that is the Question.

Monday 3 December 2012

Reading

A FREE seminar for the Pharmaceutical Industry, to learn about the role of the Qualified Person (QP)
and Sponsor.

Speaker: John Dolman

Qualified Persons

RSSL is a renowned provider of training services to the pharmaceutical industry, with a passionate emphasis on offering world class subject matter expertise alongside a great delegate experience. Our flagship Qualified Persons programme exemplifies this, and is regarded by many as the No.1 choice due to its flexibility, cost effectiveness and restricted group size.

On 3 December we will be hosting an event to explore what is involved in becoming a Qualified Person (QP), discussing the commitment, the training and the assessment process. We will also look at the importance of the Sponsor as a mentor and the support they provide throughout the training process. You will have the opportunity to meet fellow industry professionals and discuss the challenges that QPs face in industry today.

- Are you an individual trying to decide whether to make this important career move?
- Are you a manager considering the investment required to appoint or train a QP?
- Have you been asked to be a Sponsor?

If you have answered 'Yes' to any of these questions, this is the ideal opportunity for you to learn more about what is involved and decide on your next steps.
