

Donation Letter: Establish Your Donor Network

Checklist for Donation Letter

- ☐ Make a list of the people you know. This is your donor network. Aim for a hundred people—you probably know a lot more people than you think!
- ☐ As you assemble the list that will make up your donor network, ask yourself how each of these people or groups prefers to communicate will you reach out to them with an e-mail, via social media such as Facebook or LinkedIn or with a printed letter? The answer to this question will help you with the next steps.

Establishing your donor network

Who Is/Are My...

Open up your favorite spreadsheet application (or rolodex, little black book, SQL database, pile of sticky notes...) and list all the people you know. This is the beginning of your donor network.

Your network spreadsheet should contain several key elements:

- 1. Every single person you know who you can send your letter or email to. Aim high! See if you can list a hundred people. See the "Memory Jogger" below for some ideas.
- 2. Contact information including email, snail-mail address and phone number.
- 3. Any personal notes that you can include in your e-mail or letter as you start fundraising. For example, "I hope you and Adam are doing well, it was great running into you at Fred's a few weeks ago." The more personalized your communication, the better your response rate.
- 4. Set up columns for data you'll add later such as how much each person donates. You'll update this throughout your fundraising campaign.
- 5. Leave yourself space to make a note when you send each person a thank you card.
- 6. Connections to the mission will be important throughout the season and on event weekend make space as you build your donor network to record each potential donor's personal connection to the mission.

Memory Jogger

100 people might seem like a lot to list in your donor network. Some of our top fundraisers have over 1,000 people in their network! To help you brainstorm your list, here are some suggestions from our fundraisers. Don't be shy; you never know who has a personal connection to a blood cancer!
