President's Message

It is officially spring now. Most everyone have been doing various spring cleaning chores. I can tell you from personal experience that this can be a pain. Don't forget to spruce-up and organize in your sewing room. Here are some easy hints for making the job manageable.

- 1 Organize and go through the mass. Weed out items needed to be done soon, UFOs, not sures, garbage, and donate items.
- 2 Get some clear containers that make it easy visually see what is in them and start sorting.
- 3 Go through fabric and donate anything you know you are not going to use.
- 4 UFOs – for these unfinished objects, take a hard look and decide if you lost interest, don't like it or just need to get something to add to it.
- 5 Not Sures – make a box to reexamine in 1 year. If you haven't looked at them once in that time, next year they are the first things to go in the donation pile.
- 6 Donated items – LQG has lots of great uses for them. Cuddle quilts, Young Artist quilt projects, Bags of Love, Quilts of Valor and the upcoming quilt show. These are all great choices in my opinion.

When you are done with this great undertaking, go take an aspirin and sit down to sew in this very useful space. You know where you will be next year about the same time. Happy stitching!

Deb Bauer-Knopp

Terry Waldron Workshop • May 8, 2011 • An Artful Vase of Flowers

No patterns are used in this class and two fun things will be learned. You'll be able to add to your repertoire a fun and easy way to scrap a background that you will be able to use for many elements of your work. As an extra incentive in this class you'll be able to use up oodles of those scraps that you've been saving for who knows what! No two students work will be alike. That's the art of it. At the end of the class you will be taught to turn your piece into a pillow without sewing on buttons or making a placket!

Cuddle Quilts

Joyce thanked the members for their great response to the request for more cuddle quilts. This evening, members turned in 70 quilts, 11 quilt tops, 4 fabric donations, and 6 quilt kits.

Quilts of Valor

Adams and York counties are issuing a Quilts of Valor Challenge to 4-H members in the state of Nebraska this year. The are asking 4-H members and their families and/or volunteers to create and donate quilts to service men and women who are protecting our country and who have been "touched by war". The quilts will be collected and given through the Quilts of Valor Foundation who has already donated over 36,000 quilts. 4-H members and volunteers can work alone or in groups to make the quilts. They may ask for donations of fabric, batting or machine-quilting to complete their projects. They may contact quilt guilds, quilt shops, the American Legion, and other service organizations in their communities to help provide funds or fabrics. For further information and guidelines for construction, documentation, and exhibition of these quilts at the State Fair, please contact Phyllis Schoenholz at pschoenholz1@unl.edu or at Southern Plains Unit, Room 104, 225 North 4th, Hebron, NE 68370 or at 402-768-7217.

Sara Kenny thanked the guild members for their continued support of Quilts of Valor. She thanked those who have pieced tops, volunteered to long arm quilts, attended sew-ins, or donated fabric, and especially thanks to those who remember in their thoughts and prayers the courageous women and men who serve in the defense of our country. The need for QOVs remains great as our war wounded continue to struggle and suffer.

We now have a point of contact with the Nebraska National Guard to distribute Quilts of Valor to wounded warriors around the state. So far, we have distributed 7 QOVs to the Nebraska National Guard and they could use more, so please keep on quilting for wounded warriors.

We also have a point of contact at Ft. Campbell, and will begin distributing QOVs this week. Ft. Campbell is the home of the 101st, and they have seen more than their share of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan so the need for QOVs is great.

American Valor fabrics, which have been designed and marketed by 9 different fabric companies to increase awareness and support of Quilts of Valor, are arriving and are in quilt shops now.

Quilt Retreat Center

The announcement table contained flyers regarding a Quilt Retreat Center in Petersburg, Nebraska. Accommodations are available for up to 8 people from January through mid-October. Petersburg is located 143 miles from Lincoln and the owner is Bonnie Wagner (Jan Stehlik's daughter).

