Second International Curriculum Conference: Future Curricular Trends in School Algebra and Geometry

May 2-4, 2008

The University of Chicago and
The Field Museum
Chicago, Illinois, U.S.A.

REGISTRATION AND GENERAL INFORMATION

The Center for the Study of Mathematics Curriculum (CSMC) is hosting its Second International Mathematics Curriculum Conference, "Future Curricular Trends in School Algebra and Geometry," May 2-4, 2008, at The University of Chicago and The Field Museum. The conference will feature experts from Australia, Europe, and South America, as well as speakers from the United States. They will share their visions for the teaching of school algebra and geometry. Attendees will be able to meet the speakers at panels, discussion groups, meals, and at the conference reception.

Registration: The conference is open to all but limited in size. Registrations will be accepted on a first-come/first-served basis, and must be in our offices by Monday, April 21, 2008. Pre-registration is required. A check must accompany the registration form.

Those who register by Friday, February 15, 2008 will receive a reduced registration rate of $290. Those who register later must include the full fee of $340. The registration fee includes a reception; general museum admission and a private, after-hours viewing of the special exhibit on Friday; continental breakfasts Saturday and Sunday; lunch on Saturday; refreshments; conference materials and a copy of the published proceedings (to be sent after the conference); and transportation between the downtown hotel and the museum and university conference sites. Please mail the registration form on the next page with a check for the registration fee (in U.S. dollars made out to "University of Chicago") to:

Carol Siegel
CSMC International Conference
University of Chicago
6030 S. Ellis Avenue
Chicago, IL 60637

Confirmation: Confirmation of registration will be sent upon receipt of completed registration form and check.

Cancellation: Registration fees are fully refundable until Monday, April 21, 2008. After that date, fees are nonrefundable.

Lodging and Local Transportation: Participants are responsible for their own lodging and transportation. The Hilton Chicago, located at 720 South Michigan Avenue, is holding rooms for those attending the conference. When making reservations, please ask for a room in the "CSMC International Conference" block. The hotel phone number is 312-922-4400. The hotel is less than one mile away from The Field Museum, and about eight miles away from The University of Chicago. Bus service will be provided between the hotel, the museum, and the university. Some participants may choose to walk through Grant Park to reach the museum.
