

Medicaid ACOs in New Jersey

Tyla Housman, Senior Director

New Jersey Health Care Quality Institute

What is an Accountable Care Organization?

Accountable Care Organizations (ACOs) are non-profit, community-based organizations that bring together health care and social service providers to achieve higher quality care at a lower cost.

ACOs take a patient-centered approach to providing health care and are designed to improve health outcomes, quality, and access to care through regional collaborations and shared accountability.

Medicaid ACOs

Medicaid ACOs serve the Medicaid population in a specific zip coded area. They focus on the most vulnerable, complex, and high-risk patients in their communities.

...drive 80% of health care costs

Demonstration Project

- 2011 – Governor Chris Christie signed into law NJ P.L. 2011, Chapter 114, which required the Division of Medical Assistance & Health Services (DMAHS) to establish a three-year Medicaid ACO Demonstration project
- 2011 – The Nicholson Foundation funded the QI Collaborative; the learning network of the New Jersey Health Care Quality Institute to convene the Medicaid ACOs for shared learning and best practices, and to act as a liaison to the State
- July, 2015 – Three ACOs received Medicaid certification and began the official start of the ACO Demonstration Project in New Jersey

Requirements to Become a Medicaid ACO

Within its area of care, the nonprofit organization must:

- ✓ Serve at least 5,000 Medicaid Beneficiaries
- ✓ Work with with all of the hospitals
- ✓ Work with 75% of primary care providers
- ✓ Work with at least four mental health providers

How do they work?

- Medicaid ACOs work with the hospitals, federally qualified health centers, and primary care and social service providers in their communities to deliver health services with the goal of improving quality and reducing cost
- ACOs link providers and patient data together through a Health Information Exchange or HIE
- ACOs establish care teams with licensed clinical social workers and clinical staff to identify patients that are over utilizing expensive emergency department services and underutilizing more appropriate community-based primary and preventative care services
- If the Medicaid ACOs are able to drive down the cost of care while improving quality and increasing community engagement, they would be able to share in the savings Medicaid realized from their efforts

Certified Medicaid ACOs

Seven communities in NJ applied for Medicaid ACO certification from the State in 2014. Three communities were awarded certification in 2015
