Do you have new, worsened, or persistent physical or mental health problems related to 9/11?

- Were you exposed to the initial dust cloud when the World Trade Center towers fell on 9/11?
- Were you exposed to dust in or near your office when you were called back to work downtown after 9/11?
- Were you exposed to smoke drifting from the “pile” during the more than six months that fires continued to burn at the WTC site after 9/11?
- Were you exposed to toxic materials from the WTC attacks in some other way?

The World Trade Center Environmental Health Center offers free physical and mental health treatment services for those affected by 9/11 who were not first responders. Call 1-877-WTC-0107 toll free to schedule an initial appointment.

Want more information about the WTC Environmental Health Center?

OSA is hosting an information session with Center staff at the union office on Tuesday evening, December 2, 2008, from 6 to 7:30pm. Dr. Joan Reibman, the Center’s medical director, will be our guest. To RSVP, please complete and return this form. If response is large, we’ll add more sessions.

OSA is also trying to better understand how our members were affected by 9/11. We hope you will complete the survey of exposures and health problems on the other side of this flyer and return it to us. Your responses will not be associated with identifying information and will be compiled only as aggregated statistics. If you wish, you may photocopy the survey and return it separately.
