Facilitator
MIKE DOXEY

The movement of the human body is something that Mike has been passionate about since childhood. Mike comes to this form of bodywork with extensive experience as fitness professional and Body Controlled Pilates teacher. He has been in private practice since 1990. Through his background in professional football, cycling, triathlon, yoga and Pilates, Mike has developed his natural intuitive awareness and understanding of the workings and movement of the human body. Fascinated by the integration of movement and manual therapy, Mike studied with Tom Myers, and having completed his KMI training, has expanded his one to one practice. With his work as a Pilates teacher, he has found that incorporating structural integration, and particularly the KMI approach, has completely changed how he looks at the body, making the two arts very powerful in enabling the individual to make optimum use of their body. Michael's practice is based in London and Brighton.

Anatomy Trains® Myofascial Meridians

Dates	8,9 & 10 th June 2012
Location	Pantai Integrated Rehab Kuala Lumpur Malaysia
Venue	(Physiotherapy Dept) Pantai Hospital Ampang
Class Times	8.30am -5.00pm
Description	One short course... long-lasting results for you! Set your anatomy knowledge free! Thomas Myers’ Anatomy Trains® weekend intensives are holistic, fun and very useful. Completely transform your view of myofascial anatomy and expand your ability to assess your clients’. The Anatomy Trains concept moves beyond mechanical “cause and affect” actions of muscles to the integrative relational connections of real-life functional movement. This is a revolutionary map for analyzing soft-tissue patterns, and developing strategies for unwinding these patterns via fascial and myofascial work. Anatomy Trains offers skills that hands-on therapists, regardless of their modality, can use to see their clients more clearly and work more effectively. BodyReading™ 101 "Seeing is touch at a distance," said Ida Rolf. Learn to see and understand postural patterns in the body, using the Anatomy Trains updated version of her masterful visual assessment. Work smarter rather than harder, by identifying the strain patterns that underlie the pain patterns. See how the pain in their right shoulder is really set up by the collapse in the left ankle. The more you can see, the more efficient your work becomes. Develop more holistic strategies for resolving strain patterns and finding the structural ‘keys’ to create longer-lasting effective work. During this course we <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Develop and practice a simple but effective vocabulary for describing skeletal relationships – tilts, shifts, and rotations in the spine, shoulders, pelvis, and legs, 2. Use the Anatomy Trains as a map for seeing the global as well as local soft-tissue patterns that create that skeletal geometry, and 3. Develop coherent single- or multi-session strategies based on what we see / feel There is ample time for small group and individual practice, so that you come out of this course with a dramatically improved ability to see, describe, strategize, and unwind postural holding patterns.

Workshop Format:

The workshop is split into equal time on

- 1) lecture/presentation,
- 2) BodyReading™ and postural analysis, and
- 3) Fascial plane and myofascial plane techniques from Tom's KMI Structural Integration and movement education library.

This course helps you:

- BodyRead™ your client's postural and movement patterns with greater accuracy and integration
- Gain access to effective treatment strategies for resolving postural distortions, which may occur some distance from the site of pain or limitation
- Enable you to make distinct changes in your clients' structure in a few short moves.

Course Objectives:

- Understand basic properties and connected nature of fascia, and tensegrity applied to fascia and human movement.
- A succinct and relevant introduction to geometry/character of the connective tissue, and the topology of fascial planes
- Be able to identify and trace the 6 major and 6 supplemental fascial meridians along which movement, tension, and postural distortion travel
- Be able to BodyRead™ postural patterns based on analysis of Anatomy Trains lines
- Apply knowledge to construct a bodywork session appropriate for the specific pattern of each client
- This course also serves as a prerequisite for entry in the KMI 500-hour Certification Training

Learning Environment:

- Illustrated lecture
- Open inquiry atmosphere; questions encouraged; high degree of vitality and humor
- Participants will exchange palpation and practice BodyReading (visual assessment) on one another under supervised analysis of instructor and assistants.

Recommended Reading:

- Anatomy Trains by Thomas W. Myers
- Body3 – A Therapist's Anatomy Reader by Thomas W. Myers

Anatomy Trains can be found at many bookstores, as well as, Amazon and similar such sites. Both are available at www.AnatomyTrains.com/store

Other products are typically available for purchase at the workshops.

	Movement Therapists: Anatomy Trains workshops are frequently modified for particular audiences, such as yoga or Pilates, and these variations would emphasize the movement implications of these continuities rather than hands-on technique. Please be certain that you are enrolled in the proper format of Anatomy Trains to fit your background and experience.
