Oregon Training Series on Direct Support

We have an exciting series of trainings planned for direct support providers in 2010! Our second half-day video conference will be broadcast live at sites around the state (see list in this brochure). This training will feature a nationally-renowned speaker and local facilitators who will lead participants in structured activities and discussions. You can choose to attend the training in Salem at Chemeketa Community College where the presenter will be speaking, or at a more convenient local site.

In addition, the series will include regional trainings on topics developed at the local level. Those trainings are listed elsewhere in this brochure. For more information check our web site at www.directsupport.com.

Mission

To promote quality service and supports which respectfully further the rights, equality, justice, and inclusion for all Oregonians with developmental disabilities and their families.

Understanding and Changing Challenging Behaviors in People with Developmental Disabilities

Dr. Thomas Mates

May 6, 2010

Dr. Mates will focus his presentation on what factors contribute to a person's behavior. He will identify different communication/behavioral diagnoses and how these diagnoses impact social understanding, communication, and relationships. The participants of this workshop will develop a better understanding of the sources of challenging behaviors and learn effective strategies that will help to decrease these behaviors. Dr. Mates' discussion will include information about individuals with intellectual disability, Autism Spectrum Disorders, anxiety, Bi-polar, Attention Deficit Disorder and Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder.

Dr. Tom Mates is a clinical psychologist with an extensive background that includes working with youth with developmental disabilities involved in the court system. He provides treatment for and training on individuals with developmental disabilities and autism who have co-existing mental health issues.
