THE NATIONAL COLLEGIATE BASEBALL WRITERS NEWSLETTER

(Volume 46, No. 1, Jan. 31, 2007)

Membership:

Play ball!

It's hard to believe that we have not yet reached February, but the first reports of college baseball scores has come through on my computer. It was with great pleasure and interest that I read the first recap – defending national champion Oregon State picking up where it left off in Omaha last year – and prepared for what we all hope will be an exciting 2007 season.

While the winter has been pretty mild in the Mid-Atlantic and Northeast – the Georgetown baseball team was actually able to practice outdoors because temperatures were in the 60s at one point – the latter part of January has brought some cold weather, but not enough to dampen the spirits of those of us who love college baseball.

Here at Georgetown, former Cincinnati Reds catcher and Hall of Famer Johnny Bench will be the guest at our annual "First Pitch" Dinner and the team hits the field for the first time on February 13 against George Washington.

This year will be the last of the "early" starts for college baseball as the NCAA has mandated a final weekend in February (depending on the calendar) or first weekend in March opening for all divisions with a maximum of 56 regular-season dates beginning in 2008.

Many of you have seen our membership forms come through e-mail and thanks for reminding the beat writers, columnists and electronic media covering your teams to send in membership dues checks to our Associate Executive Director, Russell Anderson. Prospective members can email Russ their information online and mail a check to him with the designated $15 dues – still one of the great bargains in national memberships.

I've gotten some input from people in and around the college baseball world already, but please feel free to send an e-mail (mbc32@georgetown.edu) or call me (202-687-2475) with any suggestions or newsletter items for the NCBWA Board of Directors listed in this newsletter. We value your input and are glad to take any suggestions and ways to keep NCBWA alive and well in its 46th year of existence!

2007 NCBWA Division I Preseason Poll (10th Annual)

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Jan. 10, 2007

NCBWA Releases 2007 Preseason Division I Poll

DALLAS - The National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association continues its tradition of NCAA Division I polls for the 10th year with its 2007 preseason predictions and weekly surveys. Weekly polls will continue from Feb. 5 through June 26 following the NCAA World Series in Omaha, Neb.

The poll voters come from 32 college baseball writers and related media persons from throughout the nation. After a preseason Top 35 listing, the remainder of the polls will feature a national Top 30.

Rice, which advanced to the 2006 NCAA World Series semifinals and which has been dominant in Conference USA, leads the '07 preseason pack after topping the nation with 57 victories (57-13) last year. Coach Wayne Graham's squad is expected to be a heavy favorite to repeat as C-USA champion as well. The Owls join previous NCBWA preseason No. 1 choices LSU (1998, 2001), Southern California (1999), Miami (Fla.) (2000), Stanford (2002), Texas (2003, 06), and Rice (2004, 07),

The initial '07 poll has representation by 10 different conferences among the 293 baseball-playing schools in NCAA Division I ranks. For more information or to join the NCBWA, please go to www.ncbwa.com.

Montoro Tabbed 2006 NCBWA Wilbur Snynn Award Recipient

Mike Montoro, Assistant Executive Director of the National Collegiate Baseball Writers and Associate Athletics Director for Media Relations at Southern Miss, is the winner of the 32nd annual Wilbur Snynn Award, presented annually by the NCBWA for outstanding contributions to college baseball.

"Mike Montoro is one of the outstanding college baseball people nationally," said NCBWA Executive Director Bo Carter. "Together with Southern Miss Head Baseball Coach Corky Palmer, the Golden Eagles are blessed with two of the most talented individuals in their professions in the sport. The NCBWA is very proud and thankful to Mike for his wonderful contributions to college baseball."

Montoro, also past president of the college baseball writers' organization, has been directing the media relations department at Southern Miss since Aug. 2000. He has composed the NCBWA Directory, worked closely with several preseason and postseason NCBWA All-America squads as well as the prestigious Dick Howser Trophy, served as chief football and baseball contact at Southern Miss, and has been an integral part of the Pro-Line NCBWA Players of the Week selections.

"Mike is one of the hardest-working people in this business, and he is extremely worthy of receiving this honor," said NCBWA Associate Executive Director Russell Anderson, Assistant Commissioner of Conference USA.

The 1990 Liberty University graduate with a master's degree in sport management (1994) from West Virginia University, also has been a long-time member of the ESPN the Magazine College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-America Committee. Before coming to USM, he was Assistant Media Relations Director at Virginia Tech and Assistant Athletic Director for Media Relations director at Liberty.

Montoro has been active in the NCAA World Series at Omaha, Neb., with NCBWA and is regarded as one of the top publicists in Conference USA.

"I am honored to be selected for such a prestigious award as the Wilbur Snynn," said Montoro. "College baseball is a great American past time, and it truly has been a privilege to work with the National Collegiate Baseball Writers' Association in promoting such a great game and its outstanding student-athletes, as well. I would like to thank the NCBWA for allowing me to serve the organization and for honoring me in this way."

