the lifting of the three percent sales tax on food and drugs.

Students originally became interested in the controversy during a discussion in an economics class of the tax bill, then before the legislature. A meeting was held in the student union at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon at which time Mr. Jorandby, Instructor in Economics, explained the bill. A petition drawn up by the students who had called the meeting was then circulated for signatures.

The petition is as follows: "To the legislative body of the State of West Virginia, we the undersigned citizens do hereby submit by out the following petition. I. That the three percent (3) sales tax be lifted from food and drugs for the following reasons.

for the following reasons.

(a) This is a regressive tax.

II. To compensate for the resulting fifteen million (15,000,000) dollar loss to our state educational system it is suggested that you

Mr. Jorandby clarified the petition by stating that it does not affack the sales tax as a whole, but asks only that food and drugs be exempted from the list of taxable items. "Since low-income groups spend a larger percentage of their income on food than do higher-income groups, a larger percentage of the income of low-income families is taxed than in the higher-income groups. This is what is considered regressive about the proposed tax bill," he stated.

Folk Singing Family On Campus in March

When the Beers family arrives on campus they will unpack a treasure of folk-instruments such as are rarely seen in concerts even in this day of increased interest in folk singing. Among the instruments played by the Beers family art the psaltery, the keyless ancestor of the harpsichord; the dulcimer; the "fiddle-sticks"; "straws"; and other more familiar instruments such as the fiddle, guitar, banjo, and drums. guitar, banjo, and drums. To those who witness a per-formance by the Beers family for the first time, the initial reaction is one of stunned disbelief, for is one of stunned disbelief, for the group seems to have stepped directly from the pages of his-tory. Their repertoire is, in fact, as close to a total education in traditional Americana as one may get in the twentieth century.

The federal government made an appropriation to Glenwille State Colege for a new workship program. The total amount, which includes 10% furnished by the college, is $8,732. This will provide 77 new workships for GSC college students. The pay will be $.70 an hour with a maximum working time of 15 hours a week.

Jobs will include such duties as department assistants, secretarial service, and remedial tutoring. Workships will also be available in the summer with a maximum of 40 hours per week.

Applicants must be from low income families since the main purpose of the program is to allow students to work their way through college. Students whe are employed by a workship must maintain a C average.

Three Women Live Together in House

During this term three junior home economics students are residing in the Home Management House for the purpose of gaining experience in all phases of managing the home. Those living in the house are Rita Cross of Pinch, Rebecca Summers Conley, of Glenville, and Susan Girard of Hilside, Maryland. These women will reside in the house for nine weeks under the supervision of Miss Elma Jean Woofter, associate professor of home economics.

Living in the Home Management House provides an opportunity for an application of management principles and methods to specific situations so as to provide for the improvement of skills in the management of time and money, meal planning, food buying and preparation, and house cleaning. Family relationships, social conduct, and hospitality are also emphasized.

Hardwood Men Play Five; Win Two, Lose Three

By BOB MARSHALL
The Pioneers have played five games since Jan. 11, the last publishing date of the Mercury. The contests have been with Concord, West Virginia Tech, Alderson-Davis and Elkins, and arvey. The Wave was Morris Harvey. The Wave was victorious in two games and lost three.

Concord
Friday, Jan. 15, the Blue and White went south toward Athens for a game with Concord. The Mountain Lions were determined to take this conference victory

Davis and Elkins
Once again on Thursday evening, Jan. 28, the Pioneers were on the road again—this time headed for Elkins for a game with Davis and Elkins College.
The Pioneers were in good condition and were determined for another conference w in. This time the Wave snagged an early lead and wouldn't let D&E see daylight.

Clark Dilley, Glenville's shooting-ace, led the Pioneers through the first half by gaining 20 points. By half-time the Wave had built a 41-33 lead.

The second half seemed to be much of a repeat performance. Bob Maxwell, the Pioneers' team captain, showed he was all for the win by tossing in 10 points in the final minutes of play. For the tenth time out of fifteen games this year Clark Pilley was high. this year Clark Dilley was high-point man. This time he made

TUITION WILL BE RAISED

Mr. Lloyd M. Jones, has an-nounced that tuition for non-resi-tent students, will be increased dent students, $25 per semester or $50 per regu-lar school year, and in the same proportion for part-time students and summer term students.

This increase will make a total of $270 per semester, or $540 per year for non-resident students. The increase will be effective Sept. 1, 1965 as set forth by the Sept. 8, 1964 session of the West Virginia Board of Education.

