

2013 LPA Project Development Training

WORKSHOP OVERVIEW

IINDOT is improving the LPA Project Development Certification Training. Changes include moving to an annual certification, developing in-depth training modules on a range of topics, and creating audience targeted training to address common problems and challenges in the LPA Project Development Process.

INDOT has also established a new requirement for all Counties to designate and maintain a certified Employee in Responsible Charge (ERC) to manage their Bridge Inspection Program. This ERC must be an employee of the LPA and can be the same ERC who manages the LPA's other transportation projects.

Our commitment is to provide better quality training that is more accessible, eliminates problems, and ensures accuracy in all activities in the Project Development Process. We appreciate your patience as we transition our training and we encourage you to provide feedback especially in communicating training topics that you need most.

INDOT will continue to offer certification classes in central locations throughout the state to ensure full compliance to the new certification requirements. In addition, to ensure a seamless transition, INDOT will offer both training models during 2013.

Registration will continue to be provided through Indiana LTAP.

Certification continues to be required for "Employees in Responsible Charge" (ERC) and for Consultant Project Manager.
