Dear Readers

You may remember in this little column last month I wrote of the country being gripped in World Cup fever, well it wasn't for long was it. What a pathetic display these overpaid, prima donnas that call themselves Englishmen put on. My dog could have put on a better display and I haven't even got one. As for our Italian national football coach, what was the idiot in the FA thinking of signing him up for another two years and at 6 million pounds a year surely they meant the old lire not pounds they are all hopeless and I for one have lost interest in our national team Got really cross last night, just about to buy a new tent for our summer hols on the internet ebay auction site when our service provider, AOL, decided to update their software and switch off ours and millions of others internet access. Lost my tent to another bidder on ebay and also lost what little faith I had in internet technology. Talking of modern technology I have been having a few problems with my car recently, its not that modern, about ten years old but gone are the days when you could get them going again by cleaning the points, now you need a degree in Computer Science, why can't things just be kept simple. My next car is going to have points and carburettors under the bonnet not computers. Sorry, last month I omitted to mention that Sarah Strong our regular 'Change for Life' columnist is no longer writing for us. Some of you may know Sarah has a very successful restaurant in Lyme, 'Cobby's' which along with her very busy personal life take up most of her time. Thanks for all your great advice over the years Sarah, you will be greatly missed by all of us. Another couple of regulars we are also going to miss soon are John Lloyd, owner of Livingstone Fabrics in Bridport and his wife Cheryl. John has been at Livingstones for over 39 years and an advertiser in The Diary since it started. John and Cheryl plan to retire as soon as they have cleared their stock get down there for some real bargains. Good luck to both of you and enjoy your retirement!

Don't forget Friday 13th August when our very own Brian Justice, columnist of The Diary's 'Good Vibrations' will be hosting a grand Pop Quiz at The Woodman Inn public house in South Street, Bridport as a prelude to Bridport's Vinyl Saturday the following day. The Pop Quiz offers lots of prizes and a cash jackpot, for more information email Brian at cuesheetbj@gmail.com or see the advert on page 59 of this issue. All you quizzers out there this quiz is not just on the latest music, Brian was born in the early fifties like me so the questions will span a few decades. So, be there or be square as they say in the music industry again how sad.

Keep safe Philip Harrison

WHY IS IT

Please send your 'Why is it's' to: The Diary, PO Box 3845. Bridport Dorset DT6 6YW.

that, a 'holier than tho' person can slur 'Smart' car drivers....

that, interviewees on TV, no matter how well educated, cannot get through a sentence without several "y'knows" and if you take "You Know", "massive" and "obviously" out of a footballers sentence there would be nothing left...

that, we now have another new freesheet in Seaton with virtually the same content as the others, what a waste of paper...

that, whenever we get a spell of warm sunny weather in this country we hear talk of hosepipe bans. What do countries like Spain put on their crops...

that, whenever one meets an old acquaintance at this time of year they always ask if you are going on holiday. They must realise I'm nearly eighty and I live in South West Dorset so I'm on holidav evervdav...

that, a local Parish Council was told people in the 'Community Service' program could not litter pick on local roadways because of Health and Safety' issues. Did these community service offenders think of health and safety when they were committing their offences...

that, tattoos have become so popular, aren't people strange...

that, the new cycle track towards Weymouth from the Football Club roundabout in Dorchester is nearly as wide as the main road...

Please ensure your name and address is on any submissions -we will not publish these details but they must always be supplied.

The views expressed in this feature are not necessarily those of the publishers.

LIVING WILL

A Living Will can say in advance what your wishes are about medical treatment (these statements are called advanced directives) and appoint someone to take part in decisions about medical treatment on your behalf.

The Living Will is only about medical treatment. You cannot use it to say what you want to happen to your property after your death or to make funeral requests. You will need to make an ordinary Will to deal with those.

In England and Wales an advanced refusal of treatment is legally binding as long as the following conditions apply:-

- · You made your refusal when you were mentally capable of making that kind of decision.
- · You meant your refusal to apply in the kind of situation you envisaged as evidenced by your Living Will and you understood the consequences of your decision in that kind of situation.
- · This really was your decision and you did not decide under someone else's influence.

You cannot insist on receiving any particular treatment.

The legal status of someone to take part in decisions about medical treatment on your behalf is uncertain but in practice doctors will pay attention to what this person says.

As a Living Will expresses important and very personal wishes please think about it carefully.

You should talk about it to a doctor. This is because a doctor will be able to explain what healthcare options are open to you.

