Tom received his BA in Psychology from Creighton University, BS in Education from the University of Nebraska, and his M. Ed in Bilingual/Multicultural Education from Northern Arizona University. He has been a teacher, collaborative peer teacher, mentor, recruiter, and staff trainer with the Alhambra School District in Phoenix. His classroom experiences with inner city students proved to him that Kagan Structures make an incredible difference in the lives of students and the teachers who use the structures. His passion and zest for Kagan Structures, students, and teachers come alive in his workshops.

Participants Rave!

“Structures were great! Language acquisition was new information which will be very helpful!”

— Susan Shafer, Teacher, Kindergarten & Dual Language

“Clear, concise and very helpful for meeting ESL and regular education students.”

— Judi Call, Math Teacher, Grade 6

“Outstanding. I especially loved learning about the developmental stages of language acquisition. I now have a deeper understanding of how to modify structures to help our ESL students.”

— Tiffany White, Language Arts Teacher, Grade 6