The Southern Miss Associate AD follows a long line of illustrious persons in gaining the award, given in memory of longtime Ohio State Sports Information Director and NCBWA founder the late Wilbur (Bill) Snynn since 1975. Snynn was a noted contributor to the writers' organization, which was initiated in 1962 (and celebrating its 46th year in 2007), as well as an officer in the group. The NCBWA/Wilbur Snynn Award yearly honors a professional for contributions to the sport of collegiate baseball. Voting is done by a panel of previous winners, who include past NCAA World Series directors, College Sports Information Directors of America Hall of Fame members, decorated media members and others.

2007 NCBWA Preseason Division I All-America Team

Returning NCBWA Pro-Line Cap All-America stars and several standouts from the 2006 NCAA World Series highlight the seventh annual National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association preseason 2007 All-America team.

2006 first team first baseman Andy D'Alessio (.312-23 HR-85 RBI) of Clemson joins fellow first unit member OF Kellen Kulbacki of James Madison (.464-24 HR-75 RBI), the nation's returning leader in home runs and batting average in Division I, and Cal State Fullerton World Series returnee Wes Roemer (13-2, 145 SO, 7 walks, 155 IP) as three of the sterling returnees. NCAA World Series heroes 1B Chad Flack and SS Josh Horton of North Carolina on the second team have their school poised to make another run at the NCAA Championship, captured last June by Oregon State for the first time. Fellow CWS competitors include first team starting pitcher (after blazing in relief in '06) Cole St. Clair, P/1B Joe Savery and SS Brian Friday of the Rice Owls on the '07 dream team rosters.

Team USA performers from summer 2006 also are in abundance with Vanderbilt 3B Pedro Alvarez, utility star P-1B Sean Doolittle of Virginia, Rice's St. Clair, and Texas Tech's Roger Kieschnick, to name just a few, receiving recognition.

The starting pitching staff also has strong numbers worth noting behind Roemer. TCU's Jake Arrieta (14-4), Arkansas' Nick Schmidt (9-3), and Nebraska's Tony Watson (10-2) were aces of their staffs, while relief men Joshua Fields (15 saves) of Georgia, Blair Erickson (14) of UC Irvine and Milan Dinga of Army (10) combined for 39 saves and microscopic ERAs in a total of 81 appearances out of the bullpen.

First team infielders and outfielders featured such feats as Alvarez's 22 home runs as a freshman, seven triples and 36 stolen bases by Alabama OF Emeel Salem, a 11-2 pitching mark to compliment a .324 batting average by Doolittle, and 17 home runs apiece by C Kevin Coughlin of Kentucky and OF Steven Strausbaugh of Western Carolina.

The three units have representation from 18 different conferences as teams anticipate the opening of 2007 baseball in late January or early February. Preseason All-Americans give a sneak peek to those who may be in contention for the prestigious 21st annual Dick Howser Trophy, voted upon by NCBWA members and awarded annually in Omaha, Neb., prior to the NCAA World Series.

Ohio State's Lewis Named Minor League's Most Spectacular Pitcher for '06

Kinston lefty Scott Lewis, who had a 1.48 earned run average, is the winner of Minor League Baseball's inaugural Most Spectacular Pitcher Award.

The award, sponsored by VYTORIN(r) (ezetimibe/simvastatin), goes to the qualifying pitcher with the lowest earned run average for the regular season, among all domestic minor leagues. Lewis dominated Carolina League hitters all season while allowing just 84 hits and 19 earned runs in 115.2 innings. He exhibited outstanding control, walking a mere 28 batters while striking out 123. Lewis had just a 3-3 record, the result of being on a strict 65-pitch limit. His longest outing of the regular season was 5.2 innings, which he accomplished four times.

The pitch limit was necessary due to the Tommy John surgery Lewis underwent in 2003 when he was at Ohio State University. Despite the surgery, the Cleveland Indians selected Lewis in the third round of the 2004 June Draft. Lewis went a combined 0-3 with a 4.71 ERA in just 21 total innings in 2004 and 2005 for Mahoning Valley in the New York-Penn League.

Lewis will receive a trophy and a check for $7,500. On hand to present the first ever Most Spectacular Pitcher Award, sponsored by VYTORIN, is legendary Hall of Fame pitcher, Rollie Fingers. Both Fingers and Lewis were be in attendance for an award ceremony at the Triple-A Championship game in Oklahoma City on Sept. 19 - just a week before Lewis' 23rd birthday.

Lewis was a third-round pick in 2004 by the Cleveland Indians (77th overall pick). He started five games in 2004 after undergoing elbow surgery in May 2003. The left-handed pitcher from Washington Court House, Ohio (Washington HS), was 1-0 with a 3.48 ERA in 20.2 innings in 2004, his final season at Ohio State. In 2003, a season in which he earned Big Ten Pitcher of the Year and First Team All-American honors, Lewis led the conference with a 1.61 ERA and 127 strikeouts in 83.2 innings and was 9-1 as a sophomore. He was 18-3 as a Buckeye and had a 2.38 career ERA. His college won-loss percentage is tied for second all time behind Steve Arlin, while his ERA ranks third behind Arlin and Dick Boggs.