If you make any advanced directives discussing with a doctor will also show that you are fully aware of the consequences you are taking and the doctor fully understands what you want in case there is a dispute.

You may also want to discuss your plans with other people (for example your spouse or your family).

The wishes stated in a Living Will will not be final and you can change them at anytime while you are still mentally capable of doing so. You do not have to do this in any particular form but if you do change your wishes it is wise to let your doctor and other people treating you have a copy of the revocation. You may choose to make a new Living Will on another form. Make sure that any doctor who is treating you and the people close to you know what you have done.

The British Medical Association has issued a statement supporting the use of Living Wills and doctors must take patients' wishes into account. They must not give patients treatment which they do not want.

If you discuss your wishes with your GP then give their name, address and telephone number and this will appear on the form. A different doctor caring for you later may want to confirm your wishes by speaking to the doctor you discussed your Living Will with.

Make sure that people close to you, including your doctor have a copy of your Living Will and instructions on where to find the original.

If you have to go into hospital make sure that your doctor at the hospital knows that you have a Living Will and what it says. Ask for a copy of your Living Will to be added to your hospital notes and to the notes of any other doctor who is treating you.

If you have a legal problem, big or small and would like some advice given through this column. write to:

MONEY MATTERS

The Budget - Don't Panic

Well, not yet anyway. For those over 60 and on low incomes the affects of the June 22nd budget will not come into force until the New Year. The only immediate change is the tax rate rise for Capital gains tax.

Personal Allowance - The tax change that has prompted the most questions to us at TOP is the announcement of the personal tax allowance increase of £1000, raising it from £6475 to £7475 in April 2011. No hint has been given as to the affect of this on people 65 and over. When you read through the actual paperwork, it just states that other allowances such as age-related ones will be revised in light of the September RPI. So, sorry folks, we will all have to sit tight and wait for the Pre-budget report in Oct/Nov.

Capital Gains - The Capital gains tax rate increase sounds guite harmless and at first glance you may think it will never affect you. But consider this example; Mr A, who is 67 has an income of £17,000 he had been left his auntie's mansion back in 1999, He finally managed to sell it yesterday realising a gain of £40,000 (after the annual exemption of £10,100). At First glance, Mr A is not a higher rate taxpayer so it is not a problem, he will pay tax at 18%. Not so. Under the new rules you have to look a bit closer. These say that the gain after the annual exemption is to be added to Mr A's other taxable income and then taxed at that tax rate. Under the old rules Mr A would have paid a standard 18% on his gain equalling £7200. Under the new rules he will add the gain to his other taxable income like this. £17,000 less his personal allowance £9490 = £7510. He would add the gain £40,000 = £47,510. Tax would then be calculated £7510 @ 20%, £37400 less £7510 @ 18% and the remainder which is in the higher rate bracket @28%. The tax on the gain is now £8211. That change took effect on 23 June.

Savings – There is no change to the savings rate of 20% and the 10% savings rate remains unchanged for people on incomes within £2440 of their personal allowance. The ISA limits also remain unchanged at £10,200 this year, although there was a commitment towards index-linking them in future.

VAT – The rate of VAT is to be raised to 20% from 4th January 2010. The primary exemptions, zero rating and 5% rating remain unchanged.

Reminder – moving away from the budget, can we just nudge you to make sure you have checked your tax codes this year. Especially if you were one of the unlucky ones who received 8+ coding notices, started paying tax when you never had before or just know it can't be correct. According to HMRC all problems should have resolved themselves by now. If you are still unsure, contact your tax office or TOP for advice.

This article is by TaxHelp for Older People (TOP), registered charity no.1102276. The helpline number for free tax advice for the over 60s on less than £17000 per year is lo-call 0845 601 3321 or geographic number 01308 488066.

The tidal information

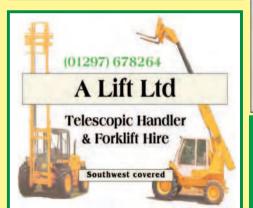

Between Start Point and Portland the tidal curve gradually becomes more and more distorted, especially on the rising tide; the rise is relatively fast for the first hour after Low Water and there is then a noticeable slackening in the rate of rise for the next 1 hour 30 minutes, after which the rapid rate of rise is resumed. There is often a 'stand' at High Water, which, while not very noticeable at Start Point, lasts for about an hour at Torquay and for 1 hour 30 minutes at Lyme Regis.

