Printing Tips

The certificates in this PDF are set to work on standard 8.5 x 11 inch paper.

Q: Do I need a special kind of certificate paper?

A: No, the certificates are ornate enough that you do not need special certificate paper to make them look nice. Regular paper will work fine, although you may want to use a thicker paper or glossy stock to make the certificate look more professional and last longer.

Q: Do I need a color printer?

A: No, you can print these certificates on any regular printer. Printing them in color will definitely make them look more professional, though. If your office does not have a color printer, take the PDF to a local Kinkos or office supply store with a color copier.

Q: Do I need to scale the certificates when printing?

A: No, if you are given an option for page scaling in your print dialog box, choose “None” (see illustration). The certificates are designed with plenty of border space. If you choose other scaling options, the certificates will not print correctly and may appear with a black border around them.

Q: How do I type onto the certificate?

A: You can type directly into the certificates using the latest FREE version of Adobe Reader. If you want more design flexibility and font options, there is another two-step process you can use. First you have to print the certificates you want from the awards book. Then you have to type the areas where there are blanks on the certificates in a Word document and print the document onto the certificates. It's the same process you would use to print a Word document on your pre-printed company letterhead.

Q: How do I create my own funny awards?

A: You can type directly into the certificates using the latest FREE version of Adobe Reader. If you want more design flexibility and font options, you can use the same two step process outlined above under “How do I type onto the certificate?”

About the Author

Larry Weaver is a professional comedian, entertainment booking agent, and creator of the Funny Employee Awards Show – the company party where your employees are the stars.

Larry grew up in the tiny mill village of Saxapahaw, NC, and started performing at a young age. After majoring in accounting at the University of North Carolina, he left his CPA dreams behind to tour across America with improv comedy group Selected Hilarity.

He went on to share the stage with “Weird Al” Yankovic, Faith Hill, Ray Romano, and Chris Rock – just to name a few.

Upon going solo, Larry released three CDs of funny songs and commercial parodies. These albums spawned such morning radio hits as “Grandpa’s Gone Gangsta” and “Ghost in the Trailer,” a hilarious tale about a family terrorized by a redneck ghost.

Larry launched Larry Weaver Entertainment booking agency to capitalize on his growing success. The company has a stellar reputation across the United States for providing 100% clean comedians and funny speakers for corporate meetings and special events.

Still performing, Larry loves to poke fun at office life and the culture that surrounds it. He encourages people to break out of their rut and achieve greatness.

With nearly twenty years in the corporate and entertainment worlds, Larry uses his unique experiences create a fresh, offbeat, and funny twist on workplace humor.
