22. Examine this citation and summary. Is this article highly relevant for your topic on electric cars?

- A. Yes
- B. No

VIEWPOINT

A Realizable Renewable Energy Future

John A. Turner

The ability of renewable resources to provide all of society's energy needs is shown by using the United States as an example. Various renewable systems are presented, and the issues of energy payback, carbon dioxide abatement, and energy storage are addressed. Pathways for renewable hydrogen generation are shown, and the implementation of hydrogen technologies into the energy infrastructure is presented. The question is asked, Should money and energy be spent on carbon dioxide sequestration, or should renewable resources be implemented instead.

Q23

23. Examine this citation and summary. Is this article highly relevant for your topic on using ocean tides to generate energy?

- A. Yes

High stakes, high salaries - MORE ON SPORTS 10 NOTES: Boston assistant Thibodeau knows Kobe Bryant's game well.

Orange County Register, The (Santa Ana, CA) - June 8, 2008
Length: 867 words (Estimated printed pages: 3)

BOSTONKevin Garnett is the highest-paid player in the NBA, and a special distinction arrives C.O.D. with his $23.75 million salary. In a sports world where athletes' incomes are as public as their uniform numbers, Garnett has to win to make himself worth it in the eyes of the fans he represents and the owner who signs his paycheck. If he doesn't win — as happened in Minnesota, prompting Garnett's offseason trade to (and contract extension...

Coaches: target of new blood sport - High salaries lead to high expectations By JEMELE HILL DETROIT FREE PRESS

Tallahassee Democrat (FL) - October 29, 2004
Length: 606 words (Estimated printed pages: 2)

Welcome to the Big Ten Column of the Week Classic, brought to you by SBC in coordination with Long John Silver's, Ron Zook's Realtor and the makers of the official Jessica Simpson IQ test. Recently, Michigan coach Lloyd Carr heard embattled Penn State coach Joe Paterno deliver a sad truth about today's world of college athletics. According to Carr, Paterno said if he were getting ready to go to college today, he would say no thank you to intercollegiate...

BEJEWEL BASKETBALL STARS - HIGH SALARIES ALLOW PLAYERS TO SPORT THE 'BLING-BLING'

Daily Press (Newport News, VA) - January 12, 2003
Length: 754 words (Estimated printed pages: 3)

In case you hadn't noticed -- and it's hard not to, really -- the new NBA is all about the "bling-bling." Before and after games, players look like they've stepped right out of a rap video. We're talking chains as thick as Charles Barkley's head and diamond earrings as big as, well, basketballs. That's only a slight exaggeration. "It just so happens that when you make the kind of...

HIGH SALARIES IN SPORTS REFLECT WRONG PRIORITIES

Columbus Dispatch, The (OH) - April 4, 2001
Length: 162 words (Estimated printed pages: 1)

In the Thursday Dispatch, Iowa basketball coach Steve Alford signs a contract for $900,000 a year. Wow! That's around $2,500 a day, 365 days a year. Compare this with the following: President of the good ol' United States makes $200,000 a year. That's $548 a day plus expenses. The governor of Iowa makes $104,352 a year, or $285.90 a day. All federal government cabinet members make $157,000 a year, or $430 a day. The average pay for a college...

High salaries not making cut with rich teams

The Dallas Morning News - February 12, 2000
Length: 725 words (Estimated printed pages: 3)

A few months ago, the Texas Rangers traded slugger Juan Gonzalez, saying it would bust their budget to re-sign him. Now, the Dallas Cowboys are probably going to decide they can't afford comeback Deion Sanders' asking price of $10 million a year. Calculations like these are going on all over team sports. More than ever before, franchises are making personnel decisions based on players' paychecks rather than their talents. Teams...
