What makes this book unique, worth publishing compared to existing literature on this topic?

Please provide a promotional text of approximately 200-250 words, which is to the point, succinct and relevant, and might be used, for example, on the back cover of the book envisioned, in promotional brochures, catalogues and on the Internet. For search engine optimization please ensure that the first two sentences tell exactly what the book is about.

Please list the book's Unique Selling Points (3-5 one-line bullet points):

Using the enclosed Springer Subject Codes, please indicate under 1 and 2 the major disciplines covered by this title (these two should cover 80% of the content). If relevant, please use 3,4,5 to indicate the most relevant minor disciplines, in order of importance.

Please provide:
(Attached to this form)

- A statement of the proposed manuscript's aims and contribution to existing scholarship and/or methodological debate.
- An analytical synopsis of the contents of each proposed chapter (approx. 200 words per chapter)
- A proposed table of contents
- A curriculum vitae and a list of your publications
- A listing of relevant competing titles: books and articles related to your proposed book, including titles, authors, date of publication, and publisher.

Submit your proposal as a Word file by email to the IMISCOE Editorial Committee Manager, Warda Belabas: belabas@fsw.eur.nl. The Editorial Committee will provide its response within 4 weeks of proposal submission.

Thank you for your interest in publishing with IMISCOE and Springer.

Note:

IMISCOE subsidizes open access publishing fees for authors/editors affiliated with IMISCOE member institutions. This leaves 2.500 euros (plus 21% VAT) to be paid by the authors/editors themselves to IMISCOE for open access. In case of multi-author/editor books, at least one of the authors must be employed at an IMISCOE member institute, and all co-authors/editors must be individual members.
