Wenebojo Made a House for Tortoise

Long ago, when the world was young, there were only two tortoises. They didn't have any shells or houses on their backs as we know them today. They were all soft. In the woods, the strong animals hunt the weaker animals, and Otter planned on eating the Tortoise. One day, Tortoise wanted to go on land to take a walk, but he couldn't run very fast so he looked around to see if any of the other animals were there. As he looked around, he saw Otter coming so Tortoise turned around and crawled under a piece of bark and drew his head, legs, and tail in and Otter didn't see him. When Otter was gone, Tortoise went back to the pond where he lived. But he didn't know that Wenebojo was watching him and saw how had he saved himself from Otter.

One morning Wenebojo was out fishing, he asked Tortoise where there were lots of fish. He said "If you tell me, I'll give you a sturdy house that you can carry on your back." As soon as the Tortoise heard this, he dived down and looked for fish and found a lot and then he came back and told Wenebojo where they were. Wenebojo thanked him and got out of his canoe and asked Tortoise to come up on land with him. There Wenebojo found a piece of bark and put it on the Tortoise's back and got another piece and put it on his stomach. Then they watched for Otter to come. When they saw him coming, Tortoise went out on the path and pretended that he didn't see Otter coming. When Otter saw Tortoise he jumped on him so he could eat him, but Tortoise drew his head, legs, and tail into the new shell and was safe. After Otter went away, Wenebojo told Tortoise that "From this day forth, every Tortoise shall carry his shell, or house, along wherever he goes."

Dwayne's Nut

Actor Dwayne Johnson knows how important it is to read food labels before you snack.

You probably know Dwayne Johnson as the star of hits such as Race to Witch Mountain and The Game Plan, or the producer of the cool go-kart movie Racing Dreams. But he first gained fame as professional wrestler "The Rock," and he still cares a lot about keeping healthy! In fact, Johnson started the Rock Foundation to educate children around the world about health and physical fitness.

Part of being healthy is watching what you eat. The U.S. government requires nutrition labels on all processed foods. "Nutrition labels are very, very important," Johnson told MATH. "So for everybody reading this magazine, nutrition labels will indicate to you what you should stay away from and the things that are good as well—fats, sugars, how much protein is in something, and more."

Johnson thinks it's OK to eat your favorite junk foods every once in a while. But eating right and exercising should be a regular part of your life. "When you stay healthy when you are younger, it eliminates a lot of the problems as you get older," Johnson said. "Not only that, I think staying healthy and active is pretty fun!"

WHAT TO DO

Read the "FIT Baked Potato Chips" nutrition label and the information around it. (We made up the brand, but the nutritional information is based on actual baked chips.) Then use the label to answer the questions.

FIT BAKED POTATO CHIPS NUTRITION FACTS

Serving sizes based on the amounts of food people really eat

Number of calories each serving contains

Amount of specific nutrients each serving contains

Total recommended amounts of these nutrients a person following a 2,000- or 2,500-calorie diet should consume daily

Gingerbread

On the 1st of February I made some Gingerbread from the BBC Good Food website. It didn't really work but it still tasted fairly nice.

Ingredients:

- 140g unsalted butter
- 100g dark muscovado sugar
- 3 tbsp golden syrup
- 350g plain flour
- 1 tsp bicarbonate of soda
- 2 tsp ground ginger
- 1 tsp ground cinnamon
- pinch of cayenne pepper (optional)

To decorate

- 50g icing sugar
- a few glace cherries (we used undyed)

WELCOME TO MONDAY MIXING

My name is Ella and I am 8. I am learning to cook on my own and making lots of different recipes. On my blog I am talking about my favourite recipes and what they taste like.

My tips

- You might want to add another egg because it doesn't stick together very well.

My review

I would never ever do this recipe again, it was a complete disaster. It started off okay, then i had to roll it this is were it all went wrong. I started rolling it and it just cracked...and cracked...and cracked. In the end I just got my mum to do it for me. We ended up having very thick ginger men. I accidentally put a tiny bit of ground cumin in instead of ground cinnamon (oops). Even though the recipe wasn't very good it still tasted really quite nice. I actually had quite a few pieces which is not normal.