Charmouth Gardeners Annual Flower Show

The annual Flower Show will take place this year on Saturday, 14 August at 1430 in the Community Hall, Lower Sea Lane and the Village Hall, Wesley Close.

Classes of exhibits include flowers, fruit and vegetables, home produce, floral arrangements, photography and children's sections.

Schedules detailing all classes, entry charges (10p per entry) and Show rules will be available free of charge from Charmouth Post Office from 1 August onward or on request from Gill Savage, tel:01297560615. These should be returned to the addresses given on the schedule by 12 August.

Anyone is eligible to enter, provided they live within a 10 mile radius of Charmouth. The more entries we have, the greater variety of produce, the more interest there is for the visitors too. If you hold back, you can be sure you'll see a prize winning entry you think is not as good as yours at home!

"GIMME SOME TRUTH"

So sang John Lennon on his superb 1971 album, "Imagine". As keen pop pickers will know this October 9th would have been John Lennon's 70th birthday.(Imagine!) To celebrate and commemorate this many of his classic solo albums and other standout recordings will be getting the "digitally remastered" treatment. Using the original mixes his catalogue will be released during October. Yoko Ono is overseeing the entire project. John Lennon's, "Gimme Some Truth" campaign will launch on 4th with the worldwide release of eight remastered studio albums and several new compilations. Lennon's last official studio album "Double Fantasy" will be presented in a newly remixed "Stripped Down" version remixed and produced by Yoko Ono and Jack Douglas, co-producers of the original mix with John Lennon. The "new" album comes in an expanded 2CD and digital edition pairing the new version with Lennon's original mix. remastered.

Also included in the campaign is a hits compilation in two editions titled "Power To The People"-The Hits", 4CD set of themed discs titled "Gimme Some Truth", a deluxe 11CD collectors box with the remastered albums, rarities, and non-album singles, titled the "John Lennon Signature Box". All of the remastered albums and collections will be available on CD and made available for download purchase from all major digital service providers. Yoko has utilised the talents of a team of engineers led by Allan Rouse at EMI Music's Abbey Road Studios in London and by George Marino at Avatar Studios in New York. All of the remastered titles will be packaged in digisleeves with replicated original album art and booklets with photos along with new liner notes by the acclaimed music journalist Paul Du Nover. The albums to be reissued are: John Lennon/Plastic Ono Band (1970); Imagine (1971); Some Time In New York City (1972); Mind Games (1973); Walls and Bridges (1974); Rock 'n' Roll (1975); Double Fantasy Stripped Down (2010) Double Fantasy (1980); Milk and Honey (1984).

Good Vibrations

This project is very close to Yoko Ono for obvious reasons: "In this very special year, which would have seen my husband and life partner John reach the age of 70, I hope that this remastering / reissue programme will help bring his incredible music to a whole new audience. By remastering 121 tracks spanning his solo career, I hope also that those who are already familiar with John's work will find renewed inspiration from his incredible gifts as a songwriter, musician and vocalist and from his power as a commentator on the human condition. His lyrics are as relevant today as they were when they were first written and I can think of no more apposite title for this campaign than those simple yet direct words 'Gimme Some Truth' . Yoko also said "Double Fantasy Stripped Down really allows us to focus our attention on John's amazing vocals. Technology has advanced so much that, conversely, I wanted to use new techniques to really frame these amazing songs and John's voice as simply as possible. By stripping down some of the instrumentation the power of the songs shines through with an enhanced clarity. Double Fantasy Stripped Down will be complemented by the original album in the 2CD format. It was whilst working on the new version of this album that I was hit hardest emotionally, as this was the last album John released before his passing.' Power To The People: The Hits gathers 15 of Lennon's most popular songs, and will be available as a 15-track single-disc and digital package, and as an Experience Edition with additional content. Gimme Some Truth, to be packaged in a slipcase with rare photos and a new liner notes essays by respected American music journalist and author. Anthony DeCurtis, presents 72 of Lennon's solo recordings on four themed CDs: (1) 'Roots' - John's rock 'n' roll roots and influences; (2) 'Working Class Hero' - John's socio-political songs; (3) 'Woman' - John's love songs; (4) 'Borrowed Time' - John's songs about life. The John Lennon Signature Box is a deluxe 11CD and digital collection of the eight remastered albums, a disc of rare and previously unreleased recordings, and an EP of Lennon's non-album singles.

