Artist's Statement

“To me, making art is play. I don't worry what others will think of it. I do it and if others like it, great. If they don't, I know they will move onto the next artist who inspires them. I create from my gut. I let whatever is inside of me come out, so I step aside as much as possible so that can happen. I am always happy to share any idea or technique I know with anyone who wants to listen because it is all about creativity and if something I say can get someone to shoot off down a path of their own creative path, there is no greater joy for me. “

Visual Journaling with Teesha Moore

July 16& 17, 2011 10am-4pm

Cost $200.00

In this 2-day intensive workshop, you will learn techniques on simple book binding techniques, backgrounds, collage, image-making, penwork & imaginative drawing, pan pastels, lettering, and content to create pages that will inspire. These techniques are great avenues for journaling but can also work for many other art projects like mixed media paintings, decorating furniture, scrapbooking, etc.

You will leave with at least a couple pages that are completed and be on your way to creating many more. This workshop is geared both for the beginning artist as well as the advanced.
