RATING

The Rating is the result of the application of an automatic procedure which compares the accounts of the company to those typical of companies and companies in difficulty. The Rating may not be significant in some special cases and therefore cannot substitute an analysis of the company's accounts. The Rating should not, therefore, form the sole basis for an assessment of the company in question.

The commercial line of credit indicates an assessment of the reliability of the company grantable by a single partner/supplier with a fair level of commercial contact with the company. This could result in an underestimation if referred to suppliers who have predominant commercial relations with respect to the average of the company's other commercial partners. In addition, the credit is the result of an economic-financial analysis carried out outside the company and does not take into account:

- a) qualitative aspects of the company's management;
- b) membership of company groups;

c) guarantees or other forms of coverage grantable to the company.

Based on the ISTAT code of economic activity of this company, a Rating specific to companies within the macro-sector SERVICES has been applied.
