Succession Planning

Did you know that the trucking industry is facing shortages in many of our key occupations - not only drivers! In recent years, some of the highest retirement rates were among managers, supervisors, freight claims specialists and safety personnel. Unfortunately, these trends will likely continue - 1 in 8 managers & supervisors and 1 in 6 freight claims and safety specialists are over 55 years old. To combat these issues, many of today's successful businesses focus on growing their own leaders to be sure they can have the right people in the right jobs at the right time. These companies undertake "succession planning" for the most critical skill sets or positions in their company. We will provide an overview of our four step process that can guide you in developing your own succession plan.
