

September 2010 Emergency Medical Services Certification (Form H3038) Valid for CHIP Perinatal Program Despite Misprint

Information posted September 9, 2010

The Emergency Medical Services Certification form (Form H3038) from September 2010 contains a misprint; however, this form is valid and may be used by providers who participate in the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) Perinatal Program.

The Emergency Medical Services Certification form (Form H3038) will be updated, and providers will be notified when the updated form is available.