"SAVE OUR VILLAGE HALLS" WHITCHURCH CANONICORUM 10 - 15 AUGUST

As August approaches I usually produce a reminder about local art events in Morcombelake and Whitchurch Canonicorum, but this year is going to be slightly different as Morcombelake Art Group are not holding a group exhibition over August Bank holiday this year. Bridport Open Studios will be going ahead with Philomena Harmsworth as the new Director, and good luck to all the organisers and studios who will be taking part from 28th to 30th August.

Morcombelake Art Group, however, have decided to do something different this year and will be holding an "Affordable Art for Christmas" exhibition at the Courtyard Gallery, Town Mill, Lyme Regis, as part of the Town Mill Arts Guild programme. The TMAG programme can be seen on the internet at townmillartsguild.com.

However, one event which is still running and not to be missed is the Annual Arts and Crafts exhibition at the Village Hall, Whitchurch Canonicorum. This event will be open from Tuesday 10th August to Sunday 15th August and always offers an unusual collection of local craft and produce as well as a wide variety of art by local artists on display. The event is run to raise money for the upkeep and maintenance of the hall and thus helps to keep the rent down for users while costs of maintenance, insurance and required improvements continue to rise.

The exhibition will be open from 10.30 to 5.00 and refreshments teas, coffees, cakes etc will be available all day. I hear that there will be a new cookery book for sale, tried and tested by the Mothers Union.

So the call this year is to "Save the village hall" and support local makers, by visiting this peaceful but very welcoming environment away from the August holiday crowds. There is easy parking, and beautiful surroundings, with the Church of St Candida just up the road (where the bones of St Wite are buried, hence a site of ancient pilgrimage) so you can be sure of a pleasant morning or afternoon out.

This month's poem, 'Seaton in April' was written by Alison Smith of Seaton.

Seaton in April

Sea green, sea breeze, Any way the wind blows. Sea spray, sun rays, Bringing in the weather with the tide.

Shipwreck, bladderwrack, Pink shell, crab's claw. Gulls shriek, fish leap Rushing from the river to the sea.

Wind moans, waves foam, Surging ever onward to the shore. Tea break, windbreak, Sitting in the sun once more.

Alison Smith

Good Vibrations Cont from Page 54

The CDs will be housed in digisleeves within a deluxe box including a collectible limited edition John Lennon art print and a hardbound book featuring rare photos. artwork, collages, poetry, and new liner notes. Wow- so there you have it. More expense and deep pockets but lots to choose from. As the world so painfully knows John Lennon one of the most celebrated songwriters and performers of all time both solo and with a certain four piece from Liverpool was murdered on December 8, 1980 outside The Dakota Building in New York by Mark Chapman. He had just celebrated his 40th birthday barely two months previously.

SO YOU THINK YOU KNOW YOUR POP MUSIC!

Equine TalkBritish Horse Society

My Horse's feet are as swift as rolling thunder. He carries me away from all my fears, And when the world threatens to fall asunder, His mane is there to wipe away my tears.

Bonnie Lewis

Hello again,

They say that pride goes before a fall, but at the moment I am feeling rather smug. Not only are my rugs mended and re-proved and put away for winter, but I also have my barn full of beautiful June made hay. It was made right, not too dry and not a drop of rain fell on it. The only downside is that because of the lack of rain, and therefore grass, I am still feeding the last bales of haylage left over from last year's crop. Several bales had rat damage and it only takes a small hole to be nibbled through the wrapper for the bale to go off, and become rank, poisonous and uneatable, but thankfully there is enough left to keep the horses from hunger, until the grass grows again.

Rats and Rabbits are a pest and the latter even tucked into my beautiful geranium flowers, one evening a sea of pink and the next morning denuded stalks.

Last Sunday morning I did a tour of the area. Axminster, Bridport, Yeovil and Chard, and to my delight I only found three little clumps of Ragwort. One in a front garden in Milway Rise, five plants in the front of a bungalow in Odcombe and a clump in the central reservation between the Charmouth roundabout and Hunters Lodge. The verges and fields were clear. So well done, I say, to the council and landowners. All the time taken over the last few years to lobby for Ragwort clearance has paid off. One years seed in seven years weed, so they say, so if you spot any of this cacogenic plant with its bright yellow flowers, pull it, bag it and burn it, [please use gloves and wash hands afterwards, as it is so very poisonous to horses and other animals including humans. It is more palatable when dead or dry, and when ingested, the toxins build up in the liver, finally causing failure of the organ, and death. There is no cure and it is impossible to diagnose until it is too late to save the animal. The Victorian plant hunters brought the seeds back from Sicily, where it was found growing on the volcanic slopes, so it is not an indigenous plant and certainly doesn't need protecting.

