1	Last year was a "reboot" year for the festival with limited festival support for filmmakers' travel. Would not invite writers of a film generally unless specific panel application related to project.	Jul 19, 2012 2:51 PM
2	we are a short film festival.	Jul 18, 2012 10:21 PM
3	We list directors and countries covered, sometimes also main actors	Jul 12, 2012 1:42 AM
4	Our criteria for selection is that the director is a woman. Most of the films we show are written & directed by the same woman.	Jun 29, 2012 11:47 AM
5	We have several awards for writers as well as a screenwriting competition. We are a production competition (600 short films in 10 years) and 5 of our screenplay finalists have been filmed and exhibited at the festival.	Jun 29, 2012 9:44 AM
6	Filmmakers are credited using the "Dir: xxxx" convention. We consider the screenwriter, if separate from the director, to be a "key creative" when evaluating eligibility for selection.	Jun 29, 2012 9:09 AM
7	we shift focus every year, one year it might be screenwriters, one year composers, this year's focus was on music	Jun 27, 2012 1:55 AM
8	Its good planning...	Jun 22, 2012 12:24 AM
9	Sorry, we are a Short Film Festival - we don't show feature films. question 7 is none: but thats no possible answer	Jun 21, 2012 3:46 AM
10	We're limited for space, particularly in the printed programme. Director's credit is all we can afford.	Jun 20, 2012 1:04 PM

Page 11, Q22. Is there anything that would encourage you to bring more screenwriters to your Festival? Any support that would be necessary?

1	This depends exclusively on the financial capabilities of the organizing company. If the Festival receive sponsorship it could invite more screenwriters.	Jul 30, 2012 1:16 PM
2	We would always encourage all people to be involved in our festival.	Jul 23, 2012 1:22 AM
3	With support for airfare and network to reach screenwriters, we would be very eager to bring more writers in. Last 2 years with limited programming a panel on non-fiction writing was held and in 2011 one on crafting compelling narrative within the constraints of truth Kirk Ellis producer/writer John Adams and Andrea Meditch Exec Producer of award-winning documentaries were our "Artists In Conversation"	Jul 19, 2012 2:57 PM
4	unfortunately it all comes down to a lack of cash and resources, but we are trying (again) for specific funding in this area.	Jul 18, 2012 5:09 PM
5	In generally bigger budget=better financing	Jul 18, 2012 4:07 PM
6	we are a really small independant film festival, we would love to help more young screenwriter ( that why we have since the beginning a prize name best screenplay ) We are a fantasy magical, film festival and in france it 's really difficult to find support ( financial and press ) with thoses themes. What film festival need in France more financial help. But we will keep doing the film festival becaus we love it !! best regards and good luck with your project B�n�dicte Beaugois festival du film merveilleux	Jul 18, 2012 11:58 AM
7	Our festival is a short film competition. So basically our major point is not screenwriting. However we decided to set up a script competition in parallel during the festival because we think highly interesting to favour talented screewriters who would like to stage their scenario. We would be encouraged to bring more screenwriters if we had better financial support. Indeed we could really give importance to a screenwriting event, invite more professionals, offer more attractive prizes with better financial incentives. Moreover, we don't have a specifical place dedicated to our screenwriting competition. The point is we work with cinemas in order to showcase our short film selection and with concert halls for parties about cinema during the festival. So if we were able to have a place de set up the event, it would surely help.	Jul 18, 2012 7:54 AM
8	Sponsorship	Jul 17, 2012 12:55 PM
9	funding? we are a tiny film festival with a budget of less than �10,000.00.	Jul 12, 2012 1:44 AM
10	A larger financial support would probably allow our Festival to host more screenwriters.	Jul 11, 2012 6:11 AM
11	Sponsorships which would be specifically for the use of providing travel and accommodations for screenwriters would be necessary. With a limited travel budget, we focus on the Director and talent in the films we screen.	Jul 8, 2012 8:12 PM
12	The Australian AWG is celebrating its 50th anniversary during our next Festival - October 10-20 2013. Each event (we are biennial), the Adelaide Film Festival has a unique script development workshop with the AWG and we would hope that the one in 2013 could attract a screen writer of international reputation. A dream for us would be to invite Richard Curtis to be part of the International Jury and to take part in the AWG event in Adelaide. October 2013. Let me know how i amy go about this very direct	Jul 5, 2012 12:48 AM encouragement! Adelaide Film Festival has a renowned theatre and film writer on the Board - Andrew Bovell. I would recommend any festival to encourage writers onto the Board to allow this key creative role to have a voice in the Festival structure.

