Child-to-Child clubs encourage students to take a hands-on approach in improving their communities. Students identify health, hygiene, environmental, or social problems that they encounter on a regular basis such as malaria or the inaccessibility of clean drinking water. They then learn about common perceptions and practices about the issue by surveying community members. After discussion and research, students create dramas, brochures, and songs to educate their peers and community about what they have learned. The result is a process that enhances the critical thinking, decision-making, creativity, and communication skills of young people in rural areas. Through Child-to-Child, students learn how to share information and work together for change in their own communities.

Form 990, Part III, Line 2 - New Services

Our School Support, Primary School, and Technical Programs are all expanding.

To accommodate growth in these areas, we are hiring several new staff members, including experts in Effective Teaching and Learning methodologies, Math, Literacy, and School Leadership and Management.

Form 990, Part III, Line 3 - Ceased Conducting or Significant Changes To Services

In 2009, we focused on building schools through a partnership program. This partnership extended to a sustainable tourism program where the school building donor also provided opportunities for their team members to come participate in the building process. This was a one-off program through a donor providing restricted funding. As such, in lieu of building construction this year, we're focusing our resources more fully on human capacity building and teacher training.

In addition, we are no longer partnering this year with with the Asian University for Women (AUW).

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - Program Service Accomplishments

School Support Program

PEPY's School Support Program supports primary and lower secondary schools in Chanleas Dai and Sen Sok Communes. We work directly with government teachers,

School Support Committees (SSCs), principals, and district officials to support the needs of schools. Two of our flagship initiatives are Sahakoom Apeewaht Sala, and Supplemental programs.

I. Sahakoom Apeewaht Sala (SAS) ("Communities Developing Schools") identifies schools that have highly committed principals and communities, and spends three years working with them to identify their needs and priorities. Through this program, local communities are empowered to take ownership of and improve their own schools. PEPY's Cambodian staff help community members cultivate their own capabilities through trainings and exposure to successful educational models.

Rather than swooping in and trying to "fix" things, PEPY supports SSCs by equipping them with the tools to uncover and address the specific education needs of their own villages. SAS embodies PEPY's commitment to engaging in community-driven, sustainable educational development.

II. Supplemental programs are designed to enhance the government curriculum that is administered in every Cambodian government school. Initiatives in this program include:

1. Creative Learning Classes -

These classes help over 200 students a week to learn critical thinking and creative problem-solving skills. Students use computers and open-source programming software to create games, build robots, and conduct learning experiments in their communities.

2. Student Bicycle Scholarships -

Many Cambodian students do not continue their education after primary school due to transportation difficulties. The Bike-to-School Program provides the opportunity for students from marginalized backgrounds to access secondary school. In the past, PEPY had provided this opportunity to all graduating students. Now only students who must travel long distances to get to school and who have shown motivation and commitment to continuing their education after 6th grade are able to apply for a bike scholarship.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - Program Service Accomplishments3. Traveling Teacher Support -

This program involves supplementary training for primary school English teachers to help them excel in the classroom. This program offers bi-weekly training to teachers in 6 schools.

Additional initiatives at PEPY involve director and teacher training, health and hygiene programs, and creation of educational resources. Our target outcome for school support programs is increased access to quality education - this includes higher retention rates through primary and secondary school, increased attendance rates of teachers and students, and increased literacy/numeracy among students.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b - Program Service AccomplishmentsKhmer Literacy

The two main literacy initiatives supported by PEPY involve Classroom Libraries and Literacy Camps.

I. Classroom Libraries focus on fostering a love of reading in students by increasing access to books and incorporating books into the classroom. Fifty classrooms at 10 schools in Chanleas Dai commune now offer Khmer reading material and children's books.

II. Summer Literacy Camps instill a love of learning in students, while introducing teachers to new literacy methodologies. Over 70 teachers and 600 students participated in PEPY's Literacy Camp in 2010.

Other reading initiatives at PEPY include teacher and librarian training and the creation of early literacy books. Our aim is increased Khmer literacy and the development of a culture of reading in local schools and communities.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4d - Other Program Services DescriptionCapacity Building -

PEPY invests in our Cambodian staff through training opportunities and by offering scholarships to employees who wish to continue their education. In addition, PEPY offers training, mentorships, and internships for college students, recent graduates, and young professional exploring the fields of education and development work. Using directed funding, this "Interns for Change" program supplements the living expenses of skilled interns who commit to at least one year of working with PEPY and building the capacity of our Khmer staff.

Partner Support -

This program service accomplishment combines three program services in the financial statements. School Construction of $336, Sustainable Tourism of $536 and Partner Support of $10,834 are all combined since School Construction and Sustainable Tourism were programs that ended in 2009, but there were a few residual expenses incurred in 2010. In 2009, PEPY partnered for the construction of three schools in Chanleas Dai commune. The School Construction program is capturing the remaining amount of funding spent in early 2010 in completing that program as other small partnerships with Cambodian programs furthering our mission. One such program was supporting a research project done by a group of Cambodian university students from the Asian University for Women whom we had helped to recruit for their scholarships. They returned to Cambodia for the summer and we support some costs of their research around the Cambodian education system which will ideally continue into a more
