'S BASKETBALL NOTES

Kansas City Season Recaps and Box Scores

Game 16

NDSU 63, Kansas City 44
Jan. 5, 2013
Kansas City, Mo.
Municipal Auditorium

(Kansas City, Mo.) – The North Dakota State Bison used a strong defensive effort to coast past the Kansas City 'Roos on Saturday night in men's basketball action, taking a 63-44 win in the final game of the season at Municipal Auditorium.

The Kangaroos (4-12, 1-4 SL) have now lost eight straight games, the longest streak since dropping eight last year from December 19-January 14. North Dakota State (13-3, 4-0 SL) extended its win streak to five games, and remained unbeaten in conference play.

Another slow start plagued the 'Roos as NDSU jumped out to a 12-4 advantage in the first seven minutes. The Bison held UMKC without a bucket until the 13:09 mark on a layup by Nelson Kirksey.

North Dakota State would lead the rest of the night, and pushed its advantage to as many as 14 in the first period. TrayVonn Wright hit a jumper with 6:26 on the clock to make it 23-9, but Kansas City closed the half by scoring 10 points in the final 6:11, keeping the margin to nine at the half, 28-19.

The 'Roos shot 37.5 percent in the half against the Bison, who came into the contest holding opponents to a conference best 38 percent. Kansas City also made 10 turnovers in the half, while NDSU hit 48 percent, scoring 18 of its 28 points in the paint.

The final stanza was much of the same, as the Bison scored 22 of their 35 points in the paint. Kansas City could get as close as seven points at the 14:51 mark, but North Dakota State locked it down on defense and held the 'Roos without a point until 7:15 showed on the clock. During that stand, NDSU built its advantage to as many as 23 points (48-25), virtually sealing the contest.

Kansas City shot only 29.2 percent in the final half, and 32.5 percent for the game. NDSU also took a 37-25 advantage on the glass, and out-scored UMKC 40-18 in the paint.

Estan Tyler was the only 'Roos in double figures with 10 points. Wright led NDSU with 17 points and 10 boards, while Taylor Braun finished with 14 and Marshall Bjorklund had 11.

Game 17

Utah Valley 78, Kansas City 66
Jan. 9, 2013
Kansas City, Mo.
Swinney Recreation Center

(Kansas City, Mo.) – Kansas City knew it had a tough hill to climb going into Wednesday night's contest against Utah Valley, with five players out due to injury or sickness. It proved to be too much to overcome as the Wolverines took the 78-66 win.

The Kangaroos (4-13), who dropped their ninth straight, played the contest without any of the three players that had seen significant time at the point guard position. Starter Estan Tyler, along with Nate Rogers and Mason Wedel all sat out. Also injured for the game were forwards Trinity Hall (who has been out the last seven games) and Alton Tanner.

Getting his first career start at point guard for the 'Roos was junior walk-on Aaron Washington, who had only practiced with the team eight times and played one minute of game-time ever at UMKC coming in. He performed admirably, logging 32 minutes, eight points and five assists.

The 'Roos also got career-high scoring performances from true freshman John Burke and redshirt freshman Trevor Franklin. Burke led the squad with 15 points, while Franklin put up eight in the game.

The contest started tight, with neither team leading by more than four points in the first half. The Wolverines (8-10) and 'Roos battled back-and-forth for eight ties and four lead changes during the period, but UVU went into the half with a 31-27 advantage.

Utah Valley held Kansas City without a bucket for the final 2:53, and scored the final four points of the period. The difference proved to be turnovers, as UMKC made nine turnovers that turned into 16 points for UVU, while the Wolverines made only four miscues.

The final stanza was all Utah Valley though, as the guests shot a ridiculous 77.3 percent from the floor, while Kansas City hit 57.7 percent. UVU took 18 of its 22 shots in the period from within 10 feet of the bucket.

The Wolverines pushed their lead to 10 by the 13:39 mark on a layup by Ben Aird, but within two minutes the 'Roos had cut the margin to only four on a Thomas Staton jumper. UVU went on a run with 10 minutes on the clock though, and iced the game. Over the next 5:50, Utah Valley out-scored Kansas City 19-6, pushing its lead to a game-high 18 with only 4:10 to play. It coasted to the victory from there.

Burke's 15 points led the 'Roos, while Staton and junior Nelson Kirksey added 10 apiece. As a team UMKC hit 51.9 percent from the field, while 14 turnovers led to 25 Utah Valley points.

UVU was paced by three players with 18 points in Aird, Alfonzo Hubbard, and Nick Thompson.

Game 18

Kansas City 90, USD 86
Jan. 12, 2013
Vermillion, S.D.
Dakota Dome

(Kansas City, Mo.) – Kansas City set a school record by shooting 82.6 percent in the second half on Saturday night and snapped its losing streak with a 90-86 victory at South Dakota. Sophomore guard Estan Tyler also had a career night, scoring 25 points to lead the way.

