The Thunderbirds game

Fun board game for all the family although recommended age of 12 or thereabouts to understand the questions. The board, scoring pieces and question cards are of good quality and there are plenty of questions to ensure no repetitions for a long while of game playing.

The game states that to finish it will take more than 45 minutes. This is a good guide as we finished a game with 4 players in just over an hour. The instructions are clear and easy to follow. There are two ways to score and collect scoring pieces; by answering questions or by landing on certain spaces and then throwing a die to show specific numbers. This means that a player without specialist Thunderbirds knowledge still has a fair chance of scoring. As the questions are multiple choice, you can always have a guess and even our resident expert did not know all the answers!

Once a person has collected all their scoring pieces they can move on to the next stage of answering questions which is when the picture cards come into play. These show scenes and characters from the episodes which may or may not help with the answer. Again, these are multiple choice so you are still in with a 1 in 3 chance of accurate guess. Good fun to play, and it didn't go on for too long ... all necessary criteria for playing board games in these gadget / i-pad times.

Thunderbirds Classic 50th Anniversary Trivia Board Game (£29.99) Available at www.amazon.co.uk. www.tactic.net

The IRobot dog

This cute little I-Robot Dog, walks all by itself and even tries to run! Our reviewer fell in love with its charm and mum and dad were impressed with its affordability. He (the one we tried had blue ears and tail!) also plays music, barks and all four feet flash red and blue. This robotic pup also walks at two different speeds and spins

360°, giving your little ones endless hours of fun! A great little toy to interact with for 3 years plus. This little fellow shakes his head and wags his tail but there's no walkies and no vets bills! 3x AA Batteries (Not Included). Available from cheaponline.deals11 eBay.co.uk online marketplace £5.99

Faber-Castell Playing and Learning Pencil Case

Our reviewer really enjoyed colouring in with these graphite pencil with a great bumpy grip for little fingers. With sixteen colours to choose from plus the set also included a sharpener for continuous fun! The youngster also was fascinated that the metal pencil case had a zip to keep her new set together -mum liked this too. This 16 shades GRIP 2001 costs £19.50 from www.stonegift.com

Blowing the Whistle on GDC Scam.

Orthodontists and the General Dental Council are operating an illegal scam to withhold information from the public about new methods which can avoid almost all extractions and even major jaw surgery. This is being done partly to protect traditional methods and partly to preserve the high incomes of orthodontists and surgeons. Research suggests that this British development is being ignored in the UK while spreading rapidly abroad. As a result hundreds of children and young adults have extractions and jaw surgery, unaware they may be unnecessary.

Some Orthodontists mislead patients, saying that extractions can be avoided although the traditional methods they use leave too little room, risking severe damage to the face. It is wise to explore the internet yourself, many sites make great claims and show beautiful faces but very few show good results before and after treatment. Even the media is scared of disclosing this scandal.

There is another way.

Take a second opinion now. Nine years old may be too late.

ORTHOTROPICS

Natural Growth Guidance

The alternative to orthodontics with extractions and surgery.

Orthodontics usually requires the extraction of 4 to 8 sound teeth although this is frequently denied.

Emily was treated by natural methods. No extractions. No 'Train Tracks'. No retainers.

Research shows Orthotropics can get much better results than 'Train Tracks'.

The Razor Party Pop Kick Scooter

The Razor Party Pop Kick Scooter (quite a name!) is known as a 'party on wheels'. It's outstanding feature setting it aside from other scooters is its 12 multi coloured LED lights in the polypropylene deck and its vibrant wheels. The scooter also has a unique white and purple colour scheme which cleverly compliments the bright LED light scheme. The lightweight steel frame and urethane wheels, which interestingly are more commonly used for skateboards, allows the rider to enjoy a smoother and faster ride than its competitors.