May I ask you all again to watch out for lawn mowings being dumped in your paddocks by someone who thinks they are doing the horses a good turn. When mowed the grass heats up, and if eaten by horse, which unlike sheep and cows, has only one stomach, the gasses build up causing bloat, and the animal suffers and maybe dies in extreme pain. My young pony, Lladro, who is now four years old, and which I bought back in last autumn, has now been started and is progressing well. He now carries a rider and is proving a gentleman. Such a nice person, Lladro will hopefully become a very special show pony as he is of good conformation and has a daisy cutter movement, and looks like a miniature thoroughbred. My hopes run high. Dotti and Ditto, the two ponies I bred and which are now a matched driving pair, have been out to their first event and were much admired. They took all the excitement in their stride. Calm early handling is the key to building confidence in equines, and the process of teaching must never be rushed, nor must young equines be over -faced. Always leave the lesson on a good note and be prepared to repeat the lesson often until it is fully understood. Slow and steady work builds the foundations of a wonderful partnership.

I am here on behalf of the British Horse Society to help horses and owners in any way I can. Welfare cases can be reported in confidence and I will attend all reported cases. Even if you are just worried about an equine related problem, I might be able to help or at the very least point you in the right direction.

TENDING ITALIAN VINES BY BOAT by Colin Sams

Cinque Terre means "Five lands" and presents the unmissable opportunity of enjoying the most outstanding coastal scenery within the region of Liguria. The autostrada turns noisy traffic inland away from this charming collection of five villages perched on the rugged coast of the Italian Riviera north west of La Spezia. The five villages are Monterosso al mare, Vernazza, Corniglia, Manorola, and Riomaggire and are within a National Park which is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. There is a superb trail of footpaths and goat-tracks, which may be walked between the villages and attracts a 5 Euro charge although I have never seen this collected on my visits. The choice of how much to walk is dependent on your physical condition, as some sections are challenging. such as the 368 stairs to be climbed to reach Corniglia. I must recommend the magnificent "lovers pathway" between Riomaggiore and Manrola, and you should carry wine and cheese for romantic picnics. The pleasant little railway offers an easy journey between the villages, but frequently ducks into tunnels and thus the magnificent views are restricted. Another enjoyable option is the ferry connecting the villages, other than Corniglia which has no jetty. Disabled visitors will need to research their options carefully as the slopes are amazingly steep in places, with the precipitous rock faces dropping vertically into the sea. I have never seen vineyards or olives groves anywhere else in Europe that require tending by boat, due to the extreme slopes and lack of access! Weird and rusty old monorails grind into action from October to bring in the harvest. Take a bottle of "Cinque Terre" home and recount the exciting stories to your chums. There are some small camp sites for backpackers between the villages and there is a plethora of different types of accommodation in the villages, but be cautious and always ask to see the accommodation before paying. Those arriving in Motorhomes and caravans need to place themselves in one of the nearby sites and enjoy a few days of unequalled pedestrianisation. Food offered here is understandably heavily biased to seafood, and the Ligurian favourite of pesto may be sampled in innumerable ways. Try a liquer glass of Grappa or Limoncello, there are hundreds of choices of Grappa and many varieties of Limoncello. I would never drink the cheapest option, and the Limoncello must come directly from the deep freeze to be enjoyed at its best. Although becoming a popular tourist resort, the lack of access continues to preserve the old world charm of this unusual, toy town, collection of villages with their pastel colours and relaxed atmosphere.

The Spinal Column - Dr Evelyne O'Hare DC

The other day one of my patients told me that when they mentioned to a neighbour that they were going to see the chiropractor, he had said, 'Aren't they the ones who jump up and down on your back with hobnail boots?' I started to wonder how many people know who we are and what we do?

Chiropractic is the Greek word meaning 'Done by hand' and we mostly treat musculo-skeletal complaints, that is we deal with the structural framework of the body which can be injured through accidents, poor posture, lack of exercise, illness, stress or wear and tear. Problems with the spine and joints can put pressure onto nerves as they exit the spinal column to supply all the muscles, joints and organs of the body. We treat by manipulating or adjusting joints (which is usually painless but can be a little sore if an area is inflamed) by applying a fast, short thrust to restore movement, this is sometimes accompanied by a clicking or popping sound which is why sometimes people think that we 'crack bones' We don't crack anything! The noise is perfectly normal and does not hurt.