The 'Roos (5-13, 2-4 SL) got their first road win in Summit League play since the conference opener at IPFW in December of 2011. They also defeated South Dakota (7-11, 3-3 SL) for the first time ever. The Kangaroos won their first game of the year after being behind at the half, and it was the largest deficit (9) they have overcome this season.

The opening half started quickly in favor of Kansas City, jumping out to a 14-9 lead in the first 4:21. The Coyotes cut it to one on two occasions over the next five minutes, but UMKC went on a 9-1 spurt to take its biggest lead of the half at 28-19, sparked by five points from Tyler.

USD quickly answered though, going on an 11-0 run to take a 33-28 lead. The Coyotes went up by as many as seven before the halftime, but Kansas City got an 80-foot three-point bomb from senior Thomas Staton at the buzzer to make it 41-37.

The 'Roos were led by Tyler, who had 11 at the half. As a team USD had seven points off turnovers, but UMKC had an 18-13 rebound edge, getting nine second-chance points.

South Dakota pushed its lead to as many as nine early in the second half, but Kansas City kept it close, and trailed by only six with 10:17 to play. That's when it went on a run. Three-pointers by Nate Rogers and Kirk Korver on back-to-back possessions tied the game, and started a 16-3 rally that put the 'Roos up for good. A layup by Tyler with 3:07 on the clock made it 81-72, and that virtually iced it.

Kansas City missed only four shots in the entire second half (19-of-23), and got 14 and 13 points from Tyler and Staton, respectively. Korver also tallied nine points in the half and the team drilled seven threes.

The 'Roos shot 61.1 percent from the field for the game, and hit a season-best 13 three-pointers. Kansas City also had a 16-to-8 assist-to-turnover ratio and a 28-20 rebound edge. Tyler's 25 points were the most for a Kangaroo this season, while Staton scored 19, Korver had 15, and Fred Chatmon put up 10.

USD was led by Juevol Myles with 24 points, while Brandon Bos tallied 19. USD shot 53.1 percent in the contest, and 57.9 percent from three.

Kansas City Season Recaps and Box Scores

Game 19

Oakland 81, Kansas City 68
January 17, 2013
Rochester Hills, Mich.
Athletics Center O'Rena

(Rochester Hills, Mich.) – Kansas City went into the half tied at 33 with Oakland on Thursday night, but the Grizzlies jumped out quickly in the second period and outlasted the 'Roos in a turnover-laden contest, 81-68.

Kansas City (5-14, 2-5 SL) has now dropped 13 straight to Oakland (8-12, 3-3 SL), and has not won a game at OU since 2006. The two teams combined for 41 turnovers (UMKC 21, OU 20), 29 of which were in the opening stanza. The difference proved to be a 23-point second half performance from OU's Travis Bader though, drilling four threes and went 9-of-9 from the line.

The 'Roos were right with the Grizzlies in the opening five minutes, but scored only two points over a span of seven minutes as the hosts built a nine-point advantage with 7:29 to play, 21-12. Oakland pushed its lead to as many as 13 at the 5:33 mark, but Kansas City fought back, cutting it to six with 4:09 on the clock.

OU took a 33-24 lead with 3:03 left in the half on a three-point play by Drew Valentine, but UMKC closed the stanza on a 9-0 run with two buckets from Aaron Washington and a three with two seconds left from Nelson Kirksey.

The 'Roos forced OU into 17 turnovers in the period, while making 12 miscues themselves. The Grizzlies shot 66.7 percent while UMKC hit for 48.1 percent, but a 19-10 advantage in points off turnovers kept the Kangaroos in it. Estan Tyler led the 'Roos with nine points.

The Grizzlies scored the first eight points of the second half and never trailed again. At the 15:41 mark the home squad was up by a 51-39 score, but Kansas City cut it to five with 11:24 on the clock. OU committed only three turnovers in the second half though, while the 'Roos made nine miscues.

Kansas City could never get closer than five in the stanza though, as Oakland had an answer every time. A three by Thomas Staton with 2:31 on the clock cut it to 70-65, but the Grizzlies scored the next seven points to ice it. Valentine nabbed five steals in the half, while scoring 11 points for OU. Tyler's 11 points led the way for UMKC in the period.

The Grizzlies out-scored UMKC 17-3 in points off turnovers in the final stanza, and played only six players in the period. Oakland also out-scored Kansas City 19-6 from the free throw line.

Tyler finished with 20 points for the 'Roos, his second career 20-point game and second in a row. The only other player in double figures was Kirksey with 10 points. Bader finished with a game-high 30 points, while Valentine tallied 19 points, a building-record eight steals and eight boards. Corey Petros had 16 points and 10 rebounds for OU as well.
