GREAT WEEKEND at Roosevelt Lake

SHELLY AND I spent a Memorial Day weekend at my sister-in-law's house near the shores of Lake Roosevelt here in WA. Getting away from town and unplugging is great for the mind and soul. We had great sunny and warm weather.

If you haven't been to Lake Roosevelt you might want to check it out. It's a large lake created behind the Grand Coulee Dam. There are all kinds of camping and lodging opportunities along its shores. You can even rent a house boat for a weekend, which we haven't done but hear is really fun. Check out <http://www.dakotacolumbia.com/lake-roosevelt-marinas/seven-bays>.

The Saturday of Memorial Day weekend a nearby small farming town called Creston holds a little festival called Creston Community Days. The day starts with a fun run, The Butte or Bust Run, which is a 7K up a monster of a hill and back down into the town. There is also a shorter 3K course. My sister-in-law Cristi and her husband Scott are avid runners. My nephew Riley by birth is too, although as he grows older some reluctance is creeping in.

Roosevelt Lake

All three of them ran with Scott and Riley placing first in their age divisions and Cristi placing second in her division. Shelly and I enjoy being their support crew.

Insider Tip: There is an amazing bake sale in the morning where local grandmothers raise funds for local charities. The baked goods are "farmtastic delicious!!"

After the fun run a Parade runs through the town. Classic cars, classic tractors, floats and marching bands entertain the crowd. The parade vehicles throw candy to the kids lining the street. It's a lot of fun for the whole family and a true slice of America!!

During the Labor Day weekend Cristi and Scott put on a 7K fun run called the 7K at Seven Bays. Shelly and I will be out there helping out with the run. If you're interested in running let us know or register at <http://www.active.com/seven-bays-wa/running/races/7k-at-seven-bays-2015>. The price is $25 and includes a shirt if register by end of August 2015. Come join us!!

Build a Standing Planter Box

Shelly likes to grow a vegetable garden in the summer. I love tomatoes and reap many rewards in good growing years. Until a few months ago our house had a small vacant lot next to it. Well Kirkland, like many Puget Sound neighborhoods, is exploding with growth. A two story house was constructed blocking sun to Shelly's current raised garden box. Problem!

Our back yard has always been challenging to find a good spot with enough sun for Shelly's garden. So this year I decided to build standing garden boxes that could be moved if necessary to get optimal sun exposure for those tomatoes I love.

The internet has all kinds of examples and I picked one. The one I built has a cedar wood box sitting on top of a 2' x 4' wood base. I used 1' x 6' cedar boards for the box. I also chose to use a Kreg joiner to hide the screw holes, which increased the build time significantly. I had to pre-drill every screw that was used, don't underestimate the effort this takes. However, the end result is spectacular!

If you want to tackle this project, let me know, email me at info@maxmeyerslaw.com. I have the instructions printed out and a link to the site I used that has good pictures to guide you. Enjoy our pictures from the building process!

GREAT GADGETS for Cycling

Power Charger - SIVA CYCLE

Pedal powered charger for your bicycle electronics. Genius!! You can now run power to your handlebars to plug in your iphone, android, GPS, lights, GoPro, or other bike computer. The charger attaches to the frame near the rear wheel. It's fairly small, weighs only 330 grams or ¾ lbs., about the weight of a banana. The charger will never pull more than 10% of effort from the rider. That means it charges about 1% per minute, which is about the same as if you are plugged into the wall. Plus it's weather resistant. <http://sivacycle.com>

Theft Proof Light - FORTIFIED BICYCLE

If you bicycle in the city theft of your bike and accessories are always a concern. Top 3 reasons people bike without a light is; they forgot it, they lost it, or it was stolen. This light locks on the handle bars so it can't be stolen. A security screw that is not common locks the light onto your handle bars. The light is lightweight aluminum and does not rust, so it's waterproof. It has a super cool unique design that no other light has. Love it! <http://fortifiedbike.com>

Crash Sensor - ICEDOT

Riding alone and you crash and are unconscious, who's going to help? ICEDot's helmet mounted sensor will sense trouble and contact help. An impact sensor, notification system, medic alert and GPS all in one, ICEDot monitors the gravity of a fall with an accelerometer and notifies up to 10 emergency contacts of your choosing via text message. It's also able to track your location coordinates, so if you're alone, assistance can find you. A compatible wrist band has a unique ID that provides vital medical information for first responders, much like medical ID bracelets of yore. All you do is secure ICEDot to any helmet, download the free smartphone app, create your profile, and hit the road. Great protection! <https://icedot.org/site>

Wheel Lights - MONKEYLECTRIC MONKEY LIGHTS

Coolest lights for your wheels! You have to watch the video to get the cool factor on this product. Forget baseball cards in the spokes, these lights make you stand out in style by digitally displaying bright, colorful lights and designs with every turn of your wheels. There are different graphics and patterns that can be displayed in LED lights as the wheels turn. There are 48 themes and hundreds of eye-catching color combinations to choose from. The lights are waterproof and built to resist cracking, scratching, and clouding. Check them out!! www.monkeylectric.com

Don't Let SOCIAL MEDIA Ruin Your Car Accident Claim

For the amount of complaining we do about privacy in America, we are all just a little too willing to put very private details of our lives on Facebook or Twitter. However, your car accident case can be ruined with one bad post.

Above all else, you should never misrepresent your injuries during a personal injury case. You won't have anything to worry about or anything to get "caught at" if you've been truthful from the start, and that's the way it should be. People who overdramatize or exaggerate their injuries for money don't deserve it, and we choose not to work with those types of clients.

Top Secret Tip - your insurance company and their lawyers can see all of your public posts and they're probably looking the moment your accident is reported. You might think this is obvious, but you'd be shocked at how many cases in Washington are ruined because someone is claiming a life-changing injury, but their Facebook page shows that they went on a week-long ski trip last month. These things matter in a case and can cost you dearly.

If you mislead the insurance companies and their lawyers into believing you can't do certain things, and then you post videos or pictures showing you can do those things, your claim will most certainly suffer. With that in mind, here's our advice:

- Always be straightforward and truthful about your claim.
- Don't put stupid content on Facebook, Twitter or anywhere on the web.
- If you have stupid stuff on any social media site, don't hide it, you will make matters worse.
- Tell your friends not to post stupid stuff about you either.

If you have been in a car accident in Washington, you need to download Max's free book Car Accident Secrets Unlocked. As always, we are happy to have a chat with you and walk you through the process: 425-276-7804.

Shelly's RECIPE CORNER

Peanut Butter
S'MORES BARS

INGREDIENTS

- 14 graham crackers
- ¾ cup butter or margarine, softened
- ¼ cup peanut butter, preferably crunchy
- ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
- 1 can (14 oz.) sweetened condensed milk
- 3 cups marshmallows

DIRECTIONS

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Process graham crackers in a food processor or crush into coarse crumbs. Add butter and peanut butter and blend. Spread mixture on bottom of 9" x 13" baking dish to form crust. Sprinkle with chocolate chips; drizzle with milk to cover chips.

Bake for 30 minutes or until top is bubbly. Cool completely. Just before serving sprinkle with marshmallows. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat until lightly browned. Let stand a few minutes before cutting into 24 bars. Enjoy!