No other increases are contemplated at this time, though there plated at this time, though there is a possibility of an increase in room rentals at a later date because of increasing costs. The recent sewage fee in the town of Glenville increased the water bill 100%. However, it is too early to determine just what effect this will have on living costs.

The alternative suggested in the petition led to a certain amount of misunderstanding. It was the original aim of the student group to petition for the lifting of the tax on food and drugs but not to provide an alternative suggestion for raising the revenue.

Many students, hearing of the petition in this form, voiced their disapproval because of the imdisapproval because of the im-plication that the loss of revenue over the lifting of the tax would have to be accompanied by a corresponding cut in state expen-ditures, since it is required by the state constitution that the batter state constitution that the budget be approximately balanced. A cut in expenditures of this size, the students felt, would seriously af-fect the state's educational program, since the educational pro-grams are financed to a great extent by the sales tax

Mr. Jorandby stated that the petition, in the form in which it was presented to the students, provides an alternative for raising the funds lost due to the exemption of food and drugs from the sales tay. That alternative is the sales tax. That alternative is to increase the personal and cor-porate income taxes to an extent that would make up for the lost

In 1925, Shaw was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature which he donated toward the establishment of an Anglo-Swedish alli-ance for spreading a knowledge of Swedish literature in English speaking countries.

Shaw wrote forty-seven plays, an average of a play a year. Many theatre goers will remem-ber Shaw as author of "Pygmalion" from which "My Fair dy" was adapted.

Many of his plays are not dra-mas in the classic sense, but moralities, presenting the clash-ing ideas and conflicting ideolo-gies of the epoch.

"Saint Joan", written in the la-ter years of his life, deserves to rank among his greatest drama-tic works. "Saint Joan," exhibittic works. "Saint Joan," exhibit-ing the Maid as the incarnation of the Protestant soul in tragic conflict with the mightiest forces of institutionalism in church and state, is one of the most uplifting dramas in English since Shakespeare

DR. HARDWAY TO REPRESENT

Dr. Wendell Hardway, head of the education department at GSC, will represent West Virginia in the National Conference of the Association of Student Teachers Feb. 10 through 13. The confer-ence will be held in Chicago, with the theme, "Theoretical Bases for Professional Laboratory Experi-ences in Teacher Education."

Three main speakers for this year are Dr. Florence B. Stratemeyer of Columbia University, Dr. L. O. Andrews of Ohio University, and Dr. Harry N. Rivlin of the City University of New York. After Dr. Rivlin speaks, the conference will divide into sections where Dr. Hardway will record all the discussion in his group and report to the main congroup and report to the main con-ference the points brought out about the talk given by Dr. Riv-

Duties of a state officer are basically to bring about a better F.F.A. organization in the state. Their duties require them to encourage F.F.A. members to pursue higher degrees and awards. Officers check local chapter programs and make recommendations to the chapter and state associations when they feel that some phase of the programs need changing.

They also represent the West Virginia F.F.A. Association on official business. The average state F.F.A. officer travels two thousand miles in his term of office.

Are Scheduled

All persons completing an A.B. degree in Teacher Education at Glenville State College must take the National Teachers Examination. It should be taken on the date the test is given immediately preceding the time the student expects to complete the requirements for the degree.

The examination will be given on our campus on March 20 and July 17. All persons who will be completing their degree requirements on March 26, May 28, and July 9, must take the examination on March 20, if they have not already done so. All persons completing degree requirements in August, 1965, must take the examination on July 17.

All persons who plan to take

All persons who plan to take the examination on March 20, are to register at 3:30 p.m. on Feb. 11, in Room 308A. Any students who cannot possibly be at this registration should contact Dean Deel before Feb. 11.

The Science Club has announced that it will present "North by Northwest" in the audition Tuesday, Feb. 23. The movie will be shown at 3:30 and 8:00 p.m. Admission will be 50 cents.

Miss Tachibana Has Beauty and Grace

By CARL KERR

An audience of 250 attended the fascinating dance recital of Sahomi Tachibana, the second Lyceum program of the season, on Jan. 28. The first of her nine dances immediately revealed Miss Tachibana as a fine artist who has mastered a demanding and highly refined art form.

