in. Does anyone know under what law it is an offence not to fill it in?

Also

if one doesn't know the answer to many of the questions, does "unknown" suffice? If found not guilty of an offence, does the court still need to

furnished with a filled in MC100?

Thanks

Section 20A of the Criminal Justice Act 1991 as amended by section 95 of the Courts Act 2003.

I'd be surprised if you couldn't answer questions about your own finances, but if you really can't then "unknown" is the honest answer.

totting up shares and unit trusts, etc, to get the 'savings' figure. Working out what "other income" would be when factoring in interest and income from investments. Not knowing what dividends would be payable from my main business. To get accurate figures would take some time, and I keep on