Given that you can go quite fast on this scooter the rear footbrake, anti slip footplate and easy grip handles are quite an important safety feature. My daughter in particular liked the foam covering on the handle bars, making it a very comfortable grip for her when scooting. As the footplate is slightly higher than some of the other scooters, it is a real thrilling ride, living up to its party pop kick scooter name. The LED lights after dusk are stunning. Unlike most other Razor scooters the handle bar is not adjustable, which is probably why the scooter is aimed at the 6+ age group. The height it is set at was more than suitable for my 8 year old daughter, who is actually quite petite for her age group. As the scooter also has a maximum weight of 100kg it could quite easily be used by adults as well. I do like the foldable element as it allows for easy storing when not in use and can be easily carried home after dropping kids to school. As a parent I was quite worried about this scooter being stolen as it is quite pretty and unique, so I would recommend a lock if keeping it in school grounds or a front garden. This scooter is really something special and given its £39.99 price tag it is a real bargain, so all in all a huge thumbs up for the Razor Party Pop Kick Scooter.

StetchKins Review

StretchKins are the new, soft and cuddly toys that stretch to make exercise and dancing fun. The StretchKins feet and hands attach easily onto the feet and hands of children allowing the StretchKins to be stretched to life size, allowing it to move with you.

For this review I had the special addition StretchKin whose feet light up when moving. Unfortunately once the batteries run out there is no means of fitting in new batteries. StretchKins come in many different characters varying from a jumping frog to a purple pony. StretchKins are lovely, soft and huggable toys, hence making them aimed at a more younger age group probably between ages 3-6. My 8 year old played with her bright pink cat StretchKin, dancing around and performing endless kart wheels but after a few days our StretchKin has joined the group of cuddly toys that sits at the end of her bed. However I do like the idea behind StretchKins and it will definitely be having your child moving and grooving.

With its soft dangly arms and legs, and cuddly life size factor means that the StretchKin could possibly be a ideal bed time companion or travel buddy for younger children. Stretchkins is 3+. The Stretchkins would be £29.99 from Argos

Bush PHK-907 Headphones

These very of comfortable headphones have cushioned leather ear pieces. Comfort will not be the only thing you notice with the headphones, the 40mm drivers provide a punchy bass, but crucially doesn't lose its balance and retains a high sound quality. They have a 2.5m cord in-line volume control and fully adjustable headband. The 3.5mm jack will fit most devices and are only £9.99 from Argos

Fabulous Foil

Create 12 foil pictures and 25 foil stickers with this exciting foil art kit. Lily loved fabulous foil. She was able to easily understand the instructions and start straight away. Some of the pieces were a little bit fiddly but on the whole she found it fairly simple to make.

There were plenty of pictures to choose from and plenty of foils to use so many more hours of fun to be had. It will be a great activity to do when Lily has a couple of friends over to play. RRP: £7.99. Suitable for 6 years plus

Build & Play:

With a wide range of true-to-the-original plastic model kits, from Easykits for beginners to sophisticated kits for professional model builders. Revell has introduced a new concept in model building for children aged 6 and above. Build & Play is a unique dual-purpose concept. The range is skill level 1, designed as an easy introduction for young kids into the world of modelling, so that they progress onto the more complex skill levels as they get older, namely Easykits for ages 8+ and Model Kits for ages 10+. The Build & Play kits will be easy to assemble and may even be quicker than the stated 15 – 30 mins assembly time, so you can't compare them to typical construction kits. For the Play aspect, the completed model kit can be used for imaginative play, but it may not have the durability of a traditional toy, so again you can't compare to typical plastic toys. This range of authentic, easy-to-assemble 1:25 scale model kits is as easy as child's play, with a small number of pre-coloured parts fitting together without tools. The sturdy parts and rolling wheels means that upon completion each motoring icon is ready to hit the road and becomes a durable, fully functioning toy. The satisfaction of building each sporty-looking model kit combined with the subsequent hours of entertainment will leave your children wanting more.

The launch range includes the sporty American classic Ford Mustang GT (12 parts, 190mm); the turbo-charged supercar Audi R8 (15 parts, 177mm); and the iconic Ford Police Car (17 parts, 215mm). Available from all good toy and model stores.

