This template has 4 columns - Quantity, Description, Unit Price and Line Total. The line totals, totals, taxes are all calculated automatically with Excel formulas.

As you can see from Designer Invoice Template (Gray), one benefit of using Excel as your invoice creator, as compared to other invoice template formats like Microsoft Word invoice template and PDF invoice template, HTML invoice template or even Photoshop invoice template, is that you can easily apply formulas to do calculations. This means that, once the basic figures are entered on the form, like Quantity and Unit Price, or Hours and Hourly Rate, or Days and Daily Rate, the calculation of totals and taxes is done automatically.

This template has one tax set on the bottom of the form, which has a default name TAX. To change the tax name and rate, simply unprotect the spreadsheet and then type in what suits your situation in the proper cells.

If you use the Uniform Invoice Software version of Designer Invoice Template (Gray), there are additional taxing options on the Taxes tab of the Settings window. The first is the option for choosing the number of tax items; you have 3 choices - no tax, one tax and two taxes. Secondly, you can set the names and rates in percentage for each tax, such as VAT, GST or PST, or simply Sales Tax. Thirdly, there are a group of checkbox options on the dialog box, including: "Tax invoice total including shipping cost", which adds the shipping cost to the taxable amount when checked; "Tax 2 is applied to tax 1", which adds the amount of "tax 1" to the taxable amount if checked; and "tax rate can be zero", which allows you to set any of the tax rates to be the value of zero. If you modify the options on this dialog box, the invoice form will be changed accordingly if needed.