A large part of her program was devoted to adaptations from the unique Kabuki tradition, a dramatically expressive dancemime form requiring the utmost discipline and control. Her program was pleasingly varied, An audience of 250 attended the gram was pleasingly varied, ranging from a popular dance—the Samosa, set to a song curently popular in Japan—to the exquisitely graceful Ocho, an ancient court dance.

A highlight of her performance was the "Kagura men" (mask dance) in which she delineated with rapid transitions the charwith rapid transitions the char-acters of three different people: ¿ foolish girl, an ugly blacksmith, and a devil. The fantastically stylized masks literally came alive through her rigidly con-trolled but expressive body move-ments. In another interesting number, Miss Tachibana present-da fairy tale (fisherman Uraed a fairy tale (fisherman Ura-shima), first outlining the story and then dancing it to an evoca-tive musical setting.

Miss Tachibana's natural beau-ty and the grace of her dances were enhanced by several chan-ges of costume. The most beauti-ful was the one she wore for the Ocho. Over a yellow bodice and full, pleated skirt she wore a vo-luminous, floating kimono of transparent lavender silk organ-za. Inside the wide sleeves were inserts of shining rose and silver brocade. Both the dance and the costume were strikingly beauti-ful.

Miss Tachibana was warmly received by the audience. Adding to the interest of her performance were the brief informative ments that she made on the dances. She also gave a concise history of the Japanese dance tradition and the "Kabuki" thea-

One does not often have the op ortunity to see a performance such as hers. Even in large cities where concerts, plays, and ballet are commonplace, ethnic dancing appeals to large audiences for the very reason that there is no surfeit of it.

The recital lent a note of variety to this season's Lyceum series, contrasting sharply with the first program, Paul Winter's Jazz Sextet, which played to a near-capacity audience. The third and last program of the season will be the National Opera Company's presentation of Rossini's comic opera "The Barber of Seville" on March 4th.

TWO HAVE NOVA JOBS

By DENNIS MYERS

Two former Glenvile students received positions in the new experimental high school, Nova, at Fort Lauderdale Florida. Dave Fitzpatrick, a graduate of 1947, was appointed administrative as-sistant and Richard Whiting, who graduated in 1949, co-ordinator of the language arts.

Nova is operated and financed by Broward County Board of Public Instruction in cooperation with various educational institu-tions and foundations. This new high school includes grades seven through 12 but hopes to encom-pass a complete hierarchy of in-struction from kindergarten through praduate school through graduate school.

NOVA resembles a typical campus with individual buildings devoted to language arts, science, mathematics, and technical scidevoted to language arts, science, mathematics, and technical science all clustered around a multipurpose patio area. Peri-pheral buildings house the administration, boys and girls field-houses, and a gymnasium. Some remarkable features in the program include conference study areas, special purpose rooms, a decentralized library system, and flexible science laboratories.

Pecentralized library system is ble science laboratories.

Decentralized library system is a method of placing library services in each of three buildings (language arts, science, and mathematics). Acoustical treatment has been given these centers through the use of carpeting, space separation, and half-walls. Each of the centers houses materials pertinent to the subject area taught in its building. In addition to standard library facilities, every center contains carrels designed for study, typing, audio or television reception.

AUDIO-VISUAL television sys-

AUDIO-VISUAL television system has as its core the TV control center and studio area located in the science building. From this facility transmission of instructional material flows to the four main listening and viewing main listening

Each classroom has direct communication with the control center via telephone. At the re-quest of the instructor the room can receive, through a mounted television monitor, audio-tapes, video tapes, or direct broadcasts from either a Nova location or an outside channel broatcast.

IN ADDITION, each lecture hall is equipped with large screens for the showing of slides, film strips, movies or television, all of which may be controlled by the teacher from a lectern console.

Resource centers are all equip-ped for selective audio reception, and the language arts resource center contains six fully equipped viewing carrels. Here students may select from a variety of propriate video tapes for actional study material.

A UNIQUE situation exists in which a large number of parents, who understand the aims of Nova, are voluntarily involved in the cafeteria, the library, and as janitors.

Nova student population con-sists of a cross-section of the en-tire population in terms of ability, age, socio-economic background, and prior school experience. The basic difference, then, between the Nova student and the 'average' student are that he, the Nova student, goes to school longer, meets a more rigorous set of requirements, and assumes more responsibility for his own education

DUE TO the nature of the school, highly qualified teachers were selected from all over the United States. Mr. Dave Fitzpatrick came to Glenville to look over the possibilities of having one of our faculty members work with them in the program.
