COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Bi.102 – N.T. Survey – An overview of the entire New Testament, Gospels, epistles, history, and prophecy. The authorship, time of writing, key words, and verses, theme, purpose, and an outline covering each book along with the highlights of the content of the twenty-seven New Testament books.

Bi.200 – Pentateuch – This is an introductory study of the books of Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy with emphasis upon the ancient Israelite sacrificial, priestly, levitical and festival system and an investigation of the social, political, and religious institutions described therein.

Bi.220 – Poetical Books - This is an introductory study of the books of Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and Song of Solomon. Emphasis will be given to (1) the various characteristics of Hebrew poetry; (2) the theological content of these books; (3) the practical value of these books for the Christian life.

Bi.270 – Epistles: Romans – Galatians – An exegetical study of the books of Romans, 1 & 2 Corinthians, and Galatians with special emphasis upon the doctrinal themes and their application to the Christian life.

Bi.440 – Biblical Prophecy (Messianic) - A study of prophecy concerning Christ from Old Testament passages. The apologetic, homiletic, and inspirational values of Messianic prophecy will be considered.

BiL.221 – Greek Exegesis – An integrated study of the Greek New Testament which emphasizes basic principles of Greek exegesis including syntax, accidence, vocabulary, interpretation, and development of exegetical skills. Selected passages from the book of Romans will be translated, and important theological words will be subjected to intensive word studies with the objective of developing greater skills in preaching and teaching the New Testament. (Prerequisite: BiL. 220 or its equivalent)

Hi.240 – World Religions - This course is a study of the history and doctrine of various religions throughout the world.

Mu.401 – Theology of Worship - This course consists of the investigation and discussion of the role of music in Scripture and the Biblical and theological concepts of worship and the use of music in worship. Attention is given to the principles, plans, and methods in which the pastor can work effectively and creatively with musically skilled persons in the church.

Phil.301 – Biblical Worldview - Biblical Worldview compares and contrasts basic worldviews and their implications for life. This course will present the main components of a Christian worldview as well as responding to challenges to a biblical worldview.