13	Sponsorship.	Jul 2, 2012 7:39 AM
14	One of our Festival objective is discovering and fostering new talent for the film industry. It would be included screenwriters as well. In order to deepen the understanding of the films, our Festival want to introduce all about the people involved in the films.	Jul 1, 2012 9:59 PM
15	The festival takes place in European soil. If European support (e.g. MEDIA Programme) were available, it could also boost our screenwriters' invitations. However, in the animation field, screenwriter and director (especially for short films) are 90% the same person.	Jul 1, 2012 10:14 AM
17	- Travel funding for an international screenwriter to attend our festival and participate in our Industry Series as a presenter/speaker/workshop leader. - Travel funding to attend our festival for screenwriters of films in selection, or for local screenwriters of films who have won awards at our festival to attend other festivals - Donated services of a WGC member to provide script consultancy to winners of our pitch competition - Donated services of a WGC member to lead a workshop on screenwriting outside of the festival dates	Jun 29, 2012 9:41 AM
18	I guess even this survey is a wake up call - and the fact that you are taking time to focus on scriptwriting. If there was a Fund to enable us specifically to invite scriptwriters then we would be very likely to apply. This is because we do not have a big budget and we prioritise the Director or main actor. We would welcome inviting the scriptwriter as well - but in most cases not instead.	Jun 29, 2012 9:21 AM
19	a strong support from the local filmindustry (the writers) would mean a lot	Jun 27, 2012 6:25 AM
20	We're an audience focused festival so we tend to have to programme events that will attract the public (as opposed to film makers) - however, to bring more screenwriters to the festival we would need funding to bring Australian screenwriters over to London.	Jun 27, 2012 12:51 AM
21	Yes, we did do an off-season screenwriting workshop with Gregory Allen Howard in 2011 that was a huge success. Funding this kind of events is tough for a non for profit like the Miami International Film Festival.	Jun 22, 2012 8:03 AM
22	Support for the seminars and professional activities.	Jun 22, 2012 2:52 AM
23	In the current economic situation in Spain is mainly a matter of funds (the lack of them, to be precise). But I guess that an easier contact way with them would make a difference.	Jun 22, 2012 1:46 AM

Page 11, Q22. Is there anything that would encourage you to bring more screenwriters to your Festival? Any support that would be necessary?

24	from this we are going to organize a separate event for writer by name- WRITERS MEET	Jun 22, 2012 12:28 AM
25	Financial support and marketing to the industry	Jun 21, 2012 10:38 AM
26	The last London Children's Film Festival was on a drastically reduced scale, due to funding cuts. In the future, if some kind of support was put in place, this might be something that could be concentrated on.	Jun 21, 2012 8:43 AM

1	please note that many of our directors are also screenwriters, as we are a short film festival.	Jul 18, 2012 10:23 PM
2	Please refer our Festival web-site http://www.focus-on-asia.com/english/about/ We would be more than happy to be of service to you. Thank you.	Jul 1, 2012 9:59 PM
3	It is good to know that you are doing this and thank you. Do let us know if we can help more in future.	Jun 29, 2012 9:21 AM
4	We really love good screenwriting and consider it a vital part of a film, maybe even more than the directing, but press tends to consider the director as the person that "owns" the film, maybe over the French influence that rules in Europe.	Jun 22, 2012 1:46 AM
5	WELCOME TO MOVIE LAND www.jiffindia.org	Jun 22, 2012 12:28 AM
6	We please our audiences and they would rather meet a director than a screenwriter. The general attitude towards the different roles in the filmmaking process need to change before audiences will respond more enthusiastically to screenwriters.	Jun 20, 2012 1:06 PM