Something for the Teethers in the Family

Neckerchew

A reversible dribble bib with a teething chew triangle on the end, this is a lovely product, made with soft, good quality fabric that washes well. There are a range of designs for both boys and girls, which are modern and stylish. It has poppers, which I prefer, as velcro bibs are pulled off within seconds by my little one! At first my son (6 months) struggled to coordinate getting the rubber in his mouth and had a few incidents where he poked the chew triangle in his cheek/eye, but he has since got the hang of the size and feel and now enjoys using the bib. Chewy Chewy is a soft rubber hippo, used for babies to nibble and gnaw on. This is a cute looking toy, with an attachable strap, a squeaking tummy and arms and feet that are easy to hold. Unfortunately my son hasn't been very taken with Chewy and is unable to make the tummy squeak himself, as he is not quite strong enough. For a 6 month old it is a little cumbersome and large, but perhaps in a month or two he will have more interest in the product.

All four designs are available as a Comfortchew (£18.95) and Neckerchew (£12.99) and are available in Joules stores and online at www.cheekychompers.co.uk

Adopt Puddy the Pony for Christmas

A perfect Christmas present! To help fund its work to preserve the traditional Dartmoor pony on the Moor, the Dartmoor Pony Heritage Trust charity offers a "Pony Adoption Gift Pack", suitable for anyone, of any age, who loves horses and ponies, but for whom buying a real one is simply not an option. In addition to George, Charlie, Smartie and Rolo, they have a new 'girl' who needs to be loved! Puddy is two years old, a gift from famous wildlife and adventure photographer, Tracey Elliot-Reep. Puddy represents the bloodlines and wonderful temperament of a herd that has now almost disappeared from the Moor. It is hoped that she will join the DPHT's team of ponies that are the foundation of its 'Ponies Inspiring People' programmes - working with young people with challenging behaviour and disabilities - when she matures at 4-5 years. The cost is just £20 per year. Visitors are welcome on selected dates to groom and handle the ponies and find out all about them, and how important they are to the Dartmoor landscape.

Burn A Real Yule Log This Christmas

www.certainlywood.co.uk is reviving an old Christmas tradition in the shape of the Yule Log. However, for centuries, burning a Yule Log over the 12 Days of Christmas was an important part of the Festive celebrations. It was meant to ensure good fortune, wealth and happiness for the coming year. Working with Tillhill Forestry, Certainly Wood has sourced oak trees from an old woodland that was crying out to be managed, and have created, Each of the oak Yule Logs comes beautifully gift-wrapped and includes a box of handmade "Flamers", Certainly Wood's natural firelighters, along with kiln-dried kindling to make lighting your fire simple and straightforward. There's also an accompanying scroll, which tells the age-old story of the Yule Log, plus instructions on how to light it in keeping with tradition. Commenting on the idea, Nic Snell, Certainly Wood MD, said: "A Yule Log is a perfect gift and creates a focus for the whole family. Traditionally, the log was 'welcomed' into the house on Christmas Eve. Once in the hearth, a Christmas blessing was said over it and it was sprinkled with wine before being set alight. The log was then burnt over the 12 days of Christmas, with the last of the log being kept as kindling for the following year's Yule Log. You don't need an open fire or wood burning stove to enjoy your Yule Log either - there's nothing better than sitting around a winter camp fire, toasting marshmallows and downing a glass or two of mulled wine". £25 including P&P online between 1st and 19th Dec from www.certainlywood.co.uk

Great Christmas present for Mum Philips juicers with revolutionary pre-clean technology!

Start 2016 with a real juice with a Philips Viva Collection Juicer, a convenient and fast way to add the health benefits of real juice to a busy lifestyle. Whether you want a nutritious breakfast on the go or need an energy boost before the gym, the Philips juicer range is built to maximise the fun of juicing whilst minimising the hassle of cleaning. This is the perfect gift to provide your family with vitamins and nutrients from fresh juice this winter!

