Our primary goal is 100% participation from our Millwood School parents. Total participation is a sign that parents invest in their children's education and support the school's mission. The measure of parental participation significantly influences the outcome of the grants we apply for. The only way corporations or foundations have to gauge the support of parents is through the Annual Fund.

We are not asking for any specific amount, but we do have the expectation that each family participate at the some level. Your participation not only funds the school's annual operations, but also opens the door to great opportunity for outside financial support.
