From the Desk of Fr. Mark

Happy Easter (one more time and the last time for this year). I was just getting used to greeting people in that fashion. Some people beat me to the punch and surprised me with the festive hello. Now it is time to find a new greeting. With Pentecost next Sunday, it is time to start seeing all things new.

I think "seeing all things new" is why I like gardening so much. Today there were five rabbits on the front lawn. They must have had a meeting and decided to graze on the petunias, AS I WATCHED. I tried putting hair around the plants, with no luck. I've tried hot pepper solution...no luck. Someone told me to try putting some of my old shoes or something "human smelling" in the garden to try to trick them into thinking there is a human around the corner. If you see my garden looking like laundry that just blew off the line, I'm just trying to get rid of the rabbits. I'm thinking that if I put my socks out there, the rabbits will surely leave. Of course, it may stunt the growth of the tomatoes.

It is amazing how we try new things when it comes to gardens, but stay the same when it comes to our faith life. We approach Mass in the same style as we did when we were young. We say the same prayers we said when we were young. The Mass is so rich in how we can encounter the Lord. We can pray with and for new people each week. The scriptures always change and have new meaning, as the lives around us become new. Taking in the presence of the Lord should always be new because God is in every aspect of our lives. He unites His life with ours and we are called to unite our life with His. There are times when our lives need healed, forgiven, celebrated and made new.

Easter was just the beginning of seeing the world through new eyes in that, with God, all things are possible. It is time to see all things new and make the effort to do so. The Spirit of God recreates the world and makes all things new. Let us be part of the newness of God. Have a great week, everyone. Fr. Mark

There's a New Guy in Town!

We would like to welcome Matt Keller into our parishes this summer. Matt is studying for the priesthood with the Missionaries of the Precious Blood. He will be making hospital and home visits, helping with Vacation Bible School, doing summer projects and seeing the behind the scenes works of parish life. Matt is from Maria Stein, Ohio, and has been in the formation program in Chicago for the past four years. We welcome Matt to our parishes. Maybe he has a creative way to take care of the rabbit problem. I know he likes to hunt deer. More on Matt in the upcoming bulletins.