The Philips Viva Collection Juicer is the first centrifugal juicer to have a pre-clean function. Pouring water in the pusher creates a water fountain in the appliance, which rinses away the unwanted fibres from the lid after juicing and makes the innovative sieve easier to clean. Thanks to the QuickClean technology, all surfaces of the sieve are smooth, which makes it easier to wipe away the unwanted fibres that usually get stuck in the sieve.

The lid and the pulp container are transparent so you can see your fruits and vegetables being juiced. The juicer extracts up to 2L of juice in one go without the need to empty the pulp container so you can ensure the whole family receive their five-a-day!

The 75mm extra-large feeding tube allows you to juice even large fruits and vegetables like apples, carrots and beetroots without pre-cutting.

Jennifer Kendall, marketing manager for Philips kitchen appliances says, "When designing our Viva Collection juicer range for 2015, we focused on innovation where it matters for our consumers. We know people love to drink homemade juices, but they don't make them as often as they would like because the cleaning afterwards can be a hassle. Thanks to the new Pre-clean function, cleaning couldn't be made easier! Available from Argos, Currys, John Lewis and Too push to push?

~ the health implications of a vaginal delivery to the mother

Alexandros Derpapas MD, DM Consultant Obstetrician and Gynaecologist

It is broadly acknowledged that trends in childbirth have changed significantly. This shift has had various implications, among which the rise in caesarean section rates are one of them. But, what are the reasons for mother's wanting their babies to be delivered via caesarean section? Are mum's to be simply too push to push?

Benefits of a vaginal delivery
The benefits of a vaginal delivery are well-known and it potentially outweighs the risks (trauma and tears) or medium to long-term consequences on the pelvic floor. Caesarean section carries a potentially serious risk to both mums and babies (prolonged hospital stay, increased risk of infection and bleeding and breathing difficulties for the newborn). All these factors require consideration when deciding on your preferred mode of delivery.

What are the potential adverse consequences of a vaginal delivery?

The percentage of women suffering from urinary incontinence and vaginal prolapse (loss of support for the uterus, bladder or bowel) after a vaginal delivery is 35% and 50% respectively according to reasonably sizeable epidemiological studies. There are a substantial numbers of women struggling with problems after a vaginal delivery and that could be attributed to the impact of pregnancy on the pelvic floor and their wish to deliver via caesarean section.

Childbirth is also an independent risk factor for developing prolapse; women who give birth to just one child have a two-fold increased risk of developing a lax vagina which might fall out of its normal position in comparison to those who have not had children. Each additional child birth adds a further 10-20% increase in risk. The link between childbirth and urinary incontinence is stronger; a single delivery increases a woman's risk of developing urinary incontinence by 40% and this risk is further increased by almost 100% with a higher number after every delivery. More babies increases the chances of a woman developing urinary incontinence and/or vaginal prolapse at some point in her life.

Does a caesarean section protect your pelvic floor?
There is evidence to suggest that a caesarean section will significantly reduce your risk of developing stress incontinence by almost 50%. There is also a lesser risk of developing prolapse, in comparison to women who had a vaginal delivery.

Another point that needs to be made is that symptoms of a weakened pelvic floor manifest not only after childbirth, but also during pregnancy, which implies a link between incontinence and prolapse with pregnancy itself rather than mode of delivery alone.

In conclusion, although caesarean section seems to be protective of a woman's pelvic floor, a decision for an elective caesarean delivery needs to be cautiously made after risks and benefits are thoroughly balanced against individual aims and risk factors.

Consult your doctor or midwife:

- * For an objective appraisal on the advantages and disadvantages of a vaginal delivery
- * To discuss how you might prevent prolapse or incontinence in pregnancy and after child birth
- * At six weeks post-partum if there are concerns about prolapse or incontinence
- * If you develop incontinence or prolapse later on

At +richmond practice they offer consultations in pregnancy to 20 weeks and postnatal checks, six weeks post-partum to help you debrief after your delivery and to ensure that you are medically fit. They also offer consultations about prolapse and urinary incontinence which are taken by a consultant gynaecologist, who has the latest ultrasound technology available to her.

