- I feel hopeful about the changes I need to make to get and keep a job.
- I'm confident that I can change, that I will follow thru with things I need to do to get and keep employment, and that staff will help me get through the changes I need to make.
- I have shown others in the past that I am committed to doing what is needed for me to get and keep a job. I see that change is part of my rehabilitation and recovery to end my unemployment and homelessness.
- I feel discouraged about getting employment and feel that I cannot make the changes that may be needed to get a job or to keep one.
- I have not done well in the past because I don't always follow up with what I need to do.
- It's not unusual for me to give up when things get difficult, like getting turned down for jobs.

4. Work World Awareness Scale

Read each of the 5 statements below. Then, consider which one best describes how you now feel. Finish by placing an X in the box to the left of the statement that best describes how you now feel.

- I know the kind of work I want to do, what work I am good at doing, and how to sell my self to an employer to get the kind of job that I prefer doing. I know my skills and weaknesses. I know how to relate to co-workers and supervisors so that I am a valued employee. I could describe these to you right now.
- I'm pretty sure of the kind of work I could do well and which employers might have openings. I could tell you what employers want in a good employee, what they expect from workers in the types of jobs I want to do.
- There are a few things I would like to do for work, but I am not which one I'd be best at doing. I don't know if there are actually jobs out there in the kind of work I might be able to do. I would need help figuring out the kind of work to do, whether or not there are any jobs out there and what employers I might go to for a job. I would also need help in interviewing for a job.
- I know I want to work, but I am not sure of what I would be good at doing. It's been awhile since I've worked and I am not sure of my skills or what I would need to be successful. I would have a great deal of trouble selling my abilities to an employer during an interview or in doing a job application.
- I don't know what kind of work is out there for me and I don't know what type of jobs I could get. I don't have a good idea of what employers expect of workers and I don't know things like how much help I would get at work or how much money jobs are paying these days for work that I could do.

5. Self Awareness Scale

Read each of the 5 statements below. Then, consider which ones best describes how you now feel. Finish by placing an X in the box to the left of the statement that best describes how you now feel. Check all that apply.

- I am aware of what I like and don't like about work, my interests and abilities.
- I could tell an employer why I would be an asset to their company.
- The job I want to do fits my values and aptitudes.
