

Thank you for your interest in our TESOL courses!

Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages is a unique and exciting career choice that provides you with the opportunity to work in and travel to some of the most exotic locations in the world.

Our experience is that our students usually want to achieve one of the following goals:

1. Working holiday and humanitarian work – for example casual work in language schools while overseas, and working with refugees, orphans, or other community development or volunteer programs. Some also like to provide language learning support to home-stay students.
2. Working overseas – our second group want to work professionally as teachers overseas so that they can support themselves, travel, and experience different cultures.
3. Working in Australia and overseas – our third group want to develop more in-depth expertise and possibly work in Australia.

Where do you sit?

TEACH INTERNATIONAL OFFER THE FOLLOWING TESOL CERTIFICATES

CERTIFICATE in TESOL – for working holiday and humanitarian work

The Certificate in TESOL is comprised of five days of in-classroom training, plus an online grammar unit and two online electives of your choice.

CERTIFICATE III in TESOL – for working overseas

An Australian-accredited and internationally recognised certificate, the Cert. III contains the same components as the Certificate in TESOL, plus an extra two online electives of your choice, the online Certificate III Auxiliary Unit, and four hours of assessed practice teaching with real ESL students.

CERTIFICATE IV in TESOL – for working in Australia and overseas.

Our 'all you can eat' option, our Australian-accredited and internationally recognised Cert. IV contains the same components as the Certificate III in TESOL, plus another two online electives (for a total of six), six online Certificate IV Auxiliary Units, and six hours of assessed practice teaching with real ESL students.

THE CERTIFICATES ARE STRUCTURED IN 3 PARTS

Part 1 - Online components

The Grammar Unit and electives are all completed online, and conclude (bar one elective) with online exams. The Certificate III and IV Auxiliary Units (and one elective) are concluded with written assignments which are submitted via email and manually marked by our Academic Department staff. All this can be done from the comfort of your home and at your own pace.

Part 2 – Five days of in-class training

All of our certificates also include five days of face-to-face training, undertaken with up to a dozen of your fellow students, and coordinated by one of our experienced and qualified TESOL trainers. These in-class courses are held regularly throughout the year in major cities around the country, and are usually run over Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings from 6pm to 10pm, and then on Saturday and Sunday from 9am to 6pm.

Part 3 - Practice teaching (Cert. III and Cert. IV only)

After they have attended their in-class course, we organise practice teaching for our Certificate III and IV students at community centres in state capitals and selected major cities around the country. If you are unable to attend prac in one of these locations, we can help you to arrange your own practice teaching in your local area.

STUDY OVERSEAS PROGRAMME (SOP)

Teach International is proud to host Study Overseas Programmes (SOP) in several fantastic overseas destinations. During an SOP, our students complete their in-class training course and practice teaching in one intense (but very rewarding!) three-week block. If you wish to be part of an SOP, enrol in either our Certificate III or Certificate IV to start studying your online components. Then, plan your travels to attend an SOP in Vietnam, Turkey, Japan or any other overseas destination as advertised by Teach International. A destination fee of $250 applies to the Study Overseas Programmes. This is in addition to your course fees and doesn't include flights, accommodation, and other associated travel expenses. An SOP is a fantastic way to kick-start your TESOL career!

We will informally quiz you on its content. It is downloadable as a light PDF file from the Student Centre online, and it should take you about one hour to read.

ONLINE COMPONENTS (60 hours)

In addition to the in-class course, every Foundation in TESOL student completes a Grammar Course (20 hours) and two electives (20 hours each) chosen from the six electives on offer. Access to additional electives may be purchased separately.

Grammar Course (20 hours - compulsory)

With a solid understanding of the basics of English grammar as it applies to ESL learners, you will be much better equipped to present useful language tools to your students.

Throw away your fears of grammar - this course is a refreshing, user-friendly introduction to the basics!

Electives (20 hours each):

1. Teaching Business English / TOEIC

The steady growth of international trade and global development is accompanied by a steady increase in the demand for English in the workplace. Adults worldwide are looking to gain higher scores on the TOEIC test (Test of English for International Communication - pronounced "toe-ik") to advance in their careers and simply to stay competitive in the international marketplace.

The Teaching Business English elective will give you a solid grounding and understanding of types of business students, needs analysis, testing methodology, and business terminology. You will also gain a wealth of practical resources to use in the classroom with your Business English students.

2. Teaching English to Children

The large majority of ESL Teachers are introduced to the children's classroom at some point during their careers. Children worldwide have seemingly limitless energy; with the necessary skills and tools, this energy can be channeled and utilised productively within the ESL classroom.

Teach International's Teaching English to Children Elective focuses on the methodology and strategies required to facilitate a successful English language environment. You will be introduced to many practical and fun ideas for your children's classroom.

3. Teaching IELTS Preparation

The International English Language Testing System (IELTS - pronounced "eye-elts") is designed to test and assess the English language ability of ESOL students who wish to study and/or work where English is the primary language. IELTS is recognised by universities, immigration authorities and organisations in Australia, New Zealand, Canada, the UK, and the USA.

Teach International graduates interested in potential opportunities teaching EAP (English for Academic Purposes) classes are advised to undertake the IELTS elective, as it will provide practical knowledge and skills on the structure, preparation and materials utilised in planning and implementing a successful program for IELTS students.

4. Teaching English to Adults

ESL Teachers interested in teaching adults face unique challenges, such as language relevance, motivation, and group dynamics within the classroom. To ensure the students are continually engaged, the ESL teacher must implement certain strategies and ideas to maintain student interest and facilitate continued language improvement. Teach International's Teaching English to Adults Elective is designed to provide you with information, skills and practical ideas to help you understand the language levels of your adult learners, and create a positive and productive learning environment.

5. Computer Assisted Language Learning (CALL)

Computer Assisted Language Learning, or CALL, refers to using computers and technology in the ESL classroom to aid your instruction, and to also enhance your students' learning. This elective will guide you through the history of CALL and show you how to harness the many multimedia and technology resources available to us in the 21st Century (such as virtual chat, bulletin boards, the Internet, and software), and how to make teaching English more interactive using these resources. Using computers adds a motivating and interesting component to the ESL classroom, and also gives students skills which are necessary in today's world for work, for school and for pleasure.

In addition to providing theoretical knowledge, this course will also outline how to implement the practical elements necessary to create lessons which incorporate technology to make your classroom a fast-paced and highly motivational language-learning environment.

6. EAP - English for Academic Purposes

English for Academic Purposes is an elective for those who would like to teach along more academic lines. EAP courses are run in language colleges and universities for students wishing to enter undergraduate or post-graduate studies at a university. EAP courses are usually highly structured, covering specific skills like academic writing, oral presentation and listening and note-taking.

Students in these courses have quite a high level of language ability, so interaction with the students is always rewarding for teachers. Motivation of the students is also high because they really need to develop academic skills for success at university. The Teach International EAP unit was developed by an experienced EAP teacher and comprehensively covers all a teacher needs to know in preparation for teaching an EAP course.
