Continuous Improvement

Benchmarking and continuous improvement (CI) is not new. However, with both public and private sector clients asking contractors to demonstrate their commitment to CI, your approach to it could now mean the difference between winning and not winning future work.

The NFB Continuous Improvement Club brings together member companies to share best practice, identify better practices, agree improvement techniques and develop action plans for improvement. Driven and guided by senior representatives from member organisations, members of the Clubs meet quarterly to review performance, identify performance gaps and share lessons learned to collectively raise performance..

New Club Launches