LQG Secretary

LQG Scholarship recipient and IQSCM assistant curator of exhibitions, Jonathan Gregory, and a quilt made by Ernest B. Haight, Interlocking Triangles, made in David City, Nebraska, dated 1984. Cottons, 90" x 74". IQSC2001.005.0001, Nebraska State Quilt Guild Collection.

IQSC presentation by Jonathan Gregory

You may now view The Engineer Who Could: The Quiltmaking of Ernest B. Haight, a Lincoln Quilter's Guild sponsored talk presented by LQG Scholarship winner Jonathan Gregory. Go to the International Quilt Study Center & Museum's site through the following link to access the video broadcast. http://www.quiltstudy.org/education_research/resources/podcasts.html/title/-the-engineer-who-could-the-quiltmaking-of-ernest-b-haight-jonathan-gregory-march-3-2011. You may also subscribe to all IQSCM podcasts via iTunes U at <http://itunes.apple.com/itunes-u/international-quilt-study/id378957678#s=1>

Haight, a former LQG member, graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1924 with a degree in agricultural engineering and farmed the land his grandparents homesteaded in Butler County. He made an estimated 300 quilts between 1935 and 1985. He approached quiltmaking like one of his favorite hobbies, creating and solving puzzles. His engineer's approach to problem solving and efficient processes resulted in precise and complex patterned quilts made in relatively short amounts of time.

To view the talk, follow the link above. You may view it most easily by downloading a free copy of iTunes software and then subscribing to the podcasts at the link above. The Gregory lecture and many other past and future IQSCM programs automatically will be added to your personal video library.

Haight's quilt Patio Tile will be in the IQSCM's next exhibition, Nebraska Quilts and Quiltmakers, April 8 to October 2, 2011, along with his original hand drawn block pattern, cardboard templates, and a sample block. The IQSCM exhibition The Engineer Who Could: Ernest Haight's Half-Century of Quiltmaking, containing rarely seen Haight quilts, will open in July 2013.

UNL Grad students Madeleine Roberg, Ellen Rushman and the Fiber Funatics demonstrate Surface Design Techniques to visitors.

National Quilting Day 2011

Thanks to all 750+ who attended National Quilting Day at the International Quilt Study Center & Museum! The day went very well with a steady flow of traffic! We learned from our experience last year how to handle the crowds by implementing new schedules for the Demonstrations in the Seminar Room, Surface Design Techniques Demonstrations and other offerings throughout the museum. We also extended the day by opening two hours earlier and requested that all volunteers park off-site.

A huge thanks to our 92 volunteers and IQSCM staff. Throughout the day, they lead demonstrations, directed our visitors, shared Outreach Projects, gave exhibition tours and just kept everything running smoothly!

We are grateful to the Nebraska State Quilt Guild and AccuQuilt who helped sponsor the event with the Lincoln Quilters Guild.

If you didn't get a chance to come this year, mark your calendars for next year's National Quilting Day celebration on

Young Artist Quilt Project

The following is some background information about this project for our newer members and others not familiar with it.

This project began in the fall of 2007 to introduce high school students to the history, art and craft of quilt making. It was initially funded by a Woods Charitable Fund grant for supplies and tools, and has since received some funding from LQG for additional supplies and fabric. The Bryan Community Learning Center does not have a sewing class so the project requested and received several older used machines from Lincoln Public Schools.

Since 2007, nearly 20 LQG members have volunteered their time, expertise and personal supplies to this project. Each week during the school year they provide quilting expertise and encouragement to young men and women in Bryan's parenting class. The students first learn to make blocks for cuddle quilts for LQG to give to children in need and then they make quilts for their own children. Some of their completed quilts have been displayed at the Bernina Sewing Studio and at LQG's biennial quilt shows.

The project encourages new, young quilters while building a great relationship between them and our Guild. To volunteer or donate fabric or supplies, please contact past LQG President Elizabeth Sterns at jt60326@windstream.com.

– Joyce Pope

Slate of Officers for 2011-2012

Becky Haynes and Sherry Taylor are the members of the Nominations Committee. Becky announced the names of the nominees and they were asked to stand.

Haight*.