Stylish Comfortable & Trendy

When lifelong friends, Carla Romig & Aline van Doorne found that they couldn't get hold of the trendy clothes they wanted for their kids, they decided to solve the problem themselves – and Le Lait Baby was born.

“We first met in sixth grade”, says Le Lait Baby's Co-Founder Carla Romig, “We've shared a lot of experiences over the years, but since we each had our first child, we found one more thing in common: we couldn't find the trendy clothes we wanted for our kids!”

After searching fruitlessly for the right garments, and realizing they weren't available on the market, the ladies knew the only way to solve the problem was to create the clothing line themselves.

“We really recognized a huge gap in the market”, says Romig,

“After realizing no one had what we were looking for, we knew the only way to solve our problem was to do it ourselves. So we created a clothing line that was stylish, sophisticated and super soft, for delicate skin.”

“And since we developed this collection with our own little ones in mind, we use only the softest organic cotton – free from irritating or damaging colors and dyes”

“Organic cotton is pure, natural and more breathable for delicate skin”

And you won't see any cliché pink or blue here, the entire Le Lait Baby collection is gender neutral.

“Because we feel both little boys and little girls deserve to look great”, says Le Lait Baby's Co-Founder Aline van Doorne “we made the conscious decision to create a collection that is completely gender neutral.”

Today Le Lait Baby's sophisticated, gender neutral, children's garments are shipped worldwide.

Shopping List Review

Shopping list is a game produced by the famous company Orchard Toys. The game is aimed at ages 3-7 and can be played with 2-4 players. However if you purchase extra shopping lists the game is suitable for up to 6 players. The extra shopping lists focus on clothes and fruit & veg. However we really enjoyed playing the game in its original form with no extra lists, as it allowed the game to remain exciting and quick which is important when playing with little ones. Playing with all six players meant the game dragged on for longer than the little ones could focus. Shopping list is a simple and fantastic game, the aim of which is to be the first at finding all the items on your shopping list and placing them in your trolley/basket. 32 item cards are laid face down and four shopping list of which you must collect all the correct items in your list. It certainly is a game that tests young childrens' memory and is also good at teaching them to concentrate, as the opposing player may turn over a tile that is on their list, therefore requiring them to always be alert. Both my 3 and 8 year old children loved playing the game. My 3 year old in particular really enjoyed counting how many items each player had collected as the game proceeded. This game is wonderful in that it is fun but yet encourages children to communicate, observe and test their memory skills.

How School fundraising really helps

Support from schools has enabled The Royal Marsden to fund pioneering projects that give children and adults with cancer the best possible treatment and care. Do you know a school or college who are planning a Christmas show, Carol concert or Nativity and would possibly consider holding a collection for The Royal Marsden Cancer Charity at any of their events?

Or, perhaps your son or daughter's school would be happy to run a The Royal Marsden charity stall at their Christmas bazaar or fete? They can provide a small selection of merchandise which could be sold at these events in addition to promotional fundraising materials ie. Banners, posters, balloons, collection tins. Academic Excellence and so much more..!

High academic standards are a given at St Lawrence College Junior School in Ramsgate where over 80% of its candidates were successful in this year's 11+ Kent Test. Small class sizes and individual attention ensure pupils flourish and fully achieve their academic potential.

Academic excellence is, however, just the beginning. The ethos at St Lawrence is very much about providing opportunities for children to excel in all areas of school life, and the school prides itself on its ability to find something special in each child.

The Junior School, like the rest of the College, is currently thriving, with waiting lists for places in Nursery and limited availability in other year groups.

If you are considering St Lawrence College for your child in September 2016, the advice is to register sooner rather than later to avoid disappointment!

Add to your primary school choices and book a tour of the school during its forthcoming November Open Week beginning Monday 16 November.
