Keynote and Featured
Presenter: Judy
Jablon, M.S.

Judy Jablon, M.S., is an educator and author with more than 30 years of experience in early childhood and primary education. Originally a teacher, Judy is grounded in theory and practice that emphasize child development, observation, critical thinking, and experiential learning. Judy provides facilitation, leadership coaching, and training to a wide range of educational institutions and agencies. Throughout her career, Judy has been committed to helping people be successful in their endeavors, working with them to solve problems until they are satisfied, optimistic, and organized to take actions toward well-articulated results.

She has coauthored numerous publications, including Observation: The Key to Responsive Teaching, The Power of Observation, and The Work Sampling System.

GO GREEN .... HawaiiAEYC is moving towards online registration for next year's conference. We would like to do more email blasts for upcoming State and Chapter Events. In order to make this happen, we need a current email address. Would you please take a few moments to fill in the email address on the Registration form. If you are not able to join us this year for the Early Childhood Conference, would you please email us at cmurata@hawaiiayc.org to update our membership database. In addition to this mail out, an email blast was sent to members. If you got the email, you do not need to email HawaiiAEYC. Thank you so much your cooperation.