I always tell my patients that we do not treat backs, necks, shoulders, headaches etc, we treat People. When you visit a chiropractor you will get asked lots of questions about your diet, lifestyle, past accidents, illnesses and injuries as well as your family history so that we can get a picture of You. It is no good just adjusting the same joints over and over if you don't address the problem that is causing the pain or stiffness in the first place and for everyone that is different. We will give you advice on diet, exercise, stretches, and other 'lifestyle' issues such as the set-up of your desk or trying to get your dog not to pull, or training support for athletes. Most elite sports people have regular chiropractic care to keep themselves in peak condition rather than waiting for problems to arise.

Because chiropractic is drug-free and very gentle it is suitable for most people and is equally effective in small babies as in elderly people, although the problems that each has will obviously be very different.

I often get asked the difference between us and osteopaths. This is a little difficult as the differences are mostly in the techniques that we use which are similar, but different. I like to think that we are both aiming to achieve the same goal for our patients, of a well balanced body that can move freely without restrictions and perform at its best, so we both are heading in the same direction, but we take slightly different routes to get there. Some people prefer osteopathy, personally I prefer chiropractic. Like most chiropractors I was a patient first myself and when I saw what a dramatic difference it made to me I decided that I wanted to learn how to help others in the same way. Another difference is that as chiropractors we are trained and qualified to take X-Rays if required, although this is only done if necessary, Osteopaths can read and interpret Xrays but do not actually take them.

As for the hobnail boots, I'm not sure where they fit in.

FLOWER POWER

Many of my reflexology patients request treatment for symptoms affecting the muscular / skeletal system. These might include a stiff neck or shoulders restricting movement, and low back pain/stiffness often with sciatic nerve involvement. Whilst treating the physical symptoms, individuals may divulge personal information. As a seasoned professional practitioner with counselling training, assuring the individual of complete confidentiality puts them at their ease. Promoting a feeling of comfort and safety will allow the individual to relax into an emotional position of trust. Once this trust has been established individuals may feel the need to express their feelings. Very often I have found a link between emotional pain and the manifestation of physical pain. There is a growing school of thought that for every physical symptom there is an underlying emotional cause. If you take this idea on board the following information on the Dr Bach Flower Remedies may be of value.

Dr Edward Bach (1886-1936) studied at Birmingham University and University College Hospital London. Graduated as a physician and set up practice in London. He became aware of Samuel Hahnemann ( founder of Homoeopathy ) and went to work at the London Royal Homoeopathic Hospital. Adopting the view that patients had to be treated not in terms of their physical ailments but their emotional condition. He started looking for remedies and turned to NATURE. In 1930 he left a successful practice in London, moved to the country and over a seven year period he isolated 38 flowers that appeared to have qualities that could benefit a number of emotional afflictions such as fear, impatience, loneliness, intolerance, exhaustion, and restlessness. Dr Bach placed his 38 remedies under seven headings. The original plants that he discovered and named the 12 healers are asterisked.

For fear = Rock Rose* Mimulus* Cherry Plum Aspen Red Chestnut.

For uncertainty = Cerato* Scleranthus* Gentian* Gorse Hornbeam Wild Oat. For insufficient interest (present circumstances) = Clematis* Honeysuckle Wild Rose Olive White Chestnut Mustard Chestnut Bud.

For loneliness = Water Violet* Impatiens* Heather.

For those over-sensitive to influences and ideas = Agrimony* Centaury* Walnut Holly.

For despondency or despair = Larch Elm Pine Sweet Chestnut Star of Bethlehem Willow Oak Crab Apple. For over - care for the welfare of others = Chicory* Vervain* Vine Beech Rock Water.

Rescue Remedy = For emergencies, shock or panic attacks. Contains = Rock Rose Impatiens Clematis Star of Bethlehem Cherry Plum.

Flower remedies are easily obtainable (Chemists) will keep indefinitely, suitable for all ages and can be used internally / externally. External use for burns scalds, stings, sprains = Rescue remedy and / or cream directly on to skin. Suitable for animals, 4 drops of rescue or other remedy in water or dilution over food. Large animals 10 drops per gallon of water (cows etc) or 4 drops on sugar (horses) Doses are dictated by how patient feels. Urgent cases every few minutes. Severe cases half hourly. Long standing cases every 2-3 hrs.

Check with pharmacist as the remedies in this article are suggestions only and not intended to take the place of GP diagnosis and/or medication.
