

Author Disclosure Summary Instructions

In accordance with the policies and procedures established by The Endocrine Society by the Ethics Advisory Committee: Ethical Aspects of Conflicts of Interests (http://www.endo-society.org/about/ethics/upload/coi_guideline.pdf), all journals published by The Endocrine Society require that each author disclose any potential financial conflicts of interest before a paper is published in Endocrinology, Molecular Endocrinology, The Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism, or Endocrine Reviews.

Authors are requested to provide disclosure information when submitting their manuscript. The disclosure of this information is to identify openly any relationships current or during the past 2 years with companies that make or supply products or services related to the subject matter of the paper and other financial and non-financial interests. With full disclosure, the editors and readers can make informed decisions about submitted and printed papers in the journals.

Please note:

- The corresponding author must ensure that all authors respond to the author verification email sent to all co-authors upon submission.
- The corresponding author must summarize any author disclosures in a paragraph that will appear in the published article, indicating if there are any disclosures. Please include this Disclosure Summary on the title page of the submitted manuscript.
- This summary will be included in the final accepted papers. Final acceptance is contingent on the inclusion of the summary and on the receipt of all author verification responses at the editorial office.

Instructions for Author Disclosure Summary for Title Page:

Briefly collate all information regarding conflicts directly related to the material being published from the individual author summaries. Use the format: Author's initials, then category, then company name. Relevant categories include "has nothing to declare", "is employed by", "was previously employed by", "consults for", "has previously consulted for", "has served as an expert witness for", "received lecture fees from", "has equity interests in", "received grant support (dates) from", "is an inventor on (country)(patent number)", "receives royalties from". Authors may also add other pertinent categories.

EXAMPLES:

1. DISCLOSURE STATEMENT: AZ, BY, and CX have nothing to declare. DW was previously employed by Hormone Pharma and has equity interests in Secretary Devices, Inc... EV is a consultant for Endo Experts, LLC. FU received lecture fees from Gland Enterprises. GT is an inventor on U.S. Patent 000-111-2222.
2. DISCLOSURE STATEMENT: The authors have nothing to disclose.