Dangerous Goods Training

Mandatory training for those responsible for shipping infectious and biological samples and/or dry ice by air.

If you are responsible for shipping infectious and biological samples and/or dry ice by air, then you are required under the Australian Civil Aviation Law to attend dangerous goods training. World Courier, a leading courier of time-sensitive clinical trial materials and biological samples, is accepting enrolments for our January to December 2016 courses.

Run by CASA approved instructors, our dangerous goods training course will ensure you are compliant with the regulatory, packing, marking, and labelling requirements when sending infectious and biological samples and dry ice by air.

Upcoming World Courier course dates and registration form can be found on the following pages.
