

“STEP 9: MADE DIRECT AMENDS TO SUCH PEOPLE WHEREVER POSSIBLE, EXCEPT WHEN TO DO SO WOULD INJURE THEM OR OTHERS.”

The ninth step begins with a list – the basis for our amends supplied by step eight. I’ve made a lot of lists in sobriety, but not nearly as many as I made drunk. Best intentions were a thin defense against an ever-worsening reality, and lists bloomed like moss on a rock, unthreatened by the prospect of action. There were books to read, vitamins to take, relatives to call on their birthdays, exes not to call after 6 or more beers. There were penny-pinching guidelines, and moral codes I couldn’t remember scribbling – appearing the next morning like divine inspiration, except with tricky words like “adultery” misspelled.

By contrast, the stuff we put on paper in AA tends to have real relevance to life as we live it. That’s why the eighth step maintains its capacity to frighten: Nine lurks just behind, ready to hold you to your word – and your word is “willing.” That’s when slippery yearning for alternatives sets in: Are amends really necessary, if we promise to conduct ourselves differently? We’ve seen the error of our ways, now can’t we forget them? That valley between intention and action beckons, asking us to make it our unhappy home.

When “any length” begins to seem too far in the pursuit of sobriety, fear and selfishness, those usual suspects, have made their insidious, predictable, return. It’s no mistake that the ninth step invites their resistance: They have the most to lose if we persevere here. Our fourth and fifth steps amount to a moral history, in which fear and self-centeredness ruled tyrannically. In the ninth step, we find a fitting antidote: In total concern for others, we confront the conversations we fear most.

The ninth step entails more than acknowledging the victims of the way we lived, when we snapped like wounded animals at anyone kind enough to draw near. That much constitutes human decency, but as we’ve learned thus far, we need more than mere human power to proceed. The ninth step means recognizing that nothing less than selfless courage will set right a record of selfish fear. It means having faith that as we address the past, a spiritual source will supply the power we lack.

As I wrote out my eighth step, a part of me suspected it would go the way of my best laid drunken plans: nowhere at all, stymied by my own inability to change, whatever my desire. Surveying the list of those I’d harmed, I felt I lacked the constitution to continue on the path my list set me on, towards amends.

That turned out to be true, in its way. We Agnostics reminds us, “We could wish to be moral, we could wish to be philosophically comforted, in fact, we could wish these things with all our might, but the needed power wasn’t there.” But that void is where spiritual help arrives. I’ve made many amends in my sobriety, and many still remain to be made. But without the presence of a power greater than my own, that eighth step would still just be names on a page, nothing more than empty intention. If step nine seems to require strength we don’t possess, it has that in common with our sobriety as whole. In these cases, yours and mine, God makes the difference.

General Service/Intergroup Liaison: Prior to last month's District 8 Business Meeting, the annual Delegates Luncheon was held. One of the interesting things brought up is the fact that AA is not fully supported by our own contributions and that annual literature purchases and group contributions to the General Service Office in New York total roughly $6 million a year while literature purchases by Hazleden and other like facilities total 16 million...it was pointed out that if every Home Group country wide contributed $106.00 or we as individuals contributed $7.03 once a year we would be fully self-supporting and would be able to distribute our literature for free. Unfinished Business:

Alternate Chairperson - Steve H; Public Information - Vacant; 12-Step Committee - Vacant

Intergroup Website - Vacant; South County Intergroup Liaison - Vacant;

Archive Committee Liaison - Vacant. New Business: None. For a detailed report, contact the Intergroup office.

2015 Gratitude Dinner: Jeff E. (chair): We have picked and voted on the Dinner's menu. The "Decoration Committee" has some great ideas and will no doubt transform the room and tables into something special. We are currently looking into "speaker/speakers" that will add to what will be an already awesome evening of fun, food and fellowship. If anyone has a speaker that they would like to recommend to the committee, please get us a disc/tape of them sharing their experience, strength and hope. The Steering Committee took our suggestion and approved the table/ticket sales to begin a month earlier than prior years. Table/ticket sales will begin at next month's Intergroup Meeting on August 26th. Go back to your groups and start planting the seed early. Our committee is working hard to put on a great event, that I have no doubt will culminate with a spectacular evening on November 7th. It's now our job to start talking it up and start filling seats. The next SPBC Gratitude Dinner Committee meeting will be August 15th at 11:15 @ the Boca Pines Clubhouse. Everyone is welcome and your ideas, energy and service is most welcome. If you have any questions, concerns or feedback, please don't hesitate to call or email me at any time.

2015 Serenity Scramble: Jay P. (chair): Reported that the date for the first volunteer meeting will be announced at next month's business meeting.

Speaker Exchange: Burt R. Reported that there were a few groups that participated in the last Speaker Exchange meeting and will announce when the next meeting will be held.
