SECTION VII: HYPOTHETICAL CASE QUESTIONS (20%)

Tesfanesh appeared before a Recruiting Committee of Commercial Bank of Ethiopian (CBE) after a vacancy announcement for the job of a senior accountant advertized on Addis Zemen Gazette. She was among 200 applicants for the job at first, but with her credentials and work experience she was able to make the last two best qualifiers for the position, which demands one person. Her competitor was Misganaw whose overall point was equal with Tesfanesh's.

The Chairperson of the Recruiting Committee recommended, and the Manager of CBE subsequently approved, the recruitment of Tesfanesh instead of Misganaw as a senior accountant as though Misganaw was equally qualified with her for the stated position.

Do you think the decision of the CBE amounts to gender based discrimination in employment? What ground did the Bank have for the possible complain that could be raised by Misganaw that he was discriminated against? (8 Pts)

By applying H.L.A. Hart's argument on positivism (primary and secondary rules) argue in favor or against the hypothesis that Ethiopia had no a legal system before the adoption of the present codes in the 1960s. (You may assume/use some facts on the condition of the Ethiopian legal system before 1960s from your course on legal History) (12Pts)
