Cartoons and Comics

June 15 - June 19

Einar Lunden

Spend the week with professional illustrator and cartoonist, Einar Lunden, to learn the ins and outs of creating comics. Explore various artists' works as you learn the process involved in this craft. Develop a character; write a script, sketch out pages before lettering and inking the finished work. Take home your first masterpiece! This camp is for 5th-8th graders. Limit 8 students. 12:30-4:30pm.

Ablaze Acrylics

June 22– June 26

Kate Williams

Students will spend five days learning sketching techniques, color theory, and the versatility of acrylic painting. Major projects include painting on a stretched canvas, pottery, and wooden easel. Students will also create art outside (in plein air) and explore local galleries. 12:30-4:30pm.

Drumming!

June 29- July 2 (closed July 3)

Connie Ralston

Join renowned local musician Connie Ralston for an exciting exploration of the unifying art of drumming. Using traditional as well as hand-made instruments, Connie will guide students toward the formation of a self-sustaining Drumming Circle and for those with previous drumming experience, greater exploration of complex rhythms and songs. Explore music from around the world and make your own ocean drum. 12:30-4:30pm.

Voila! Cuisine Internationale!

July 6 – July 17

Corinna Hann

This two week course will explore the cuisines of five continents: North and South Americas, Europe, Asia, and Africa. Students will learn the history behind each dish, the correct techniques and terminology, explore "spice markets" and flavor profiles in addition to preparing dishes to enjoy during the camp and to bring home as a delightful gustatory souvenir. Their culinary adventures will culminate in a Friday afternoon tasting and cookbook that can be enjoyed for years to come. $50 materials fee. Limit 6 students. 12:30-3:00pm

Robotic Battles Plus

July 20 – July 24

Brandy Bergenstock

Using Legos and programming to win on the field of STEM. Students will learn how 5 different sensors work, how machines understand their world and what it takes to for machines to beat machines. With mazes, electronic rock- paper-scissors bots and robotic crocodiles, students will explore robotics in fun and challenging way. We'll go a bit more in-depth into the programming language, using date wires in unique and intuitive ways to help our robot be more sensitive to commands. All levels of experience welcome. This half day camp (12:30-4:30pm) will be focused primarily on robots and programming. Limit 6 students.

Writopia

July 27 – July 31

Sarah Sullivan

Working with a published writer, campers will have opportunities to write in different forms including memoir, fiction, and poetry. Using fun exercises that stimulate creativity, including writing and performing short scenes, storytelling, creating persona poems, writing diary entries or letters in the voice of an imagined character, we will focus on skills such as use of the 5 senses, story structure, dialogue, figurative language, and creating character. 12:30 -3:30pm.

Project Runway

August 3 – August 14

Mary Myers

Explore fashion of many genres to prepare and construct your own design masterpiece. Campers will design and assemble one to two pieces of clothing to present at the fashion show to be held during the camp finale. Using a variety of techniques – sewing, felting, fabric painting, recycling – designers ingenuity will be challenged as you collect fabrics and notions for your work of art. This camp will promote creative, critical and collaborative thinking. $50 materials fee 12:30-4:00pm
