Re: Eastern Canadian Chapter of ADSC Membership and Inaugural Meeting

As previously announced the Eastern Canadian Chapter is now formally established and we are planning our inaugural meeting.

Our meeting has been set for November 13, 2013 at the Monte Carlo Inn & Suites. Details of this event can be found in the attached meeting invitation.

As a refresher for all, the ADSC is a contractor based organization dedicated to promoting the interests of persons, firms and corporations engaged in the design, construction, equipment manufacture and distribution in and for the drilled shaft, micropile, anchored earth retention and corresponding industries. Our purpose is to promote the use of these technologies through education and training.

Our membership consists of specialty sub-contractors in the drilled shaft and related industries as well as corporate affiliates. Together with our technical affiliates it is our purpose to further the use and understanding of drilled shaft technologies.

Our member structure is as follows:

Voting Members

Corporate Contractor Members: These are sub-contractors who act as such for the installation of drilled shafts, micropiles and anchored earth retention systems. Contractor members can vote on chapter business.

Corporate Associate Members: These are the suppliers and manufacturers that provide goods, services and equipment. Corporate Affiliate Members can vote on Chapter business.

Non-Voting Members

Individual Associate Member or Contractor member: These are employees of companies the have corporate memberships and want to be active in the Chapter individually

Technical Affiliate Members Corporate and Individual: These are companies, organizations, institutions and government agencies that have a vested interest in the drilled shaft industry either as designers, specifiers or end users of the products and services our association promotes
